NATION'S NEED IS JOBS, LANDON TELLS YOUTHS

2,000 Attend State G. O. P. Rally.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—In two demonstrations here today the Republican youth of Illinois manifested that it can be counted upon to aid in driving the New Deal and its counterpart—the Horner administration—from the political scene.

This attitude was shown at the state convention of the Young Republican organization of Illinois, which held its business session in the morning and adjourned to the Peoria ball park in the afternoon for speeches by several of the state candidates, including Wayland Brooks, Republican choice for governor, and Otis F. Glenn, nominee for United States senator. More than 2,000 young men and women attended the convention.

Landon Sends Message.

The Illinois meeting became of national importance with the receipt of messages from Gov. Alf Landon, the presidential nominee; Frank Knox, Landon's running mate; Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the national committee, and Harrison E. Spangler, Hamilton's assistant.

"My greetings to the Young Republicans of Illinois," Gov. Landon wired. "The young men and women of the nation express in their spirit, in their outlook on the future, and in their inherent vitality the spirit of America that is rallying in this campaign for a restoration of the glorious heritage of America.

"As I said in my speech of acceptance, I now say to you: 'American initiative is not a commodity to be delivered in pound packages through a governmental bureau.'

Freedom Necessary to Progress.

"The history of mankind proves that progress is impossible except when men and women are free to give and to express the best that is within them. It is because America is free and the opportunity for American initiative open to all that we have builded here a civilization with the highest standards of living in the world.

"I also said in my speech of acceptance that the record shows that in 1933 the primary need was jobs for the unemployed and that the record shows also that the primary need today is jobs for the unemployed. Jobs are inherent in progress and there can be no progress under the heavy hand of government.

"Government can act only through the taxing power and the police power, and both these powers are expressed only in force, the full limit of which is forced labor. I call your attention to the conditions existing in the unhappy lands across the sea. These conditions are due to the fact that government has sought to do what only free men can do."

Knox Greets Youths.

"No group," wrote Mr. Knox, "has had my support and best wishes more than the Young Republicans, who not only can assure victory this year but who will carry on the work of our party to further victories in the future."

Hamilton, himself a young man, wired the convention that "the Young Republicans throughout the state already have proved their value to the party and have brightened considerably the prospects for carrying Illinois for Landon and Knox."

Spangler, who was western director for the national committee during the pre-convention campaign, expressed his "certainty" of victory for the Republican national and state tickets next fall.

Crowd Waits for Brooks.

The crowd which gathered in the ball park to hear Mr. Glenn and Mr. Brooks showed its fidelity to the nominee for governor by waiting more than an hour for his arrival. Brooks' delay was caused by his appearance as principal speaker at the centennial of the village of Wethersfield, adjoining Kewanee in Henry county, which his great-grandfather, Isaac Bickford, helped found 100 years ago. Isaac and his son Jeremiah, Wayland Brooks' grandfather, were integral citizens of the community. Jeremiah's daughter, Ida May Bickford, was Brooks' mother.

AN EDITORIAL

800, 8,000 OR 80,000?

A few weeks ago a business man was discussing his investment portfolio with his broker. Under consideration was a certain stock selling then at a shade under $70 a share.

"Do you really think," asked the broker, obviously delighted, "that it will go to 800?"

"I think it may go to 800 or 8,000 or 80,000," the business man replied calmly. "When an inflation gets started, it isn't likely to stop at 10 to 1. It keeps on going."

And inflation is on the way.

Should Mr. Roosevelt be reëlected, nothing can stop it.

Our 59 cent dollars would soon become 1 cent dollars. Fifty-nine dollars for a cent would be only another stage in the process. The broker was short-sighted. He foresaw only a gradual and pleasant rise in values, a rise which promised him many commissions. He had forgotten that the first taste of inflation is always delicious. Prices begin to rise. Business appears to prosper. Sales resistance almost disappears. Everybody seems to have plenty of money and everybody seems to be spending freely. Real estate and all other kinds of property, except those yielding a fixed income, acquire unexpected values. Inventories cease to be a cause for worry. Everybody is happy and the future appears rosy.

A few hard-headed men and women see what lies ahead, but their warnings are met with a ready answer. The nation is told that it is getting rich so rapidly that in a few years any debts contracted now can be discharged easily. A few billion dollars of unbalance are buying all this prosperity. What fools we would be to let the fears of a few cranks halt all this prosperity!

And so the game goes on. When the stock gets to 800 it is already far too late to stop the play. The end comes when all accumulated credits and the corresponding debts are wiped out.

Every life insurance policy is the debt of an insurance company to dependents, generally a widow or orphans. Every savings account is the debt of a bank to a depositor. Every bond is a debt of a corporation to a bondholder. All of these debts and millions of others like them are wiped out in an inflation. When they go, all accumulated funds go with them. All liquid capital, whether it is the savings of an individual or the working funds of a business, is destroyed. The slow and painful process of accumulation must start again from scratch, and it must start in the midst of a far more severe depression than any we have known in this country. We have seen widespread unemployment in this country, but we have not yet seen universal unemployment. That lies ahead unless there is a sharp reversal of the government's fiscal policies.

These are not idle fears. The danger is real and present. There is only one remedy and it must be applied promptly or it will be too late. That remedy is the election of an administration in November which is resolutely committed to a balanced budget and a sound monetary system.

Mr. Roosevelt talks engagingly about sound money and a balanced budget, but his words are meaningless. He used much the same formula in the repudiated platform and campaign speeches of 1932. His acts both as governor of New York and as President evidence how lightly he regards the whole subject. Gov. Landon did balance his budget as he said he would and in his telegram to the Cleveland convention he did remove all obscurity from the Republican money plank. The nation knows where he stands and knows he will keep his word.

The only way this country can avoid the frightful loss and suffering which invariably accompany a drastic inflation is to elect Gov. Landon. A vote for Mr. Roosevelt is an invitation to catastrophe.

BOTTLE INJURES UMPIRE AS SOX LOSE TO YANKEES

Umpire William Summers narrowly escaped serious injury at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a bottle thrown from the stands during the double-header between the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

Fifty thousand, a capacity and highly partisan crowd, saw the double-header, in which the Yankees won both games, 12 to 3 and 11 to 8, in eleven innings. The umpires were baited from the start, following Umpire Charles Johnston's decision against the White Sox on a play in Saturday's game.

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, who was a spectator, offered $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the fan who threw the bottle.

The Cubs were beaten, 4 to 0, by the Phillies yesterday, then won the second game of the double-header at Philadelphia, 18 to 5.

NINE IN PLANE FALL INTO SEA; ONE LOSES LIFE

ABOARD S. S. EXERMONT, EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, July 26.—A ten passenger seaplane, roaring a welcome to the British liner Queen Mary, crashed into the Atlantic ocean five miles off Nantucket Lightship early tonight, fatally injuring one man. Eight others, including myself, were rescued.

Edwin T. Ramsdell, 40, a Boston Post photographer, died several hours after the crash on the American Export liner Exermont, from which a boat's crew was dispatched to the rescue. Ramsdell was knocked unconscious when the big plane, suddenly losing altitude, dropped into the rough sea.

The other eight suffered bruises and a severe shaking up.

Flyers Cling to Pontoons.

The plane splintered to bits.

For 20 minutes we clung to the wave washed pontoons until a rescue boat from the Exermont reached us.

Capt. William W. Wincapaw, who piloted the big seaplane, said the accident was unavoidable. He did not say what caused it.

Wincapaw suffered numerous bruises when he struck the water, and the rest of us were cut and battered as the plane hit the choppy waves.

Capt. Wincapaw is known as "the Santa Claus of the lighthouse service" because of his annual flight along the barren New England coast at Christmas to drop gifts to the lonely outposts. He also has figured in countless other mercy errands.

Sailing Close to Liner.

We had gone down from Boston to meet the Queen Mary. At the time the accident occurred we were sailing slightly in the rear of the liner's stern and Ramsdell and the other photographers were making their pictures of the big ship. The rest of us were waving to passengers on the liner.

Then we went down, fast.

The plane struck and started to sink. We climbed out through the cabin doors to the pontoons. Ramsdell was dragged out and held firmly against a pontoon.

The rough water threatened to swamp us momentarily. Then we saw a lifeboat from the Exermont. In the stern an officer shouted to us to "hang on." We helped the crew transfer Ramsdell to the boat and then we followed.

Ship Radios Instructions.

The Queen Mary, after relaying the Exermont's message, sent radio instructions to the Exermont for treating the injured man.

The big ship, speeding toward New York for a record for the westward crossing, did not stop, but explained it had not found it necessary to do so because of the presence of the Exermont.

Queen Mary Breaks Record.

New York, July 27. [Monday].—The Cunard-White Star liner Queen Mary reached the Ambrose channel lightship at 12:30 o'clock this morning with a record for the westward Atlantic crossing.

The greatest of Britain's passenger vessels cut nearly two hours from the mark set by the French liner Normandie in 1935, but it was by taking a shorter route that the new Cunard liner captured the blue pennant from the Normandie, for she failed to meet the average speed mark set by the French liner.

The British ship, which left Cherbourg breakwater at 2:45 p. m. [New York time] last Wednesday, made the westward crossing to Ambrose lightship, covering 3,096 miles, in 4 days 9 hours 44 minutes, an average speed of 29.28 knots.

The French ship in June, 1933, made the crossing from Southampton, Nab., covering 3,192 miles in 4 days 11 hours 42 minutes, an average speed of 29.64 knots.

The British liner is expected to dock at her pier at West 50th street at 8:30 a. m.

NEW YORK GETS A GLIMPSE OF COUNTRYSIDE

New York, July 26.—(AP)—A six ton sample of "the countryside"—with plants, garden tools, frogs, and even poison ivy—will start rolling through the canyons of Manhattan tomorrow in an attempt to give city children an idea of the surroundings in which their rural cousins live.

The park department today proudly displayed a trellised-covered automobile trailer 17 feet long, fully equipped with tiers of plants, garden implements, and several forms of wild life.

Besides growing specimens of marigolds, petunias, rose, and tobacco plants, the youngsters who live in a world of brick and stone will be able to see a rake, a hoe, a shovel, and a trowel, as well as toads, turtles, earthworms, and ladybugs.

The poison ivy will be enclosed in glass.

Last spring a tour of a trailer equipped to represent a barnyard—with a real cow and chickens—was successfully conducted under the auspices of the department.

FIREMEN CALLED TO RESCUE BOY WEDGED IN TREE

Racine, Wis., July 26.—[Special.]—First the police and then the fire department were needed today to rescue 8 year old Glenn Weitkum, 1425½ Frederick street, from his tightly wedged position between limbs of a pear tree.

Glenn said an older playmate made him throw his shoe into a pear tree in the Danish Old Peoples' home yard on Milwaukee avenue. The shoe caught in the branches, and when the boy climbed after it he slipped and was caught tight. The fire department put a power wedge between the limbs and spread them enough to let the boy escape.

FATHER FOLLOWS HIS SON IN DEATH AT RAIL CROSSING

Peter Kulavick, 50 years old, 226 North Lake Park avenue, Hobart, Ind., was killed last night by a west bound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train while walking along the tracks at the crossing near his home. Two weeks ago yesterday his son, John, 20 years old, was struck and killed by a train at the same crossing.

56 Men Trapped 3 Days by Alberta Woods Fire; Safe

BALAIRMORE, Alta., July 26.—(AP)—Trapped since late Thursday by a forest fire in Kootenay pass, fifty-six men emerged safely from the fire zone today, it was reported here.

Bung Starters' Garden Party Is Gala Event

Two men are seized when they attack Nazi flag at German day celebration in Milwaukee. Communists blamed for demonstration. Details on page 5.

The gala event of the south side saloonkeepers' social season — the annual beer fest of their chapter of the Illinois Tavern Owners' association—went off in fine style yesterday in the Justice Park picnic grove, near Kean and Archer avenues.

There were some lively fist fights in the afternoon, but festivities really reached a peak in the evening when the boys started chasing their beer with whisky. They were enjoying themselves in their own somewhat boisterous way—just good clean fun, of course—when some timorous member of the group got an idea that the boys were getting a bit too rough. He ran to the Willow Springs county highway police station near by and turned in a riot call.

Two Husky Cops Respond.

Sergt. Henry Tupa and Deputy Howard Olson, who are light on their feet for all their husky weight, went to investigate. The grove is only about 100 yards from the small one room frame station house.

As the uniformed policemen stepped into the picnic grove, an empty beer stein whizzed past them. Someone heaved a chair at Sergt. Tupa, who did not forget to duck.

He and Olson then went about the business of trying to separate the nearest belligerents. An unidentified young pugilist slipped away in the dark, but Sergt. Tupa nabbed his sparring partner, Bernard Quan, 25 years old, 6522 South Peoria street.

This displeased Thomas Schrieber, 51 years old, 6100 South Justine street, and he swung one from the floor at Olson who went down, temporarily. Sergt. Tupa seized Schrieber and Olson took charge of Quan.

The Fight Gets Interesting.

They were making progress through the now thoroughly aroused throng until William C. Reynolds, 37 years old, 6814 South Justine street, knocked out two of Sergt. Tupa's teeth. The policeman restrained an impulse to draw his revolver, fearful some one might get shot, and went to work with his fists.

Sidney Smith, 45 years old, 6125 South Halsted street, joined the fray, but the two husky policemen carried him along with the other prisoners to the station. A mob of about 50 picnickers, who still had fight in them, stormed into the station and threatened to free their friends by force. So Sergt. Tupa sent in a call for help.

By the time five squads of police arrived another prisoner, Pierce Quan, 19 years old, brother of one of the belligerents, had been arrested.

As quiet returned once more to the station Sergt. Tupa and Deputy Olson took inventory and found that their uniforms had been almost completely ripped away. All buttons were missing. Their caps were torn. Both were bloody, bruised, and lacerated, and Tupa was compiling the dental cost of replacing the two missing teeth.

PUT QUARANTINE BAN ON ALASKAN TYPHOID REGION

JUNEAU, Alaska, July 26.—(AP)—The typhoid stricken area in the Bristol Bay region lay under strict quarantine today with all persons prohibited from leaving until danger of spreading the epidemic had passed.

With the fishing season ended, the quarantine dammed the annual hurried migration of fishermen from the cannery settlements to celebrations in Alaskan towns, or further south to Seattle, Portland, and San Francisco for the winter.

Dr. W. W. Council, territorial health officer, wirelessed other Alaskan cities that no fishermen from the affected salmon cannery hamlets could board airplanes or boats.

HOLDS MOORS IN CHECK; REIGN OF TERROR GROWS

Firing Squads Busy; Cities Looted.

Situation in Doubt

Conflicting claims of Spanish government and revolt leaders last night canceled each other. Both the government and rebels claimed victory in the Guadarrama mountains, the government adding that its troops were moving on toward Burgos. The rebels admitted their own troops were making slow progress. That the government's situation is serious is evidenced by reports from the United State embassy staf in Madrid of fears that uncontrolled militia would fall back, looting the city.

Claims that Barcelona was calm were belied by the request of the American consul for a warship to evacuate Americans and by reports of refugees reaching French and Italian ports. They told of terrible injury inflicted on the Catholic clergy and churches. Barcelona reported a column of its militia had advanced within 53 miles of Saragossa, rebel stronghold.

San Sebastian, where Americans were evacuated yesterday, saw heavy firing, loyalists trying to dislodge rebels, and there were fears of air bombing.

The government was elated over the recapture of Albacete, southern city, from rebel hands.

Though loyal warships blockaded Cadiz, Seville, and Algeciras, in the south, and Ceuta, Morocco, additional rebel troops from Morocco were reported to have landed at Algeciras and were advancing on Malaga.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, July 26. — Southern Spain is in the grip of terrorists. Firing squads are busy. Looting and burning continue.

But the army-Fascist revolt, for the moment, is at a standstill. Republican sailors of the Spanish navy — mutineers still in the eyes of some since they overpowered their officers, killed many of them and put others in chains—have stopped in his tracks, hardboiled, ambitious Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the revolt, who started it by his sudden seizure of Spanish Morocco a week ago yesterday.

Bomb Ports Frequently.

The fleet by its frequent bombardment of Ceuta and other Moroccan ports and its watchfulness in the waters off Gibraltar and the neighboring southeastern ports of the Spanish mainland has thoroughly carried out its chief objective—to hold immobilized the doughty Gen. Franco, who has the best military mind in Spain, and who, if he had gone on schedule, would now have been leading the attack on Madrid with two of the best fighting units in the Spanish army. As it is, the northernmost detachment of the dreaded Moors is at Cordoba, Spain.

The fleet is turning the tide. There are two submarines blocking the Melilla, Spanish Morocco, harbor against a possible attempt to send rebel troops to some point on the Spanish coast near Malaga.

Transport Blockaded.

Two destroyers are off Cadiz. It is known that a transport with 2,000 men was waiting in the darkness at Ceuta last night and some observers here, who saw the lights of a string of trucks coming down the hill above Algeciras, believe Franco managed a disembarkation at Getares bay, ten miles down the straits toward Tarifa.

Making Malaga their objective, Spanish Moroccan troops left Algeciras this afternoon in several motorbuses and lorries. When they reached the Guadiaro river they were faced by 300 armed government supporters. An intense battle ensued. The government militia, it was reported, lost nearly 100 men and the rebels about 20. Both sides had many wounded. The rebels moved on toward Estepona.

There was also activity across the straits in Morocco. The Spanish warships Jaime I., Libertad, and Cervantes bombarded Melilla, during the afternoon.

Fire 90 Rounds.

They opened fire first on the battery at Cape Tres Forcas and later shelled a hydroplane base, "causing certain damage." About ninety rounds in all were fired. Rebel planes bombed the ships, "apparently with positive results," the rebel report said. Moorish troops marched singing into the streets when the ships withdrew.

This correspondent saw a battle from a field in the hills near San Roque. At San Roque an officer with drawn revolver and two Moors with bayonets cursed us for having headlights on. They said a bombardment was expected. It was wickedly dark. Without lights the driver felt it risky to proceed on the road among the jittery Moorish sentinels.

Action at 3 A. M.

We took to the fields. At 3 o'clock in the morning there was a brisk fusillade. It was learned later that carabineers, stanch republicans who had aroused the suspicion of the Moors when they failed to fire on a government plane the day before, were attacked and disarmed.

Three of them were killed and four Moors. Back in San Roque twenty carabineers besieged an old blockhouse. The besieged, 50 of them, escaped to Gibraltar in a rowboat.

The bombing of Algeciras then began.

My Spanish driver refused to go back to La Linea—to go anywhere. So I walked to La Linea, eight miles, and reached Gibraltar in time to find thousands of Spanish refugees, who had fled here, leaving at the request of the British because the rock is dangerously crowded. They were in a state of panic and huddled in the neutral strip at the border until the bombing was over.

Music and Castanets.

Gibraltar offered an incredible contrast to stricken La Linea. Bands blared and castanets clicked in the cafés along the main street. Hindus hawked their silks. The local swain strolled smugly with his girl on his arm. Tourists from ships in the harbor bought postcards and did not know and did not care what was happening in Spain. At the naval dockyards two destroyers steamed in from Cadiz and Malaga loaded with ammunition and British refugees who have seen grim reality.

At Malaga, after days of horror, discipline of a sort was restored although last night two leading Fascists were "executed" by Popular Front militia. I was told that the burnings a week ago Saturday night, after the garrison's revolt were quenched in blood, were done in grim design. The homes and shops of every leading monarchist and Fascist went up in flames with the fire department standing by to prevent their spreading to the homes of the innocent.

British refugees bring tales that dozens of priests were made to run in the streets and then were shot in the back. No American confirms these, although it is believed a priest in Torremolinos, near Malaga, a friend of this correspondent, was shot.

British refugees from flaming Malaga declared they had seen "children 14 to 17 years old wearing red ties and red shirts" shoot down hundreds of Fascists and priests. The children carried pistols, rifles, and axes. "Most of us were locked in our hotels for seven days in complete darkness," one refugee said. The whole Caleta district and the Calle and Larios, principal streets of Malaga, were reported completely burned, with more than 250 buildings destroyed; several hundred persons killed and more than 1,000 wounded, he said.

Looting on Vast Scale.

There was looting on a vast scale, but it was confined, however, to Fascist establishments. The Popular Front [government] committee is in full control, operating under both the Red and republican flags.

Trucks loaded with workers' militiamen still streak through the streets of Malaga sometimes on bloody missions and not until fear of the Moorish advance subsides will the citizenry, whom the masses rightly or wrongly believe are Fascist, be out of danger of "execution."

This correspondent has no doubt, and the refugees from Seville confirm, that if the rebel movement has collapsed, the Andalusian capital that is always described as "smiling" will, after the bloody repression of the Republican-Socialist defense, be due for an unprecedented outburst of savagery.

This was in the mind, apparently, of Marcelino Domingo, President Manuel Azana's successor to the leadership of the Left Republicans, who broadcast an appeal on the radio that "now that triumph is assured, the workers should forget their grief, remember their duty to the republic," and refrain from further enriching with blood the soil of this tragic land.

Face Firing Squads.

Madrid's broadcast claims to victory thrilled the republic's defenders in the south. Even if true they come too late for thousands. There was a mere mention by Gen. Santiago Queipo de Llano in his broadcast from Seville that in the towns of Moron and Doshermanos "rebel Marxists and their storm guard allies" got their just desserts before a firing squad.

Andalusia is quiet, he said. American refugees from Seville arriving on the British destroyer Shamrock said street cars and buses were running and that shops are open. But in towns dotting the Quadalquivir valley, where the contrast of wealth and misery is the most striking in Spain, there are firing squads killing men who thought that when they drove out former King Alfonso XIII. a better time had come for Spain. A week ago the men thought they were rising to save their republic. Now they find themselves shot as "Reds" and "enemies of society," in Gen. Queipo's terms. Vicente Blasco Ibanez wrote a tragedy on a great estate near "smiling" Seville. He died too soon.

Terror in Morocco.

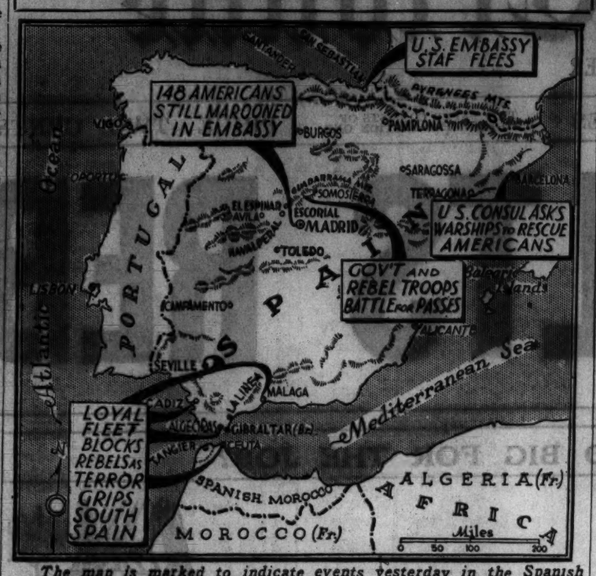
CASABLANCA, French Morocco, July 26.—(AP)—Fascist rebel rule and daily firing squads at dawn, reports from Spanish Morocco said tonight, have plunged the civil population into terror. Spanish Moroccans were apprehensive lest a rebel defeat at the gates of Madrid bring the war back to them.

Dispatches reaching here said Gen. Francisco Franco himself feared for his life. Whenever the Fascist commander appeared out of doors, large forces of soldiers were stationed along the streets through which he passed.

Twenty-eight soldiers loyal to the government were reported to have been executed by firing squads which were going out daily between 3 a. m. and 5 a. m. An undetermined number of civilians also were said to have been executed. Tetuan was full of newly recruited troops who seemed to be well supplied with ammunition, gasoline, and foodstuffs.

Citizens were afraid to talk or walk freely in the streets or receive visitors lest they be arrested, imprisoned, or even executed. Nine hundred civilians were reported incarcerated at Seluan.

LOYAL SHIPS BLOCKADE PORTS



The map is marked to indicate events yesterday in the Spanish revolt. Rebels were reported to have evaded the government blockade and landed new troops from Morocco which were advancing from Algeciras toward Malaga.

Polish Attache Fired On at Legation in Madrid

WARSAW, July 26.—(AP)—The Polish Telegraphic agency reported today an automobile in which the Polish commercial attaché at Madrid and his wife were riding was the target for shots as the car entered the legation's grounds. Thirty bullets were fired in all, some of them at the legation building, and a doorman narrowly escaped injury, the egency declared.

EMBASSY STAF OF U. S. FLEES WAR-TORN CITY

Quits San Sebastian on American Boat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—Hallett Johnson, counselor of the United States embassy in Spain, tonight informed the state department by radio that all Americans, including himself and staf, had left the summer embassy at San Sebastian, northwestern resort, on the United States coast guard cutter Cayuga.

The Cayuga landed the refugees at St. Jean de Luz, France, and was returning with the embassy staf which will go to Fuenterrabia, five miles outside San Sebastian, to join Ambassador Claude G. Bowers tomorrow.

The United States battleship Oklahoma picked up American refugees and other foreigners at Bilbao and Santander, took them to Bayonne, France, and was returning to Bilbao tonight.

Counselor Johnson said there was a battle on the edge of San Sebastian and that the rebels were said to be advancing, "in which case terrible bloodshed will ensue." A plane attack also was feared.

Other Stafs Move.

Ambassador Bowers, who yesterday secured the release of two Americans held in jail at Irun, on the French frontier, ordered the evacuation of the summer embassy at San Sebastian. Stafs of other legations and consulates also were moving to Fuenterrabia.

It was believed all Americans who so desired were taken from San Sebastian, Bilbao and Santander. The Cayuga carried, in addition to 14 Americans, the Norwegian and Dutch ministers and secretaries, the British consul, the wives of the Finnish and Norwegian vice consuls, 14 Britons and 33 others. The wife of the Finnish vice counsul was wounded during a street battle in San Sebastian yesterday.

Biddle Garrison, clerk at the American summer embassy headquarters, took a dangerous trip to Zarauz, according to Johnson, and brought back Mrs. Mary E. Larkin and son of New York. Garrison is a Princeton graduate.

Barcelona Consul Asks Help.

State department officials today received a request that the battle cruiser Quincy proceed from Gibraltar to Barcelona, where some 600 Americans are still located. Consul Lynn W. Franklin reported that all communications were threatened at Barcelona.

The message from Franklin was referred to the U. S. S. Oklahoma for investigation. The Quincy operates under the Oklahoma's orders.

The Quincy arrived at Gibraltar today accompanied by the training ship Nantucket, which had been at Lisbon.

The situation at Madrid was still quiet, with a food supply sufficient for two weeks in the embassy where the 148 Americans are marooned, but it was feared that the armed militiamen might return at any time from their battles to the north and southeast with rebel forces and begin looting the city. Wendelin has obtained the government's promise of a guarded train to evaquate Americans to the port of Alicante.

Seek Party of U. S. Students.

The embassy was still making urgent efforts to bring to Madrid eleven American students in a party stranded at La Granja, where there was a battle several days ago. The party is in charge of Mrs. Monica Owen of Cambridge, Mass., and includes Winfield Abbott and Paul Harper of Chicago. The embassy had reports the student were "all right."

The state department tonight issued a revised list of 170 Americans, in Spain when the revolution broke out, who have been safely evacuated to France or are on board ships. Among those from Chicagoland evacuated from Barcelona or other Spanish ports and taken to Marseilles are:

The U. S. S. Oklahoma picked up Mrs. P. M. Torrence, Urbana, Ill., at Bilbao and Burnice Lincoln, Casey, Ia., at Santander and landed them at Bayonne, France.

DIVORCEE TAKES POISON.

Mrs. Pauline Tully, 23 years old, 4142 Kenmore avenue, mother of two children, who was divorced two months ago from Policeman Martin Tully of the Central station, was in custody at the Racine avenue station yesterday, recovering from poison she took after a party in her home.

Our cloth coat collection deserves superlatives, this year, we think. The coats are extraordinary values, every one of them, with a prophetic fashion sense, alert to the styles that will be most favored in the Fall, and boasting furs and fabrics that give a stronger meaning than ever to the words "Carson Quality." And such invitingly wide assortments—from the dressy type, which uses furs in a restrained and sophisticated manner, to an important new group called semi-casuals, which suit their character to their name.

There are many important fashion points to watch for, all of them represented in the Carson collection. The flattering ripple shawl collars, the V-shape jabots, small fur collars with fur cuffs to match, the new vertical banding on sleeves.

WOMEN SHOULDER ARMS; MARCH TO FIGHT FASCISTS

Rebels Yield in Mountains North of Madrid.

BY HENRY BUCKLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 26.—[Censored.]—A battalion of women was among the thousands of armed workers hastily formed into militia which trekked northward today to meet the Fascist rebels in Guadarrama mountains, 50 miles north of Madrid.

The loyalists headed for Somosierra pass where government artillery yesterday silenced rebel big guns in a hard won victory. It is reported 12,000 loyalists have gone beyond the pass and are marching up the open road to Burgos, rebel headquarters.

The government claimed the Fascists suffered heavy losses at Somosierra. The engagement continued all day.

Hundreds of workingwomen and even well dressed señoras came forward to join the women's battalion. The women themselves demanded that the battalion be formed. Many had fathers, sons and sweethearts shot down in the last few days. They demanded passionately to be given guns and placed in the front lines.

This is one aspect of the dramatic answer of the women of Spain to the threat to democracy which looms up among the grim peaks of the Guadarrama mountains where professional soldiers and Fascists are making their stand.

20,000 in Nursing Service.

Already at least 20,000 women are mobilized in Madrid for Red Cross and other services. One hastily formed nursing organization sent out 7,000 members. University students are caring for many thousand children as, during the disturbance at the beginning of the week, many nuns left their convents and went to their homes. Some nuns returned. Others volunteered as nurses to care for the large number of wounded militia.

An agent of the British embassy went to a village in the mountains to find Winifred Scanlon, a British girl in charge of consumptive children in a hillside sanitorium. Troops of Gen. Emilio Mola, northern rebel leader, yesterday shelled the sanatorium. The agent of the embassy found Miss Scanlon in the cellar which was completely buried by the ruins of the building. She and the children were safe. She had been telling fairy tales to keep them quiet until they were rescued. Miss Scanlon was brought to Madrid.

There is one woman who is always near the firing line in the mountains. She is Dolores Ibarruri, better known as "Passionaria" or the "Passion Flower." It is a most unsuitable name. She is no frail, wisp of a woman, but square shouldered, 40, and the wife of a miner. Revolver in hand she strides over the rugged foothills urging men on in the defense of the republic.

2,000 Rebels Laid Low.

MADRID, July 26.—(AP)—Civilian recruits poured northward today, sworn to make the blood soaked Guadarrama mountains "the tomb of Spanish Fascism."

Successes in the vital Somosierra mountain pass gateways to Madrid with an estimated 2,000 rebels dead or wounded, already are claimed for militiamen and loyal guards who so far have held the passes with big guns, bombing planes and infantry charges.

Fifteen big guns of the loyalists, numbering 7,000 men, carried the main force of the smashing government attack. Spectators said the answering rebel salvos were "ineffective."

Under cover of the artillery fire and while two loyal planes bombarded insurgent positions, a column of militia dashed for higher vantage points.

The big attack started at 11:30 a. m. yesterday, and the loyalists gained new advantage positions under withering machine gun fire. Two rebel planes dropping pamphlets, were shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

Carrying the offensive to the Fascist revolutionaries, other government forces stormed Seville, in the south, and Saragossa, in the north, with new vigor. Fighting was reported at a point 53 miles from Saragossa and it was said rival generals were negotiating for the surrender of the rebel garrison in the city.

Two days of constant aerial bombardment precipitated the fall of Albacete, another southern rebel stronghold, last night.

With the fall of Albacete, military technicians were moving to reëstablish telephone and rail communications with that city, Murcia, Valencia, Alicante, and Cartagena.

Take Over Barcelona Banks.

Sixty Fascists were arrested in Alicante. More palaces were confiscated by Popular Front [government] adherents in Madrid, the Federation of Socialist Youths seizing one and the Leftist party another.

Rail service between Madrid and Talavera was restored. Additional food supplies arrived with the reestablishment of rail communications with Almoroc.

The government in Barcelona announced it would assume control of private banking functions "in order to meet the demands of economic life in Catalonia.

Bomb Villas in Mallorca.

MARSEILLES, France, July 26.—(AP)—French refugees from Palma, Mallorca, arriving today on the regular Air France plane, reported an American villa had been hit by a government air bomb this morning.

The refugees said two loyal planes from Barcelona flew over several Mallorcan villages, including Pollensa and Formentor.

Several projectiles were dropped, one hitting the villa belonging to a Mrs. Kent. Another struck a villa at Formentor belonging to the French Count De Rivauxi.

PRIESTS, RESCUED BY AN ITALIAN SHIP, TELL OF BARCELONA TERROR

GENOA, Italy, July 26.—(AP)—Tales of horror in Barcelona were brought here tonight by a group of monks, priests, and nuns who escaped from a monastery and convents and reached here with some 1,300 refugees aboard the steamer Principessa Margareta.

The monks declared they fled in peasant disguises. Their monastery, they said, was destroyed and some of their brothers were killed and left by the roadside. They reported that thirty Carmelite monks and a number of Salesian sisters were slain. All Barcelona's churches were sacked and set on fire, they asserted.

The refugees, who included four Americans, were for the most part a disheveled lot. Some were without shirts, some wore sweaters, and many had no baggage. A Polish naval officer carried only a cage of canaries. One woman had her pet dog and a little girl was dragging her favorite doll. The fugitives said some Italian Fascists reached the Italian consulate in Barcelona just in time to escape being killed. Some German Nazis also reported they had narrow escapes.

FEAR HUNDREDS DEAD IN BLAST, FIRE AT MASSAUA

LONDON, July 26.—(AP)—A Reuter's [British] dispatch from Aden, Arabia, said travelers reported hundreds of persons had perished in a fire at Massaua, chief city of the Italian colony of Eritrea in Africa.

The city was in flames, the travelers said, with newly erected gasoline tanks ablaze. The flames were reported spreading to an ammunition magazine and to aircraft. Already fifty airplanes were said to have been destroyed. Massaua was the principal port for troops and war supplies during the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Munitions Depot Explodes.

ROME, July 26.—(AP)—A government source tonight said a munition depot at Massaua, Eritrea, had exploded, probably injuring a number of persons. No deaths had been reported, he added.

A resulting fire was limited to the warehouse itself and did not spread to oil tanks or aircraft, this source stated. The city proper was not touched, he declared.

MADRID TROOPS JOINING REBELS, FASCISTS CLAIM

Deny Insurgents Lost in Mountain Battle.

WITH THE REBEL FORCES AT PAMPLONA, Spain, July 26.—(AP)—The rebel central war junta claimed a Fascist victory in the mountains of Guadarrama today.

The victory, insurgent officers said, was executed by the advance column of Gen. Emilio Mola's forces. It also was announced that two Madrid infantry regiments had rebelled, joining Mola's fighters.

The junta, in a proclamation, declared there would be "no reprisals" when the Fascists seize power in Spain.

Gen. Mola's slow progress toward Madrid was explained by rebel officers as dictated by the necessity of waiting for the southern armies of Gen. Francisco Franco to approach closer to the capital. His main forces now were said to be 56 miles from Madrid.

Mean to "Starve Out" Madrid.

Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, head of the provincial Fascist government in Burgos, reviewed rebel troops today on a flag-bedecked plaza here.

Pamplona and Navarre were in holiday mood, with Fascist confidence apparent everywhere. The question was not "Will we win?" but "When will we be in Madrid?"

Some Fascist leaders answered "in three days." Others set the time at which Madrid might be expected to be "starved out" at a month.

Shell San Sebastian.

HENDAYE, France, July 26.—(AP)—Spanish government forces shelled rebel barracks near San Sebastian for three hours today, but opposing leaders in Spain's northern zone of civil war devoted much of their time to drafting secret battle plans.

The loyal troops bombarded Loyola barracks, where rebel regiments were concentrated, during the morning, but the gunfire ceased this noon. A new field gun from Fort Guadalupe was set up on a hill commanding the road to Irun, on the French frontier, indicating a new engagement was under preparation.

A rebel column from Pamplona which had headed for San Sebastian several days ago, but failed to reach it, was said to have reached a point beyond Oyarrzum on its way to Pasajes. Capture of this point would give the rebels a seaport, but a hard fight was believed ahead before they reached it.

Foreigners Wounded.

PERPIGNAN, France, July 26.—(AP)—Four wounded Austrians, among refuges reaching here today from Valencia, said rebel forces there were beaten only after a fierce battle. The four said they stepped from their hotel to meet a barrage of machine gun fire and escaped death only by diving hastily under an automobile.

From Barcelona, on the northern Mediterranean coast, came reports of plundering homes of wealthy residents. The Ritz hotel was said to have been transformed into a "soup kitchen" to distribut food.

German Ex-Crown Prince and Lindy Talk of Air Exploits

POTSDAM, Germany, July 26.—(AP)—Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Germany, who once flew with the Wright brothers, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who spanned the Atlantic, met today at historic Cecilienhof castle.

On the prince's urgent invitation the Lindberghs motored early this morning to the romantic castle and were greeted at the door by an exuberant host, every inch the sportsman, deeply tanned, and in light summer suit.

"I've been wanting to know you a long time," declared the prince. "I suppose everybody asks you 'how did you do it?'" [This was a reference to Lindbergh's Paris flight.]

Col. Lindbergh gave a hearty chuckle.

Thereupon Prince Friedrich beamed to Mrs. Lindbergh, the former Anne Morrow:

"How did you ever let him do it?"

The colonel smiled.

"She didn't even know me then," he said.

Stroll About and Talk.

Formal presentations were then in order. Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of Friedrich, introduced other members of the party of nine—members of the American embassy.

Strolling about the estate, with its magnificent view of the Havel river, the American air ace and Friedrich talked earnestly. The Hohenzollern heir had many pointed questions on American aviation, for which the colonel had adequate answers.

It was at tea that the story of Friedrich's flight in 1908 with the American Wright brothers, airplane pioneers, came out. His father, the then kaiser, was much concerned, the prince recalled.

Hears of Lindy's Flights.

Col. Lindbergh listened with amusement to a description of the primitive plane, and Friedrich proved equally interested in stories he drew from the shy colonel of his flights to many parts of the world. At the end of an hour's chat the guests were shown over the castle, with its innumerable mementoes of the royal reign of the Hohenzollerns.

DRIVER IS KILLED, 3 INJURED WHEN CAR HITS VIADUCT

Impact Throws Occupants from Speeding Auto.

Adolph Bernartz, 52 years old, 4454 North California avenue, was killed last night and his wife and two other occupants of his automobile were injured when it crashed into the viaduct abutment of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad at Elston avenue. All four persons were thrown out of the machine. Police said the car apparently was speeding.

The injured, who were taken to Swedish Covenant hospital, are: Mrs. Catherine Bernartz, 53 years old; Joseph Gerard, 54 years old, 4454 North California avenue, Bernartz's brother-in-law; and Frederick Schlenker, 49 years old, 1527 North Halsted street. Mrs. Bernartz was the most seriously injured.

Bride Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Clara Guttman, 26 years old, the bride of Dr. Joseph Guttman, a physician, of 222 East Chestnut street, died last evening in the Presbyterian hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident on July 20 near Denver, Colo., while the Guttmans were on their wedding trip.

Dr. Guttman was slightly injured when their car overturned and his wife suffered a fracture of the spine. She was brought to the hospital here last Friday. At the coroner's office Mrs. Guttman's address was given as 6345 Kimbark avenue, but an investigation revealed she was unknown there. Dr. Guttman gave his wife's address as 204 South La Vergne avenue, which is the home of the dead woman's sister, Miss Mary Lee Koyle.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Guttman will be held this morning in the undertaking establishment at 1801 West Jackson boulevard.

Woman Killed in Crash.

Mrs. Nellie Mullins, 76 years old, 1515 West 78th street, was fatally injured yesterday in a collision of two cars at Columbia avenue and Chicago street in Hammond. She died in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond. Seven other persons were injured. According to the Hammond police, Robert Gorman, 238 Englewood avenue, failed to see a stop sign and his machine collided with a car driven by Victor Queer, 7950 Kingston avenue, in which Mrs. Mullins was riding.

Five persons were injured, one seriously, when their automobile turned over twice yesterday in Gary road about two miles northwest of Wheaton in Du Page county.

Frank Heger, 41 years old, 3412 Jackson boulevard, the driver; his wife Emma, 30 years old, and their son Alfred, 4 years old, who was seriously hurt, were taken to the Elmhurst hospital in Elmhurst. Two hitchhikers, Donald Grove, 20 years old, of Wheaton, and his brother, Rodney, whom the Hegers had given a ride, incurred minor injuries.

Robert Sanborin, 17 years old, 1755 School street, escaped injury, but his horse was killed yesterday when they were struck by the automobile of G. Vines, 1636 Monroe street, in North Sheridan road in Waukegan.

Mrs. Hattie Delleart, 41 years old, 1611 South Michigan avenue, was injured critically yesterday when an automobile driven by her husband, Alphonse, was struck by a truck and trailer at Wabash avenue and 18th street. The driver of the truck, Frank Defoe, 22 years old, of Detroit, Mich., was held by the central police.

For the second consecutive twenty-four hour period, ended at 4 p. m. yesterday, there were no automobile fatalities in Cook county. The number of persons killed in the county up to that hour since Jan. 1 remained at 538. Of these 417 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 9,882 were injured within the city limits.

NINE LOSE LIVES AS PASSENGER TRAIN HITS CAR

Woman Suffers Injuries in Crossing Crash.

Hamilton, O., July 26.—(AP)—Nine persons, five of them children, were killed, and one woman was injured today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a northbound Pennsylvania train.

Bodies of the victims and parts of the automobile were strewn along the track for more than 200 feet. One section of the car was carried for a quarter mile and wrapped around a telephone pole.

Earl Bley, who lives about 150 feet from the crossing, apparently was the only witness.

He said the automobile, in which the occupants were returning from a picnic, was driven onto the tracks, directly in the path of the train, which was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Four ambulances removed the dead and injured.

Two Trains Crush Car; Five Die.

Oconomowoc, Wis., July 26.—(AP)—Five persons were killed and one was seriously injured here tonight when their automobile was struck at the Concord street crossing by a westbound Milwaukee road train pulling in and an eastbound train leaving the station.

The car and passengers were ground between the two trains.

The dead are Walter, Helma, Norma, and Gilbert Dobratz, and Ralph Rubel. Verna Dobratz was taken to a hospital with serious injuries.

Police said the automobile, believed to have been a small sedan, was scattered 335 feet along the tracks and bodies were found 66 feet from the crossing, three blocks from the depot.

Two Killed, 8 Hurt in Crash.

Monroe, Mich., July 26.—(AP)—Two automobiles collided near here tonight, killing two men and injuring eight other persons seriously. The dead were Walter Olszewski, 41, and Anothony Czajwoski, 40, of Detroit. Among the injured were Anthony Olszewski, 44, of Chicago, brother of Walter; his wife, Viola, 43, and their two sons, Anthony Jr., 7, and Chester, 9.

POLES AND NAZIS REACH ACCORD ON DANZIG POLICY

WARSAW, Poland, July 26.—(AP)—Poland and Germany have come to an understanding regarding the Free City of Danzig, it was announced tonight by a news agency which is generally considered the mouthpiece of the Polish foreign office.

The texts of the notes exchanged, the agency said, will not be made public until they are communicated to the league of nations council. The agency added Germany is understood to have agreed to supply explanations which would tend to smooth over recent incidents in the free city.

[Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, president of the Nazi controled Danzig senate, recently told the league of nations that Danzig wanted an end of league control. Later he issued decrees to restrict opposition to the Danzig Nazi régime. Both Germany and Poland are interested in Danzig, an important port north of Poland on the Baltic sea. It was part of Germany until it was made a free city under league supervision after the world war.]

START ONE WAY TRAFIC TODAY ON SHERIDAN ROAD

Trafic engineers and policemen of the Chicago park district today will place in operation the new trafic plan designed to relieve congestion by making Sheridan road a one way thoroughfare between Devon and Foster avenues during the morning and evening rush hours.

Between 6:45 and 9:30 a. m. all travel on Sheridan road will be southbound from the Devon-Broadway intersection to Foster avenue and thence on the outer drive as far as Lawrence avenue. Northbound cars during this period leave the outer drive at the Lawrence avenue underpass, and use Broadway to the juncture with Sheridan road at Devon avenue where normal two way trafic is resumed.

In the evening the one way movement is northbound betwene 4:10 and 6:45 o'clock. Southbound motorists, using Broadway from Devon avenue, enter the outer drive at Winona street, which is a block south of Foster avenue. During both rush hours the present plan of trafic control between Belmont and North avenues will be retained.

AUSTRIA RETURNS PROPERTY SEIZED FROM HAPSBURGS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, July 26.—Property of the Hapsburgs, which was confiscated by the Austrian republic, is now being restored to the former imperial family. This is seen in some quarters as consolation for the recent Austro-German agreement which, it is rumored, has private clauses shelving the matter of a Hapsburg restoration for several years.

Archduke Otto already has received from the government shares of a nominal value of $400,000 and deeds to a building in Vienna.

Monarch Lauds Canadian Dead in Vimy Speech.

VIMY, France, July 26.—(AP)—King Edward VIII. of England, standing bareheaded before a silent throng of pilgrims, unveiled a gleaming world war monument atop Vimy Ridge today as a symbol of British-Canadian-French friendship and peace.

An absolute silence prevailed over a throng of more than 100,000 persons, assembled in the fields about the ridge, as the sovereign revealed the memorial on the site captured by the Canadian forces in April 1917, in the battle of Arras. After the unveiling, the king's voice rang out in a speech broadcast to the crowd and relayed throughout the world.

The first part of the king's speech was delivered in French. He greeted President Albert Lebrun of France.

"I am very grateful to you, Mr. President, for having made the journey to Vimy to join with us on the occasion of today's ceremony," the king said.

Recalls Deeds of Valor.

"We raise this memorial to Canadian warriors. It is an inspired expression in stone chisled by a skilful Canadian hand of Canada's salute to her fallen sons. It marks the scene of feats of arms which history will long remember and Canada can never forget. And the ground it covers is the gift of France to Canada.

"All the world over, there are battlefields the names of which are written indelibly on the pages of our troubled human story. It is one of the consolations which time brings that the deeds of valor done on those battlefields long survive the quarrels which drove the opposing hosts to conflict.

"Vimy will be one such name. Already the scars of war have well nigh vanished from the fair landscape beneath us. Around us here today there is peace and rebuilding of hope. And so, also, in dedicating this memorial to our fallen comrades, we invoke the splendor of their sacrifice and the consecration of our affection for them rather than the gunfire which battered this hill twenty years ago."

King Shakes Hands.

Extreme precautions were taken to protect the king, who less than two weeks ago rode into range of a loaded pistol held by a discontented Briton.

Troops were lined up around the station when his train arrived, and no photographs were permitted. But as soon as he reached the monument, the king escaped his bodyguard and mingled with the crowd.

The anxious escort almost broke into a run trying to keep up with the monarch as he spoke to persons in the crowd and shook hands.

King Edward made his first trip out of Britain since becoming king to conduct the ceremony. Furthermore, for the first time as sovereign he stood on Canadian soil. The French government has given the site of the Vimy Ridge memorial to Canada in perpetuity.

President Lebrun also came for his first time to Canadian soil.

Memorial Costs $1,000,000.

The dedication culminated ten years of labor and an expenditure of about $1,000,000 on erection of the memorial. The work was completed after earlier delays in construction because of difficulties in finding the 7,000 to 8,000 tons of special stone required.

The parchment colored blocks, averaging from four to twenty-five tons, were brought from an old Roman quarry in Jugo-Slavia.

Walter S. Allward, Toronto architect and sculptor who designed the monument for the Canadian battlefields memorial commission, supervised the preparations for the unveiling.

King Reaches Home.

LONDON, July 26.—(AP)—King Edward VIII. of England, returning by plane from France after dedicating the Vimy Ridge world war monument, landed at Hendon airdrome at 8:40 p. m. tonight.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 26.—Foreign Minister Westman today stated that Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, Italian viceroy of Ethiopia, had expelled twenty-two Swedish doctors nurses, and missionaries from Ethiopia. The Swedish government filed an official protest. There has been no news of the Swedish ambulance units which disappeared from Dolo.

ENTER MUSIC FESTIVAL CONTESTS

BATON TWIRLING TWINS WILL GIVE JUDGES PROBLEM

The judges of baton twirling at the seventh Chicagoland Music festival drum major's contest are going to have one problem on their hands. On Saturday morning, Aug. 15, the day of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S big festival, twin sisters who look so much alike that their parents scarcely can tell them apart, are entered in the junior baton twirling contest which will be held in Soldiers' field. They are Jane and June Hendricks, 16 years old, of 5420 Fulton street, drum majors for the Austin High school girls' band.

The reserved seats for the festival concert go on sale this morning by mail and at two Tribune Public Service counters, at 1 South Dearborn street, and in Tribune Tower. They sell for 50 cents each. General admission tickets for 25 cents will be on sale at Soldiers' field the evening of the festival. Persons wishing tickets sent to them should enclose a money order or check made payable to THE TRIBUNE and send to the festival ticket manager, room 530, Tribune Tower. The service counters will be open on week days from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m., and on Sundays from 9 a. m.to 5 p. m.

The deadline for all festival contests will be at 6 p. m., Monday, Aug. 3. Entries must be in the festival headquarters, room 1418, in Tribune Tower, at that time.

OIL TRUCK HITS POST; 2 KILLED, 5 HOMES BURNED

Ottawa, Kas., July 26.—(AP)—A man and woman burned to death and five homes were destroyed when an oil truck crashed into a light pole in the residential section here today. Blazing oil flowed several blocks down Ottawa's main street. A strong wind carried the blazing oil and sparks to nearby houses and the heat melted and burned the filler between bricks and set drouth-burned trees and lawns afire.

For five hours firemen fought the flames, which for a time threatened the entire southeast section of Ottawa.

ROB TAVERN OWNER OF $70.

Theodore Tavlik, owner of a tavern at 1347 North Paulina street, was robbed of $70 early yesterday by four men who entered the place.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 26.—[Special.]—Two men were arrested here today following a quickly suppressed demonstration, said to have been fomented by communists, in which an attempt was made to tear down a swastika banner at the annual German day picnic in Washington park.

Those arrested were Elmer Lockner, 25, of Milwaukee, described as a communist organizer, and George Loh, 30, of New York, editor of Der Arbeiter, a liberal German publication. Both were badly mauled and their shirts were ripped from their backs in a scuffle with the crowd before police took charge.

Lockner, police said, had been involved in communist demonstrations on two previous occasions. Both he and Loh were booked on a charge of suspicion to incite a riot.

Treated at Hospital.

William Karl Greeb, 34, of Hartland, Wis., whom police also took into custody, was released after he identified himself as a "friend of new Germany" and a defender of the threatened Nazi emblem. Greeb was treated at Emergency hospital for cuts and bruises he suffered in the melée.

The flag attack followed a speech by Wilhelm Tannenberg of Chicago, German consul general, in which the official had pointed an accusing finger at "the doubters of the new Germany." This remark was greeted by derisive laughter and sporadic boos from the far ends of the crowd of some 50,000.

Crowd Surges Forward.

Tannenberg had returned to his seat and a Bavarian folk dance was being presented when there was a commotion and part of the crowd suddenly surged toward the spot back of the speakers' platform which had been reserved as a court of honor for a flag display, including, besides the Nazi emblem, the American and Austrian banners.

The crowd closed in around Lockner and Loh, one of whom made a flying tackle at the swastika. Fists had begun to fly when a score of policemen intervened and dragged the two men away. The swastika, a little soiled and crumpled, was restored to its former place and the ceremonies were resumed.

PERCY YOUTH KILLED BY CAR.

Sparta, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—Donald E. Cullen, 19 years old, of Percy, was injured fatally last night when struck by a car driven by James C. Anderson of Danville, Ill., while crossing the highway. A coroner's jury held the accident unavoidable.

HOW PEOPLE USE US

No. 2

By CALEB

WHISTLES were tooting. The ship was warped into her berth. Soon the crowd dammed up behind the ship's rail was released. Excitement was transferred to the customs enclosure.

Travelers in a hurry were impatiently awaiting their turns. One distinguished appearing silver-haired gentleman was the soul of composure. He had been cleared in a few minutes and was pausing to chat with friends he had made on board ship.

"I always get through this quickly," he said.

"But don't you have to bring presents back to that large family you told us about? I should think you'd be loaded down with things to complicate matters. Presents, presents, presents—that's what holds me up."

"Well, you see, I have a system," and he smiled. "I go abroad at least once each year, and since I'm in a family which has the present-exchanging habit very badly, I had to find a way to provide presents from my trips which wouldn't delay me—either in Europe or on my return.

"I stop in Chicago on my way home. There, I go to Marshall Field's and ask for a personal shopper. In perhaps an hour—with her help—I can buy a score of beautiful things which they send in one big package to St. Louis.

"Usually I reach the Orient on my trips. We pick a few Oriental things at Field's. A rare piece of embroidery, a Buddha shrine or a piece of brass. Then we select some Dresden or some Swedish crystal. Perhaps some Italian pottery. Possibly some French vase—or bronze.

"No matter what countries I have been in, I know a Field buyer has been there before me, scouring the country for beautiful things. Field's bought them at wholesale—I would have to buy them abroad at retail. Field's pays the duty. You see? It saves me a lot of trouble and costs me no more. Probably less. And I come through here quickly as this.

"When I get to St. Louis, I unpack the Field shipment. I arrange the gifts in my library and invite all my fond relations to come pick their souvenirs."

His listeners looked as though they were being let in on a remarkable bit of strategy. As indeed they were.

The silver-haired gentleman said his good-byes and walked debonairly from the enclosure. His companions looked enviously after him.

was impelled to relate to the Peoria crowd upon his belated arrival. Then he launched into his attack upon New Deal tactics and had special words for his listeners—young people like himself.

Hope Perilled, Youths Told.

"Young men and women standing at the threshold of their lives, eager to take their places and carve their careers, are offered the opportunity to be regimented into vast state groups with individual initiative wiped out and hope for a career and future forever lost," Brooks said.

"To the millions unemployed and on relief and to the army of eager youth the door of opportunity has been closed by the prophets of the New Deal and over it has been written 'no hope.'

"The country whose restless men and women have conquered a continent, harnessed its rivers, tunneled its mountains, and turned its vast prairies into the richest food producing portion of the world never will accept regimentation in a socialized state or stifle their hope and ambition for a part in the world's great drama.

"Cradle, Tomb Must Pay."

"Government debts, local, state, and national, have to date put a mortgage of $1,100 on the life of each employable American. This he must pay or carry to his grave. The young man and woman will doubtless bear twice this amount for the years that stretch ahead—will take their toll in taxes for each garment they wear and each portion of food they eat. The cradle will be taxed and the tomb will pay its portion for the orgy of extravagance and fantastic schemes thrust upon a patient people.

"Youth must fight militantly to preserve its future of equal opportunity offered for a century and a half to the poorest boy who dreams of a career and turns it into a reality. Youth must halt national bankruptcy and socialization by rallying to the defense of the Republican forces.

"Youth is rebelling against the folly of a 'planned society' that stifles ambition and drives out hope. Wherever I go throughout Illinois the army of young men and women is rising like a tidal wave. On Nov. 3 the youth of America will sweep before them the alien systems and false prophets that have sought to enslave and regiment our people."

Crowd Cheers Glenn.

Former Senator Glenn was cheered as he spoke briefly but bitingly of the Washington brain trusters, and the chief brain truster of them all, the President.

Listing former Democratic nominees for president, Mr. Glenn declared that "John W. Davis, the 1924 nominee, is against Roosevelt; Alfred E. Smith, the nominee in 1928, is against Roosevelt, and while James M. Cox, the nominee in 1920, is keeping quiet, every one knows where he stands.

"In fact," Glenn continued, "the only Democratic nominee who is for Roosevelt is Roosevelt himself. The supreme issue in this campaign is the preservation of our form of government. Remember that during the last century and a half we have seen the governments of almost every major country fall to the devices of a dictator—except our country. We will not allow the New Dealers, professors, and foreigners to destroy American ideals."

Charles W. Hadley, nominee for attorney-general, and Arthur J. Bidwill, nominee for auditor, also were applauded after they spoke, Bidwill winning a hand with the phrase that "the great Kansas fire, the spirit of Landon, is sweeping the middle west and especially Illinois. It can't be stopped because it won't be stopped."

Mayor Welcomes Delegates.

Stifling heat did not deter the youthful delegates and more than 2,000 already had registered by the opening of the morning session, which was held in a downtown theater. Park Livingston of Oak Park, state director of young Republican activities, called the convention to order and the routine work was accomplished in smooth, quick pace.

Mayor Edward N. Woodruff, Republican veteran of ten terms as head of the Peoria city government, welcomed the delegates and added a few predictions of party victory in November, then gave way to former Congressman William E. Hull, who soon had the crowd cheering with an account of the enthusiasm at the Landon notification ceremonies in Topeka.

Then, after the committees had been appointed and were completing the organization work, George Hatzenbuhler of Bloomington, candidate for lieutenant governor, was introduced to congratulate the young Republicans "for your splendid work," and similar words were spoken by William R. Allen of Peoria, secretary of the state central committee.

Keynoter Asks Harmony.

The keynote delivered by Frederick W. Turner Jr. of Chicago was a plea for harmony as well as a summary of issues before the party. Turner's serious request for the elimination of "factional disputes, personal antipathies, and grudges" brought forth private explanations of a small feud between two groups, each striving for recognition. That headed by Thomas J. Downs Jr., Chicago attorney and president of the young Republican organization in Illinois, appeared to have won control. The other faction is led by another Chicago young lawyer, Harold T. Halfpenny, junior national committeeman of Illinois.

Keynoter Turner defined the issues as follows:

"Whether the federal government is to maintain a paternalistic attitude; a competent livelihood for those out of employment; sound old age security measures; governmental finance concerning chiefly the question of balancing the budget; whether our system of government is to be one of checks and balances or whether all power is to be concentrated in the hands of the executive, and the question concerning the interpretation to be placed upon the constitution.

Platform Shows Stand.

"The answer to all these issues and the attitude of the party on them are to be found in the party's platform.

"I like to remember the old advice about a good offense being the best defense. Applied today we can paraphrase it by saying that the best defense of American ideals is a strategic offense—composed of sound principles, clearly and unequivocally enunciated, backed up and based upon devotion to the country and sincerity of purpose."

Evan Howell of Springfield then was elected permanent chairman on the motion of William John Granata of Chicago, chairman of the committee on permanent organization. Howell impressed the delegates with their importance by reminding them that 42 per cent, almost a majority of the voters of America, are between the ages of 21 and 36.

Howell States Philosophy.

Howell delivered a trenchant attack upon the New Deal for the tax burdens it has piled "upon future generations," and stated the political philosophy of youth as follows:

"Our grievances are many—yet our wants are simple. We want a government that deals fairly and sincerely with us through all its individuals, spokesmen, and agencies in accordance with the constitution of the United States. We love the American system which gives the individual the right to labor and progress as an independent human being and not as a ward of the government. We demand that the system be perpetuated."

Mr. Downs told the delegates that "the young Republicans do not feel that they are or should be a faction in the party, but rather should be an integral part, and I believe your presence here today is conclusive evidence to any fair-minded person that the young Republicans are an integral part of the party in Illinois.

Elders' Aid Welcomed.

"We welcome the counsel and leadership of our elders and gladly respond to the call to arms to insure victory in November. There should be a militant repetition of the historic principles of the Republican party, glorious principles.

"The Republican party is the party of progress and the party of prosperity. We are living in a new era of straight thinking on the basic issues and plain talking about them. This is the era of the young American. We have to pay the bills of the Democratic administration, and we cannot do better than to keep that in mind as a guide to our contact with the elders of our party.

"The present occupant of the executive mansion at Springfield is a strange mixture of blunderbuss and tongue-in-the-cheek. So long as he was the beneficiary of the designs and plotting of the Chicago Tammany, his voice was not raised in opposition to its conniving, but as soon as the snarling tiger turned upon him, he began ranting from one end of the state to the other, trying to place upon his worried brow a halo of civic martyrdom. A leopard cannot change its spots; neither can a whelp of the Democratic 'tiger.'

"Governor to Use Slogan."

"The present governor, however, will not make this campaign on his record but will use a slogan like 'Vote for Roosevelt and Recovery.' The Democrats are going to put the President out in front and try to drag the whole ticket with him. We might as well start now to take 'pot-shots' at the White House overseer."

The platform was read and adopted on motion of Noble Johnson of Paxton, chairman of the resolutions committee. Its essence was found in the second paragraph in which the young Republicans pledged themselves "to maintain the American system of constitutional and local self government, and to resist all attempts to impair the authority of the Supreme court, the final protector of the rights of our citizens against the arbitrary encroachments of the executive and the legislative branches of our government.

"There can be no individual liberty without an independent judiciary and legislative body. We further pledge ourselves to preserve the American system of free enterprise, private competition, and equality of opportunity and to seek its betterment in the interests of all."

Under the heading, "recovery," the platform read:

"We condemn the confusion of policy of the present administration and demand that an intelligent system of recovery be embarked upon; that constant governmental intimidation and hostility cease, and that we be freed from the monopolistic control that is being fostered by this administration.

Demand Halt on Debts.

"We demand that there be an immediate cessation of the mounting debts and increasing taxes. We believe that no administration has the right to mortgage the future of its youth by an extravagant system of finance that occasions no real good for either the present generation or for those to come. We pledge ourselves to work for reduced taxes and elimination of unnecessary bureaucracy with its tremendous present and future cost. We demand that the financial house of our country be put in order and take the position that the present extravagance and waste definitely retard prosperity and recovery."

BANKERS, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR WILL SEE LANDON TODAY

Topeka, Kas., July 26.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon, after a day of rest, tomorrow will hold a number of conferences. Much of his time this week will be devoted for preparing for his eastern speeches in behalf of his candidacy for the presidency. Those having appointments with Gov. Landon tomorrow are:

Robert Marion Hardy, president since 1925 of the First National bank of Yakima, Wash.; director of the Spokane branch of the federal reserve bank of San Francisco.

25 Billion Spent, G. O. P. Yearbook Asserts.

"President Roosevelt's spending spree has increased the national debt until it totals $1,131 for every American family—a jump of 61 per cent, or $429 for each family since he took office on March 4, 1933. From that date to June 30, 1936, federal expenditures amounted to $25,067,509,000, or approximately $2.12 for every dollar received."

These are among the facts set forth in the first section of the Republicans' campaign year book, which was made public yesterday by the Chicago headquarters of the Republican national committee. It will be ready for distribution on Aug. 1, and with sections still to come will comprise a compendium of information that speakers and party workers will convey to the voters before the Nov. 3 election.

View Education as Main Task.

Accompanying the announcement of this chapter of the year book was a statement from John Hamilton, chairman of the national committee, in which he said that the biggest job confronting the party workers is the campaign of education among the voters.

"The facts are plain," reads Mr. Hamilton's statement. "Once understood by the people who are bearing the back breaking burden of taxation piled up by the New Deal waste and incompetence, there will be an even greater drift toward the common sense typified by Gov. Alf M. Landon than has been recorded to date."

The national debt, the year book shows, amounted to $33,779,000,000 on June 30, 1936, an increase of $12,842,000,000 over what it was when Roosevelt took office, yet before the world wa rit never exceeded $2,755,000,000.

Perils of Course Cited.

The consequences of this headlong immersion into debt are thus explained by the yearbook:

"The outstanding characteristic of the Roosevelt administration has been its failure to keep government expenditures within income. Interest and principal of a public debt must be paid just as in the case of a private debt. Money with which to pay it can only be collected from the people. Failure to pay means bankruptcy, and national bankruptcy means the collapse of government."

Citing Roosevelt's declaration when a candidate in 1932 that he proposed that the government be made solvent, the year book continues:

"Yet in 3½ years after he became President, Mr. Roosevelt increased the national debt $12,842,000,000. Moreover, the end is not in sight. According to official statements, President Roosevelt expects to add approximately $3,000,000,000 more to the debt."

Landon's Truism Quoted.

The year book then cites that portion of Gov. Landon's speech of acceptance in which he declared that "even if we were to tax to the utmost limits those who are best able to pay, the average taxpayer will still have to bear the major part."

In former years the guide for campaign workers has been called the Republican textbook, but this year's review of New Deal extravagance is called the year book. Other Republican factual publications are a "Manual of Facts," and "Promise and Performance."

Socialists to Open Illinois Campaign at Rockford

The Socialist campaign in Illinois is to be launched at Rockford tonight by George A. Nelson of Wisconsin, the party's candidate for Vice President. Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate for President, will make his first speech in Illinois on Sept. 18, Maynard C. Krueger, state chairman, said Socialist workers downstate have reported a swing against President Roosevelt and the Democratic party, much of it toward their party. He attributed a part of it to the increasing unpopularity of Gov. Horner

Find Woman Dead in Park, Choked with Baling Wire

Portland, Ore., July 26.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified woman, about 50 years old, strangled with baling wire, was found today in Washington park. Authorities were unable to say whether she was slain or committed suicide.

WOMAN INJURED IN FALL; DIES.

Mrs. Katherine Burek, 48 years old, 2040 West 18th place, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred in a fall Saturday night in her home.

GROUP TO MEET COL. KNOX ON ARRIVAL TODAY

Col. Frank Knox, Republican nominee for Vice President, is to return to Chicago today from New England where he has been writing the speech of acceptance which he will give Thursday at the Chicago Stadium when formally notified of his nomination. He will be met at the train by members of the Illinois' Citizens' committee, which is arranging the notification ceremony.

The ceremony in the Stadium will be preceded by parades of ward organizations, veteran groups and others which will converge upon the Stadium. Edward Clamage, world war veteran, as grand marshal, has issued instructions for the parade routes.

The arrangements committee, which is headed by Chauncey McCormick, has received a letter from Fred Perkins, battery manufacturer of York, Pa., who was one of the first victims of the late national recovery administration. Perkins' letter said he would like to tell how he "served 18 days in jail in 1934 after his unconstitutional arrest" because he refused to comply with NRA regulations.

Gov. Sholtz of Florida, New Elks Ruler, Here

Gov. David Sholtz of Florida stopped off in Chicago yesterday on his way home from the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Los Angeles where he was elected grand exalted ruler of the order. A New Dealer, he had no comment on national politics and said his present interest was in the Americanization campaign of the Elks. The order is interested, he said, in checking the spread of un-American propaganda and an Elk program is being outlined to combat communism and other subversive movements.

IF LEMKE LOSES REPUDIATE FARM DEBTS—COUGHLIN

Homecoming Celebration Held for Candidate.

Hankinson, N. D., July 26.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin called today for a repudiation of farm debts if Representative William Lemke, N. D., is not elected President on the Union party ticket.

Terming that course as "the only way out," the Detroit priest told an audience at Lemke's homecoming celebration here that if the North Dakotan were not installed in the White House "there is only one thing to do—repudiate your debts and if anybody tries to enforce them repudiate them also."

Father Coughlin, addressing a large crowd at the homecoming picnic, referred to Lemke as the next President Elect of the United States and declared the representative's program was in accord with the sixteen principles of the National Union for Social Justice.

Lists "Two Propositions."

"There are two propositions which need to be considered for the northwest," he asserted. "One is to save it from the hands of the bankers and insurance companies; the other to save it from drouth."

Father Coughlin said Democrats and Republicans are engaged in a "'sham battle,' a battle between the right wing and the left wing of the same bird of prey, the international banker."

"Go back," said Father Coughlin, "and tell your friends that if either is installed in the White House there will be no election in 1940. Fascism will be here and communism will be making a bid for power."

The priest, here on behalf of Lemke's candidacy, made only passing reference to President Roosevelt, although directing numerous thrusts at the New Deal. He referred to the President as "a genial, a promising young man," and of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, Republican presidential nominee, said he was "a lovely gentleman."

Opens Campaign at Home.

The picnic gathering marked the opening of Lemke's campaign in this state. The candidate and his colleague, Usher L. Burdick, chairman of the Union party national committee, shared the platform with the priest.

Father Coughlin devoted much of his address to the subject of money, expounding his theory of currency issuance.

"Before this economic disaster can be rectified," he said, "we must restore to the congress its constitutional right which has been unconstitutional ever since a law was passed permitting private persons to create money and the right to issue money.

"You must demand that the government restore to congress the right to coin money and demand that it be taken away from the private hands of Wall street.

Candidate of "People."

Lemke, following Coughlin, declared, "I am a candidate because there is no other candidate for the common people."

"Refractionary Democrats and reactionary Republicans," he said, "belong to the same breed of cats, in fact, they are the same cat. I am going to bring the presidency of the American people back to the American people where it belongs."

After the addresses, Coughlin left for Detroit and Lemke for Chicago.

Bloomington, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Delabar of Oquawka will celebrate her 100th birthday anniversary tomorrow. The Oquawka band will serenade Oquawka's "first lady." Business men and officials of the town will present her with gifts.

OKLAHOMA WPA VOTE ACTIVITIES STIR NEW STORM

Rival Camps Renew Charges.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 26.—(AP)—Supporters of rival New Deal candidates for senator exchanged charges of improper activity by WPA workers and state employes today as the campaign for Tuesday's Oklahoma Democratic run-off primary drew to a close.

Claims of misuse of federal agencies were renewed in the camps of both Representative Josh Lee and Gov. E. W. Marland as WPA officials in Washington announced they would continue an investigation into WPA political activity that already has resulted in dismissal of seven employés.

Investigator Resigns.

Joseph R. Cannon resigned yesterday as WPA investigator for Oklahoma and Texas, criticizing W. S. Key, state WPA director, for not "stepping down" while the inquiry leading to the dismissals was under way. He said he was resigning because he could "no longer refrain from commenting on political activities of certain individuals in this state who have violated the obligation of their positions."

Aubrey Williams, assistant national director who announced the dismissals, said he was confident Key had done his best to prevent political activities among the workers. The seven dismissed were alleged to have been active for Lee.

Lee Assails Inquiry.

Lee, who spoke in Tulsa last night, said he may have "something to say" after a conference with supporters here.

Speaking in Muskogee last week, Lee contended "this investigation has all the earmarks of a governor-controled inquiry, timed to break just before the second primary election," and Lee's secretary, George McElroy, said Lee would insist on an inquiry into methods used in the investigation.

"We are gathering all the evidence we can to show this was a one-sided investigation inspired by Gov. Marland," said McElroy.

The Lee camp charged Marland forces had employed "ruthless methods in driving state employés to campaign for the governor."

At Marland headquarters Howard B. Drake, manager, praised William's action in dismissing the seven and said he believed WPA headquarters was "sincere in wanting those on the WPA rolls to feel free to vote as they please."

11 CONGRESSMEN NAMED IN TEXAS; BLANTON TRAILS

Gov. Allred Is Leading for Renomination.

Dallas, Tex., July 26.—(AP)—Eleven Texas congressmen apparently won reelection without a run-off in yesterday's Democratic primary, but several others, including the veteran Thomas Blanton of the Seventeenth district, failed to receive a majority.

Generally the Democratic nomination in Texas is tantamount to election.

Blanton, representing a west Texas district centering around Abilene, was trailing Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland on the votes available today. The count stood: Blanton, 17,359; Garrett, 21,969.

Representative Maury Maverick, political youngster and member of a ranch family, seeking reelection, led Lamar Seeligson by 11,780 to 8,324 in the Twentieth district.

List of Winners.

Those apparently assured of renomination are Martin Dies, Sam Rayburn, Luther Johnson, J. J. Mansfield, J. P. Buchanan, Fritz Lanham, Richard Kleberg, Milton West, Marvin Jones, George H. Mahon, and Charles L. South.

W. R. Poage, a former state senator from Waco, also appeared nominated.

Morgan Sanders, from the Third district, was having a tough fight with his only opponent, Alton Grant. Sanders had 20,111; Grant, 19,174.

Others apparently in for run-offs were Hatton Sumners, 10,059, and Claude Westerfeld, 4,434, Fifth district; Nat Patton, 18,467, and Bonner Frizzell, 8,938, or Emerson Stone, 7,851, Seventh district; Albert Thomas, 14,829, and Oscar Holcombe, Houston mayor, 12,946, Eighth district, and W. D. McFarlane, 17,651, and Grady Woodruff, 8,393, Thirteenth district.

Gov. Allred in Lead.

Black haired Jimmy Allred, whose advance to political prominence has embraced periods as a bottle washer, bootblack, and sailor, watched his majority in the governor's race grow to proportions which virtually assured his reelection.

The Texas election bureau, in an overnight compilation of 777,424 votes cast in the Democratic primary yesterday, credited Allred with 493,066. His nearest competitor and fellow townsman, Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls, had 176,819. Hunter was defeated by Allred two years ago.

F. W. Fischer, Tyler oil man and newcomer to the state political scene, was third with 109,933 votes and Roy Sanderford trailed him with but 62,065. Pierce Brooks of Dallas was last with 25,601.

Morris Sheppard, United States senator from Texarkana, continued to pile up his tremendous majority over a field of five. He held 437,666 votes, compared to the 90,030 of the man nearest him, Representative Joe Eagle of Houston.

$350,000 Bronx Church Destroyed by Flames

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Flames illuminated the Bronx sky for miles just before dawn today as fire roared through the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, virtually destroying the $350,000 edifice. The Rev. Severino Focacci, pastor, and his curates, Fathers Pasquale Cannizzaro and Louis Barretta, risked their lives to rescue the blessed sacrament from the tabernacle. The prieses made a second perilous trip and carried all the other sacred vessels and vestments from the sacristy.

A Lovely Skin

Comes from within

Constipation is the cause of most skin troubles. Poisons from the waste matter are picked up by the blood and carried to all parts of the body, especially the skin.

No one needs to have a sallow, muddy complexion. Proper diet, exercise, surface cleanliness and above all—internal cleanliness. Nujol prevents intestinal poisons that ruin your health and complexion.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so natural in its action.

Nujol replaces a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and permits thorough, regular and gentle bowel movements.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

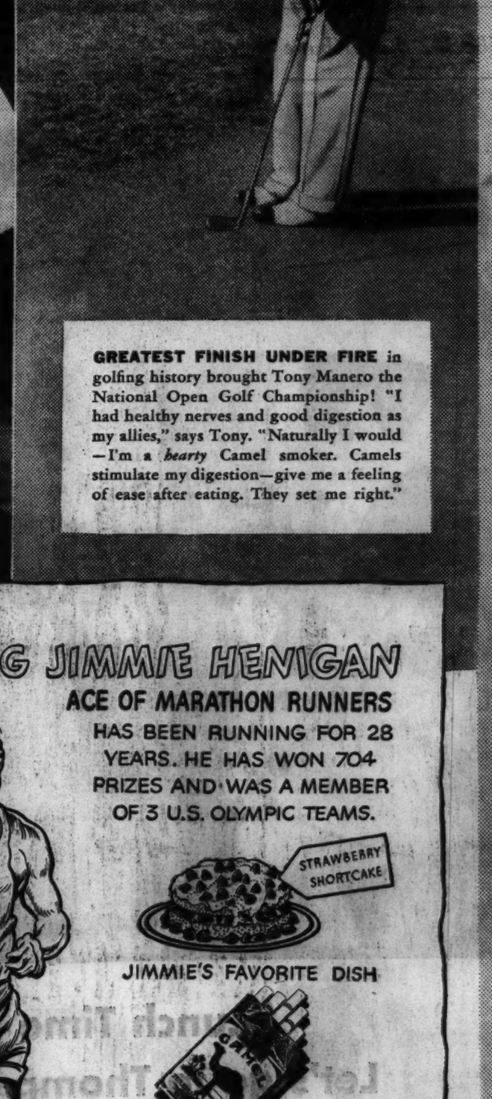
At Boston's Parker House they know good food and good tobacco

Back in the ample kitchen, the chef beams over a Planked Sirloin Steak à la Parker, named, like the famous rolls, after the historic Parker House in Boston. Camels are first choice here. Martin J. Lavin, banquet manager of the Parker House, is impressed with the outstanding popularity of Camels. "Camels are the favorite cigarette of those who love good food," he points out. "Camels are first choice at the Parker House at banquets, dinners, and luncheons."

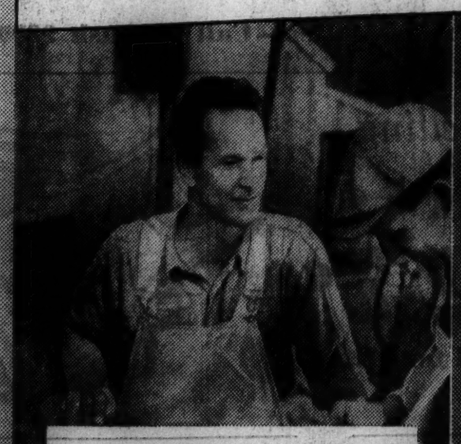
SMALL BUT SPEEDY. Many a more powerful rival has fallen before the whirlwind speed and stamina of petite Mrs. Ethel Arnold. She smokes a lot—Camels, of course. "I smoke Camels with my meals," says this tennis ace. "I find I enjoy my food more and digest it better too. And smoking Camels doesn't upset my nerves. Camels are so delightfully mild."



GREATEST FINISH UNDER FIRE in golfing history brought Tony Manero the National Open Golf Championship! "I had healthy nerves and good digestion as my allies," says Tony. "Naturally I would—I'm a hearty Camel smoker. Camels stimulate my digestion—give me a feeling of ease after eating. They set me right."

Those who enjoy the goodness of Camel's mild, ripe, costlier tobaccos with meals and after say:

"—for Digestion's sake... smoke Camels"



"I EAT HEARTY," says Gus Kramer, master carpenter. "And that's one reason why I smoke Camels. They help my digestion. I always enjoy my meals more and feel better after eating when I've smoked a few Camels. Camels set me right!"

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

One of life's most enjoyable experiences—the pleasure Camels add to eating!

Notice how much of the zest for eating is restored when you smoke Camels at mealtime. Each Camel helps to increase the flow of digestive fluids... alkaline digestive fluids...so necessary to well-being.

Better for steady smoking

Enjoy Camel's mild and costly tobaccos whenever you like. Experience the cheery "lift"—the aid to digestion—the sense of well-being that Camels bring.

Camels do not get on your nerves or rasp your throat. Camels set you right—the whole day through!

● Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS...Turkish and Domestic...than any other popular brand.

BAR ADVOCATES NEW COURT TO CENTER POWERS

Would Assume Functions of 75 Agencies.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—The establishment of a federal administrative court, which ultimately might absorb the judicial functions of 75 government agencies, was recommended today by a special committee of the American Bar association.

In a report based on three years of research, the committee said that scores of administrative agencies—such as the federal alcohol administration, the customs court, and the patent office—have the power to make regulations and decisions having the force of law.

"Evils" have resulted from the "bewildering multiplicity" and the overlapping jurisdictions of these agencies, the committee said, adding that the agencies combine judicial with legislative or executive functions, and in some cases there is no provision for independent review of their decisions.

Take Over Work Gradually.

The proposed court gradually would take over the judicial work of these administrative tribunals and, when practicable its judges would be recruited from among the administrative officers whom it supersedes.

The committee suggested that its decisions should be subject to review, in specified cases, by the Circuit courts and Supreme court.

The new tribunal would include both trial and appellate divisions, and each division would be broken up into branches specializing in particular types of cases. Hearings would be held throughout the country to avoid excessive centralization in Washington.

Division in Last Century.

In discussing the need for an independent administrative court, the committee declared that the division of constitutional powers has taken place since the administration of George Washington, but that the process did not assume substantial proportions until almost a century later.

At present, the committee said, "there are about 1,300 separate instances of transfer of power to enact laws from congress to administrative agencies."

The overlapping nature of the administrative agencies has resulted in "great hardship and injustice," the committee contended. It cited the case of a radio station advertising food and drugs, which might "fall afoul of the department of agriculture, the federal trade commission, the postoffice department and the federal communications commission."

Roosevelt Is Nearing End of Canadian Water Cruise

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD SCHOONER LIBERTY, GRAND MANAN, N. B., July 26.—[Special.]—Idling in the wind ruffled waters of Seat Cove at the southern end of Grand Manan Island, N. B., President Roosevelt today neared the end of his two weeks of skippering the two masted schooner Sewanna.

Tomorrow the bow of the Sewanna will be pointed for her final anchorage at Campobello Island, N. B., under the presidential flag twenty miles to the north. When Mr. Roosevelt puts out from the schooner for his mother's summer home he will have completed 417 miles of cruising off Maine, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick in about 85 hours under canvas and power.

Temperature in 50s.

For the morning Mr. Roosevelt had planned a picnic on a neighboring island, but a chill wind which chopped the water of the cove into whitecaps and sent the thermometer into the low fifties forced him below deck.

The morning was spent in putting the craft ship shape. Bedding was hung out to air in the stiff breeze, decks were swabbed down and metal work was polished by the crew-sons James, Franklin Jr., and John.

Shortly before noon two navy seaplanes brought Washington mail pouches from Bear Harbor, Me. Mr. Roosevelt transferred to the more roomy presidential yacht Potomac to glance over the pressing mail and dictate answers which were put aboard the planes within an hour.

Two Start Homeward.

The planes carried two members of the party homeward, Hall Roosevelt, the President's brother-in-law, and Commodore A. B. Randall of the United States lines, who stood several tricks at the helm of the Sewanna with Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt will remain at Campobello two days. He will cross upper Passamaquoddy bay for St. Andrews Thursday and board his special train for an eight hour visit to Quebec Friday. On bidding good-by to his host, Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, he will return to his family estate at Hyde Park, N. Y.

En route to Hyde Park the President may stop somewhere in Vermont to inspect portions of the New England flood area in a motor tour which will end at Hyde Park. The President is expected to remain at Hyde Park for a week or two with an occasional motor forray to inspect other eastern flood areas because the lighting system of the White House is being repaired.

'COMMON SENSE' PULLS CITY OUT OF 13 YEAR RED

Wheeling, W. Va., July 26.—(AP)—This industrial town in northern West Virginia is out of the "red" for the first time in 13 years and City Manager Harry Humphrey gives all the credit to "common sense government."

A year ago the voters adopted the city manager form of municipal administration. The city accountant's first annual report shows a surplus of $79.22 compared with a deficit of $106,260 left over by a former administration.

Humphrey says there are three basic reasons: All the "dead wood" has been chopped out of city departments; a better system of tax collections, with no political interference, has been instituted, and a central purchasing agency has been established to handle all city supplies.

SECRET SERVICE OPERATIVE DIES ABOARD CUTTER

[By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.]

Aboard the U. S. S. Hopkins, Off Grand Manan, N. B., July 26.—[Special.]—James A. Hollinger, 54, secret service operative, died of a heart attack in his sleep aboard the coast guard cutter Pontchartrain today while en route from Bar Harbor to Eastport, Me., to rejoin President Roosevelt on his cruiser.

Mr. Roosevelt, notified immediately, wired to Hollinger's two daughters in Washington: "Jim was one of us. We have lost a real friend."

Hollinger and several other secret service men had convoyed Mr. Roosevelt across the Bay of Fundy and then turned back to maintain American shore contact at Bar Harbor. He was a native of Carlisle, Pa., and had been attached to the White House since early in the Hoover administration.

Halt Fire; Save Building Where Hamilton Clerked

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix Island, July 26.—(AP)—The historic building where Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the United States treasury, once worked as a clerk, was saved today from flames. Firemen worked all night to halt spread of fire in an adjacent hardware store.

THOMAS WRITES LANDON FOR HIS VIEWS ON LABOR

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, made public here today a letter he had written to Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate, asking Landon to state explicitly his position regarding attempts to organize workers in the steel industry and southern share-croppers.

The letter, dated July 24, said that Landon's views on the rights of labor, as stated in his acceptance speech, were "for the most part" explicit. It asked clarification of the statement that employes are to be "free from interference from any source."

Thomas said employers organizations have used this phrase to mean a denial of the right of a labor union actively to promote the organization of an unorganized factory or industry.

"Is this," he asked, "the interpretation to be given to your words? Specifically, where do you stand on the present drive to organize the steel industry or on the effort of the Southern Tenant Farmers' union to organize the share-croppers and field workers?"

Thomas said these efforts had been denounced in some quarters as "outside interference" and asked "is that your position?"

New Swagger Raccoon, $195

Raccoon, the school-girl's favorite, has gone swagger this year, too, like so many of the other most important furs. This one is developed from heavy quality skins, and is exceedingly well made and carefully finished. The price is only $195.

Natural Gray Kidskin, $139.75

A very youthful fur in a variety of styles. It's perfectly at home on the campus, and in town. The swagger style shown—and the others, too, come in eel-dyed gray and Kaffa brown, as well as natural gray. Excellent value at $139.75.

$100

Blocked lapin (dyed coney) in the new princess tunic style—one of the most youthful styles in the group. Note the very young, small collar, and the attractive cut of the sleeves. In mocoa, eel gray, or black at $100.

Carson's Exacting Demands in Tailoring

And—Prices Outstandingly Low!

We have always set ourselves this high standard (see the above head lines) in assembling our fur coat collection for the Annual Sale—but this year we have left the standard 'way behind and gone on to set a new high mark. We present these coats as striking evidence such values have seldom if ever been equalled.

Peltries are softer and more supple this season, and exceptionally full-furred and healthy; the blacks of the caraculs, Persian lambs, and seals seem blacker—strong, deep, jet blacks; the lines are unusually wearable, the fashion details have received the same scrupulous attention that is given to the most carefully tailored cloth coats.

When You Look at All These Points in Relation to the Prices—You Have a Value Picture That's a Masterpiece!

- We'd like to call special attention to our group of blocked lapins (dyed coney) at $100. These extraordinary coats have become definitely associated with Carson's Fur Section, and, in order to keep them in the spotlight, we have stretched a point to present the new 1937 styles at this same low price—$100.
- We'd like to stress, also, an unusual characteristic of the Persian lambs and caraculs—they're made from full, solid skins—not always possible to find.
- And we wish to emphasize the fact that the minks are all fashioned of genuine fresh skins, beautifully matched and worked in deep, rich tones.

In Jet Black Persian Lamb $295

And that much sought lustrous quality. Up-to-the-minute in fashion—the perfect choice for the woman who wants a coat that combines style with dependable service, in a truly fine fur. It is just one of a number of new fall styles in Persian lamb priced at $295.

Hudson Seal Dyed Muskrat $295

A classic favorite appearing in a new and very wearable style, full length with soft princess lines. It is one of the most sophisticated fur coat fashions in our group, outstandingly value in the Sale at $295.

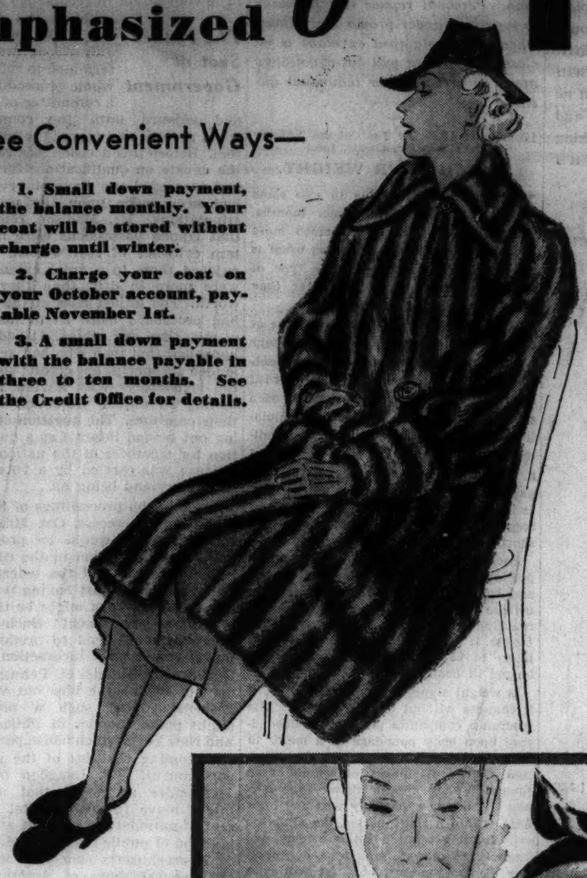
Three Convenient Ways—

1. Small down payment, the balance monthly. Your coat will be stored without charge until winter.

2. Charge your coat on your October account, payable November 1st.

3. A small down payment with the balance payable in three to ten months. See the Credit Office for details.



Look for These Fashion Details!

- Softly draped shoulders—some smooth, others with sleeve fullness dropped to the wrist.
- Small collars, that can be worn in many different, and all equally smart, ways.
- New princess lines, some with a good deal of fullness in the back, others simpler.
- Straight line, boxy swaggers.
- Smart, deep armholes.
- Varied lengths in swaggers, from very short to almost full length.

Gray Squirrel $139.75

At a price that we can't help getting excited about—for it's a new low, in our experience, for squirrel. The quality is excellent, too, and the color soft and even. The style's a very jaunty swagger. The quantity is limited at this price, $139.75.

Black Ponyskin $139.75

A splendid coat to be included in the back-to-school wardrobe—young and swagger, with one of the smart new funnel collars. Fashioned of silky, moired skins, in one of our most youthful swagger styles. It is warmly lined with wool. $139.75.

Jap Weasel, $295

A stunning coat for town wear—and one that will stand up to a remarkable amount of wear, surprising in a coat that looks so dressy. In a very smart swagger style, with attractive sleeves and a tricky collar. One of several styles at $295.

Mendoza beaver (dyed coney) deserves special mention for its deep-furred, soft brown peltries, warm and sturdy, yet dressy enough for any kind of wear. There are a number of smart, youthful styles to choose from in this group at $100.

Carson's blocked lapins (dyed coney) are smarter than ever this year. This one represents the casual, free swinging seven-eighths length swagger with soft collars and new sleeve effects. All of them come in mocoa, black, or eel gray. Priced at $100.

Natural Gray Persian Lamb, $495

An ideal selection for those who prefer lighter tones in fur, yet like to be assured of wear and warmth. Persian lamb is especially important this year, and is represented by this very new swagger style at $495.

In a conservative swagger style, rather straight of line, and perfect for all around wear. It has a small collar that may be twisted into a number of smart shapes. Deep black, velvety skins. In a group at $195.

Jap Mink in the Above Sketch, $650

Jap mink—an extraordinarily fine one, fashioned of lovely dropped skins to resemble genuine mink. Exquisite dressmaker detail in the shoulders, the sleeves and the sunburst back help to make it one of the unusual values in this Sale. $650.

Hudson Seal (Dyed Muskrat) $250

Created from pelts that are remarkably full furred, and jet black as only A. Hollander Hudson seals are. Many distinctive fashions are featured in this group, and there's a wide range of sizes. Priced at $250.

Special Group of Lapins, $79.75

Lapin (dyed coney) in soft, pliant peltries, developed in a number of styles. The suppleness of these skins permits the graceful draping of the shoulders. Loose swinging backs and small collars are other interesting details. In mocoa, eel gray, or black. $79.75.

CORN WALLACE COMEUPPANCE.

The essential fallacy in the Roosevelt-Wallace brand of planned agriculture is now so plain that every American must see it.

The New Dealers have undertaken to produce each year a predetermined quantity of each crop. They have set up quotas for wheat, for corn, for hogs, cotton, rice, etc. Then they have divided the quotas among the farmers. They have used a variety of devices—most of them unconstitutional—for achieving their end, but the objective of a controled agricultural output is apparent in all of their schemes. The individual farmer's judgment, based on experience, of what he wishes to grow and the acreage he wishes to plant is overcome in a variety of ways. Sometimes he is forbidden by penalties to exceed his quota, as in the Bankhead and the potato scheme. Sometimes he is bribed to reduce his acreage of certain crops and increase his acreage of others, as in the wheat and corn schemes, or the present so-called land conservation scheme. But they all come down to the same thing. They all replace the farmer's individual judgment with the supposedly superior judgment of the agricultural politicians and burocrats at Washington.

The Supreme court has demonstrated the unconstitutionality of all but the latest of the Wallace schemes and it has not yet had occasion to pass on that. But both before the court handed down its decisions and since nature itself has demonstrated the folly of the whole concept. It is impossible to plan a given output of the farms of the United States for the sufficient reason that it is impossible, in view of the limitations of our knowledge, to forecast the weather a year in advance.

As if to drive the lesson home so that even the dullest might understand it, nature has provided two of the severest drouths the nation has ever known to confound the New Dealers. The consequence has been that for the first time within decades the farms of the United States have been unable to provide the American people with the food and fibres they need. Our country has become a heavy importer of agricultural products. The crops which were not planted, the crops which were plowed under, the meat animals which were destroyed, have been replaced by the products raised by Argentine, Canadian, South African and Polish farmers.

We have had numerous drouths in this country, but none before, at least within living memory, has led to this result on such a scale. The explanation is simple. In the past the individual farmer, knowing the vicissitudes of the weather, has conducted his business accordingly. When nature was favorable and his yields of forage were larger than he needed to feed his stock he stored the excess against the lean years. He knew pretty accurately what his land would produce over a cycle of years, and in that knowledge he was relatively secure against disastrous seasons.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace chose to disregard all this accumulated knowledge and to replace it with brain trust guessing. They reduced acreage in the good years to the danger point, with the result that the surpluses of those years were either nonexistent or insufficient to meet the shortage created by drouth. The gamblers were warned in 1934 but did not need the warning. True, they did not order the disastrous weather of this year but they did make its consequences, when it came, inevitable. We are in the midst of a lean year without an adequate reserve from previous fat years to tide us over. Every housewife can read this truth in her marketing bills.

The Washington weather gamblers are trying to save their faces by sending Prof. Tugwell and his crew through the drouth belt to improvise relief measures and pass out the doles. The purpose is twofold: To buy farmers' votes with taxpayers' money and to divert attention, as far as possible, from the sinful destruction which the New Deal instituted. The best that can be said of the program of planned scarcity is that it was arrogant and stiffnecked folly. The best that can be said of the present effort to put the stricken farmers on the dole is that it is a feeble and dishonest attempt to remedy a great wrong done to the farmers and the American people generally.

ABANDON THE I. & M.

Notwithstanding Bob Becker's able championship of a plan to rehabilitate the old Illinois and Michigan canal as a state parkway, THE TRIBUNE sees in the project only further opportunities for political extravagance to produce meager results. Bob is a lover of nature and the paddle. He has found secluded stretches on the old waterway in which nature is running wild; we are mindful of the much longer sections where civilization has run wild, where a muddy polliwog ditch has become a convenient receptacle for tin cans, broken bottles, household refuse and other débris.

To furnish a supply of clean water to the old canal would present a considerable engineering task and after all this work has been accomplished the result could scarcely be more beautiful than the river that it parallels. If Bob will portage his canoe to the new waterway he will find plenty of attractive scenery. The old ditch should be abandoned and canoe trafic and motorboats, as well as commercial craft, concentrated on the canalized river. There is an abundance of room for all. Because the state's title to much of the land is in doubt, the use of the canal as a dumping ground for rubbish is encouraged. Nobody would suggest improvement without title.

The present maintenance of lock tenders along the disused waterway merely suggests the possibilities of the parkway scheme for political corruption. Preservation and suitable marking of historical ground, yes. The maintenance of an antiquated facility with a pay roll to support state jobholders, no.

PUNCTUALITY NEXT.

The several airline companies serving Chicago have accomplished wonders in the establishment of four and twelve hour flights to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, respectively, with equally speedy schedules to intermediate points and to the south. The frequency of service is another matter of commendation. One hundred passenger planes take off from the Municipal airport daily. The managements must remember, however, that the novelty of flying is no longer the principal reason for patronage. Business men rely upon the air service to enable them to keep appointments that would otherwise be impossible. Flying has been made comfortable, quiet, and has certain advantages for sightseeing, but its greatest value to the public is speed.

With this in mind, the airlines must acquire the same punctuality that has been developed by the railways. Schedules should afford a safe working margin, and should never be changed without ample notice to the public through the distribution of revised time tables. Patrons make their travel plans several days in advance, so it is exasperating to learn occasionally that hours of departure have been changed and that corrected time cards will not be available for several days. The planes should leave on the second. The usual delay of five to fifteen minutes creates an atmosphere of inefficiency. If the postoffice department is responsible, the companies have a right to insist upon that anticipatory service afforded the railways. The treatment of airlines by the postmaster general has not been such that will warant bashfulness.

RABIES.

The death of another child in Chicago from rabies should serve as a warning to the community. Rabies is a preventable disease. One way to prevent it is to require the immunization of all pets capable of contracting it. Another is the removal of all strays from the streets and alleys. A third is to require the muzzling of all dogs in the city. A muzzled dog may contract rabies but he is not likely to communicate it. Failure to adopt all of these means, and especially the last two, at a time when rabies is prevalent is an evidence that the community is ignorant or willfully careless.

Editorial of the Day

A GLASS DENUNCIATION.

[Sioux City Journal.]

Senator Carter H. Glass of Virginia, identified almost from the beginning of the New Deal administration as one of its most persistent opponents, although he is a Democrat, denounced the régime in Washington as "a government of privilege and discrimination." He was delivering an address in Ashland, Va., at the Patrick Henry bicentennial celebration when he fired a barrage at the Roosevelt administration, which, he said, was just such a government as Patrick Henry denounced in the house of burgesses.

Patrick Henry, revolutionary war hero, held, according to Senator Glass, that it was "improper to take money of taxpayers of Virginia and appropriate it to pay off mortgages that had been made by thriftless and unwise individuals." The senior senator from Virginia declared "that is just what we are doing today, whether it be due to the mismanagement of bank managers, insurance company managers, or the mismanagers of business or railroads. The government's nose is in all sorts of business today." The senator then made the following statement:

> Patrick Henry would go along with me. I could envy the power of your great countryman in denouncing oppressive and unwise measures. If I had his force of speech we might have accomplished something in the senate without putting the Supreme court to the trouble of deciding these matters.
> Patrick Henry was opposed to Virginia ratifying the constitution. His reasons went toward the proposition that it did not curb government enterprise enough, and because of his efforts the first ten amendments were drafted. The constitution was intended to curb government enterprise when the government hasn't got sense, patriotism, and courage enough to curb itself and remain within constitutional limitations. Without the restraint it embodies the constitution would be worthless as a piece of paper.

This is rather severe, coming from one of the leading Democrats of the entire country. It explains why the former secretary of the treasury in the Wilson administration cannot go along with the New Deal, why he has opposed it in many of its major measures. It also may explain why he declined to be a member of the resolutions committee at the Philadelphia convention and why he preferred to let others write the Democratic platform. Plainly Senator Glass is not in sympathy with the New Deal. He has been and is now one of its most persistent critics. He once called it a disgrace to the American people.

In spite of all this, however, Senator Glass remains a Democrat, and, as such, he is expected to go to the polls in November and cast his vote for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket. Obviously the senator's consistency does not go so far as does his partisanship.

HOW YOU LOOK AT IT.

The chemist was in a bad temper. He had told his assistant to have a new sign painted outside the shop, and when he saw it he was furious.

"You're a fool!" he raved.

"But the sign is beautifully done," said the assistant, puzzled.

"It may be," snapped the chemist. "But who's going to rely on us when our signs read, 'In making up our prescriptions we dispense with care.'"

BEFORE I FINALLY DECIDE which way I'm going to vote I want to ask Mr. Third Party Lemke if the sharing of the wealth of the land begins as soon as and if and when Mr. Lemke is elected. The votes should be counted within two days and I would like to cut in on other people's wealth about Friday noon at the latest. I would like to share my wealth with Henry Ford; fifty-fifty of course. That is, I will give Mr. Ford half of all I possess and he will give me half of all he owns. Me with one auto, vintage of 1930, and Henry with oodles and oodles of cars and making more every minute—well, the way I look at it I ought to come out of the thing very nicely.

THE DIVINE ECSTASY.

O pray let me sing with a spirited ring
Of the ecstasy of creation,
And stammer and sigh of how daily I die
To produce a rhymed collation;
Just picture my soul stretched out on a rack
And near it my Ego, satanically black,
Bestirring with needles the front and the back
To produce the desired sensation.

An hour of this and a heavenly bliss
Comes over my inhibitions,
I shiver and shake like a jellied cake
In a dozen assorted positions,
And a series of visions of glorified hue
So utterly utter comes weirdly to view
I pale like a lemon and slowly turn blue. . . .
(What a picnic were Spain's Inquisitions!)

Delirious then I commandeer my pen
And the verse bubbles forth in a river,
While I weep and I laugh for a day and a half
But desist from my task do I never!
A prey to the muses' demoniac rage
I trace all my heart's blood right out on the page.
And this for Posterity's rich heritage,
While I . . . I get nary a stiver.

The spasm then gone I relax pale and wan,
A palpitant shell of a being,
With a wish I were dead and a pain in the head
And distaste for the show I've been seeing,
Yet the thought that this Me is the fond instrument
Of a Greater than I, Who with subtle intent
Has harnessed the Soul I obligingly lent,
Keeps me bound to my fate without fleeing.

I'LL JUST BET that over in London (they never heard of it before) they're pronouncing it Top-e-ka with the accent on the first syllable. But as for that, they're probably pronouncing it the same way in Boston. When the famous play "Milestones" came out years ago Boston called it "Mi-les-to-nees" (accent on the second syllable). So Topeka needn't feel bad; they're that way in Boston. And remember, only a few months ago after Gov. Landon put the place on the map they were asking each other in Boston, "What is a Top-e-ka?"

NOW THAT MR. LANDON has finally said yes all we've got to worry about is whether Col. Knox will agree to accept the nomination for Vice President. And he's going to make up his mind next Thursday night. If he says yes then we won't have anything more to worry about, but if he says no then the beans are going to be spilled all over the place.

My love for you that disconcerts my aim,
Proving my own opponent and your second.

I PUT ON MY new suit of clothes yesterday. I knew it, tight as the skin on an eel. I always beg American tailors with tears in my eyes to make my clothes loose and they always smile and say condescendingly, "Yes, yes." And then when I go back and kick about the clothes being tight they always say they must make the clothes to fit and that loose, sloppy clothes such as the English wear would never be made by an American tailor. I think they must have a trade law of some kind that any American tailor who makes clothes loose fitting shall go to jail. And it's very true, as they insist, that most American men want their clothes that way. I wonder why. We're not a military nation like the British—for, of course, uniforms have to look as though they were painted on you. Maybe the reason the English like loose fitting civilian suits is to rest up in after wearing their strait-jacket uniforms. Americans don't wear uniforms so much that they like their duds made loose fitting. It's only a theory. The fact is that the unusual American who likes his clothes loose and not form fitting is simply out of luck. Guess I'll have to move to England, that's all.

"MISS NATALIE COUCH," says the correspondent out there, "could only say tonight what she has said ever since she came out here to meet Gov. Landon, 'He's swell.'" It must get very monotonous saying that word for days and days. I should think Natalie might vary it now and then by saying, "He's pretty nifty" or "He's a humdinger" or something. "Swell," Natalie, is a word that gives many of us severe pains in the left ankle.

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT.

IT'S perfectly allowable to lose some weight during the summer months. In fact, we will all be much more comfortable if less food than usual is consumed. The Ichabod Crane type of figure withstands heat far better than the Falstaffian.

The simplest rule of health, and one of the easiest to observe, is to watch your weight. Tables are readily available setting forth the standard avoirdupois of the various heights and ages. It has been said that about one-fifth of our population is too heavy. This means that millions of individuals are carrying around a tremendous amount of extra fat baggage, far more than strength will permit. Is it any wonder that some of these persons wear out early, while others develop shortness of breath [heart weakness]?

Each of us is made up of certain proportions of blood, bone, muscles, nerves, and special tissues. Whenever we gain or lose we change all our tissues, hence reducing is, after all, a serious matter. Unless it is carefully carried out it is likely to be followed by illness or prolonged ill health.

Is weight significant? Decidedly so, if it changes without obvious reason. Life insurance companies place great dependence upon body poundage as a factor in longevity. Another important consideration is the steadiness of weight even though it may appear higher than normal. If one is apparently well and loses flesh within a short period the situation calls for investigation without delay. We know that in fevers, infections, degenerative diseases, cancer, etc., fat will melt away quickly; and, of course, going without food entirely will compel the body to burn its own tissues.

When we speak of reducing as desirable we refer to the man or woman who is twenty-five or more pounds above the average. How was the excess acquired? The only source of flesh is food—and the extra fat was eaten. We gain whenever we eat more than we use; likewise, we maintain a definite standard whenever the balance is equal. There is no form of necromancy that will permit an individual to eat two pounds, burn up one, and weigh the same.

But there is much more to a gaining or reducing program than merely food. We all differ in our powers of assimilation and some will store away fat when living on—as they put it—"nothing but fresh air, sunshine, and water." In such cases there is usually an out of balance state of the endocrines [glands of internal secretion], which inhibits or stops the burning of food, at the same time storing away every atom of that which is eaten. Only careful metabolic studies can solve such a problem.

Radical reduction is never desirable and a plan is safe only when it does not exceed one pound or slightly less each week. Furthermore, there is no sound basis for the doctrin that every one should be of average weight. The person who weighs 40 to 30 pounds more, however, can add years to his life by reducing 25 to 35 pounds.

Reducing should never be undertaken through the use of thyroid extract [which increases metabolism]; by sideshow methods, such as cathartics, which merely relieve the system temporarily of water; or by means of any drug because the effect upon the heart, the kidneys, and the nervous system is all too often disastrous. The popular short cuts to loss of flesh are either fakes or dangerous. We must remember also that in dieting the balance of proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins, and minerals must be continued.

Before entering upon any dietary regimen ask your physician to make a careful physical examination to determine that your overweight is not merely water that has become lodged in the tissues. This is essential, as exercise may be advised, and it is well to know beforehand that the heart can stand the added amount of work.

The summer season is the ideal reducing period. Little food is needed to supply body heat and hence appetite is more easily satisfied. It may require grit and stick-to-it-iveness but the feeling of well being that follows is worth the price.

TRACHOMA.

C. B. writes:
1. What is trachoma?
2. What is the cure?

REPLY.

1. Trachoma is a chronic contagious form of inflammation of the eyelids, due to an unknown virus. It is contagious through the secretions from the eyes, the transfer being effected by fingers, towels, handkerchiefs, etc. Predisposing factors include nutritional deficiency, crowded living quarters, uncleanliness, and bad hygienic surroundings.

2. Good hygienic and sanitary conditions are essential. The treatment must be managed by a skilled ophthalmologist. The trachoma bodies may be removed and the eyelids treated by appropriate means. If neglected, the disease may injure sight.

MAY BE STRAIN.

J. A. W. writes: I suffer from spasms over my eyes, which force me to close them. Washing my face with cold water gives relief. I have seen two eye specialists, neither of whom could find the reason. These occur usually when I am very tired or under a nervous strain, or after a heavy meal. I am 27 years old. What is the next step?

REPLY.

The cause of your discomfort may well lie in a nervous strain that affects the nerves of the muscles of the eyelids. This is probably a temporary condition and an icebag applied to the forehead will help. Obtain as much rest as possible. The difficulty is described as a "tic."

MAY BE SCURVY.

M. W. writes: For the last 8 years I have had a badly chopped up tongue with blisters under it. The tongue is also badly coated when I waken in the morning. Now my gums are pussy. If I just touch them with a toothpick they bleed. I am 22 years old.

REPLY.

You may have scurvy due to a lack of certain vitamins found in fresh fruits and particularly in limes, oranges, and lemons. On the other hand, you may have pyorrhea due to infection.

Ask your physician to confer with a good dentist. Pus absorbed from the mouth may lead to some fairly serious systemic disease.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

The Future Seat of Government

Philadelphia, Pa., July 27, 1787. —[The convention in recess. No report by Madison.] At the end of the session of July 26 it was determined to refer the whole proceedings to a committee of detail and adjourn until the committee could prepare and report the constitution. Before this decision was reached the debate on qualifications for office had proceeded and many observations had been made upon the proposed stipulations. Mr. Madison remarked that landed possessions were no certain evidence of real wealth. Many enjoyed them to a great extent who were more in debt than they were worth. The unjust laws of the states had proceeded more from this class of men than any others. It had often happened that men who had acquired landed property on credit got into the legislatures with a view to promoting an unjust protection against their creditors. The question of striking out landed interest as a qualification for members of the national legislature was carried by a vote of 10 to 1, Maryland being no.

Later in the proceedings of the day preceding the recess, Col. Mason observed that it would be proper to make some provision in the constitution for the seat of the federal government and against having it in any city or place which might be the seat of a state government. Such a conjunction would tend to produce disputes concerning jurisdiction. Mr. Gouverneur Morris of Pennsylvania did not dislike the idea but was apprehensive that such a provision might make enemies of Philadelphia and New York, which had expectations of becoming the seat of the general government. Mr. Langdon of New Hampshire suggested that a state might move its own capital to the seat of national government after the erection of public buildings. Mr. Gerry of Massachusetts conceived it to be the general sense of America that neither the seat of a state government nor any large commercial city should be the seat of the general government. Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina, conceding that the seat of no state government should be the seat of the national government, thought that a large town or its vicinity would be proper. Col. Mason did not mean to press the motion or to excite any hostile passions at this time. He was content to withdraw the motion for the present.

The proceedings since Monday last were then referred to the committee on detail and the convention adjourned that the committee might have time to prepare its report. The proceedings thus referred, expressed in various resolutions, will be presented in subsequent day by day articles.

CLOSING ESTATE.

Chicago, July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father passed away in March, 1935, leaving an insurance policy of $1,000 payable to the estate. There are four heirs, but we agreed that the one with whom our father had made his home for a number of years was entitled to receive the amount left after the funeral expenses and we were willing to sign statements to that effect, but were told it would have to be probated. The lawyer started proceedings in April, 1935, and we are still awaiting settlement. 1. Am told that after fifteen months there will be additional court costs. 2. The lawyer says there can be nothing done but to await our turn on the court calendar. 3. Is there anything we can do?

M. L. S.

1. This period has nothing to do with probate proceedings, but is the period for redemption in foreclosure cases.

2. It is not clear to us whether what you are discussing is simply the closing of the probate estate or is some other litigation. Your lawyer is in a better position to advise you than we are.

3. If it is merely a matter of closing the probate proceedings and the year for filing claims has expired you can ask Assistant Judge Kelley in the county building to bring pressure to bear to force prompt closing.

DOGS AND CHICKENS.

Chicago, July 21.—[Friend of the People.]—Across the street from us, on South Michigan avenue, is a butcher who keeps close to 100 chickens in his back yard all the time. He also has three dogs. Please have something done to relieve this situation.

FARMING

137

Q.—How many contracts to pay more than $25,000 to rice growers have been made by the AAA?

A.—Nineteen.

Q.—Has the AAA paid more than $1,000,000 in farm benefits to any one company?

A.—One Florida corporation has already received $1,067,665 in sugar cane benefits.

Q.—How much was the largest check given by the AAA for not growing sugar cane?

A.—The AAA drew one check for $470,313 to a Hawaiian planter. Total payments to this plantation will be $1,022,037.87.

Q.—Has the department of agriculture loaned money to foreign corporations?

A.—The Agricultural Credit corporation loaned $250,000 to Delta Pine and Land company, controled by a Manchester, England, concern.

RIDING HABITS; A COMPARISON.

Chicago, July 21.—In your traction editorial of July 9, "A Hint from the Strap Hangers," you expressed belief that expenditure of the $80,000,000 in the city traction fund and the surface companies' renewal funds pursuant to a sound engineering plan would benefit both the car riders and the companies. The experience of New York gives some interesting support to that belief.

"Riding habit" is a technical term meaning the number of riders on all services in a community per capita of population per year. In metropolitan areas where mass transportation is a necessity it is considered a reliable index of business activity. Since the beginning of the century the "riding habits" of New York and Chicago have varied closely according to the development of the properties in the two cities.

In 1901 Chicago's surface line system was deteriorated and the elevated system had only just been completed in about its present form. New York's surface lines were probably not so far deteriorated, its elevated system was well established, its elevated system was well established. The "riding habit" in Chicago was 207 and in New York 249. The next few years saw the rehabilitation of Chicago's surface system. It is striking proof, both of the business creating possibilities of improved facilities and of Chicago's economic vitality, that in ten years its "riding habit" had caught up to New York's, in spite of New York's rapid increase aided by the opening of the first subway in 1904. The figures are:

Year.	Chicago.	New York.
1913	340	342

In 1913 the extension and improvement of Chicago's system began to taper off, and in 1917 practically ceased, as you have noted in previous editorials. New York continued with major improvements, including the third-tracking of the Ninth avenue elevated in 1916, opening of the East and West Side Interborough subways and of the Brooklyn Manhattan subways in 1918-'26, elevated extensions to Long Island in the early '20s, and the Eighth avenue municipal subway in 1933, etc. These improvements, and the lack of improvements in Chicago, may be traced in the "riding habit" of the two cities:

Year.	Chicago.	New York.
1920	358	412
1925	361	444
1930	311	452
1935	236	380

From 1911, when Chicago's and New York's local transportation activity was equal, to 1935, Chicago's had decreased 26 per cent and New York's had increased 18 per cent, a total spread of 44 per cent in favor of New York.

It is impossible to allocate the burden represented by these figures, but it is undoubtedly great. The transportation companies have suffered from loss of business and the riding public through using the more expensive private automobile instead. Probably also the economic life of the city as a whole has been retarded.

What might be done toward quickening business activity and improving living conditions by development of high speed, low cost local transportation according to a sound engineering plan, as in New York, is a field in which every local improvement, labor, and civic organization should interest itself. Their stake in the local transportation question is vastly greater than that of the investors, who also should interest themselves similarly, in order to protect their investment. It is becoming increasingly recognized that the value of a public utility to its investors depends upon its value to its patrons.

AIR IN HOSPITALS.

Chicago, July 22.—In your issue of July 19 one writing under the pseudonym of "Agitator" comments upon the subject of air conditioning in hospitals, and asks the question: "Why are hospitals without air conditioned operating rooms tolerated?"

For the benefit of that writer and others interested it should be understood that hospital operating rooms cannot be cooled, while in use, below 80 degrees Fahrenheit, and generally a temperature above that is desired for the benefit of the patient, whose resistance is low, during the course of surgical procedures which may expose vital organs. So far as cooling is concerned, therefore, not much can be safely accomplished unless the outside temperature goes considerably above 85 degrees. It is desirable, however, in all cases to provide adequate ventilation without draft and a humidity of approximately 55 per cent, and this is now being done in the planning of new hospitals.

With respect to air conditioning in other parts of the hospital, it must be remembered that the cost of equipment and its operation and maintenance are very expensive and hospitals are constantly striving to reduce operating costs in order that a greater number of people of moderate means may utilize these institutions in time of need. Nevertheless, in most of the new hospitals today efforts are made to furnish washed, humidified air to the obstetrical, surgical, and pediatric pavilions and the nurseries, but cooling is only given consideration in climates where there are extended periods of very high temperatures. In the older hospitals, where air conditioning equipment cannot be built into the structure, portable apparatus is being extensively used when needed.

Finally, it may be remarked that in the case of a strictly private hospital treating exclusively patients who are well able to pay whatever the charges may be, it is possible to install complete air conditioning, but in most of the hospitals doing a large volume of charitable work and dependent upon taxation or philanthropy, it is impractical and would measurably increase costs.

BUGS.

Chicago, July 21.—Your local news editor evidently slipped up on the big item about the 7,000 bug traps that Mr. Corn Wallace of the United States department of agriculture has been setting up here on the lawns and back yard gardens of our fair city to catch Japanese beetles, which it seems are voraciously devouring our substance. Perhaps you may also have heard, Mr. Editor, that we are going to have a national election in November. What more appropriate and fitting therefore than that we should have some visible evidence that our ever thoughtful and considerate government doesn't want us to get entangled with any of these here foreign alliances; so we've just got to collar those dag nab foreign beetles somehow before they contaminate our true-blue American potato bugs, horse flies, and grasshoppers with their damnable virus.

After three weeks the nice new bug trap set up in our back yard gratuitously one day when we were not at home has caught one large black ant. The poor feller fell into the trap from the branch of an overhanging tree one dark night and perished before I could rescue him. But we are not discouraged. Last year, according to official reports, 3,500 of these traps caught all of 38 of these pesky foreign beetles, which are of the size of a well fed potato bug but wear green and black bathing suits, with rows of small white polka dots on their tummies. The best way to tell whether or not you have the right bug, however, is to catch one with your hand, and if the bug says "banzai," then it's one of the Jap variety; but if it gives the correct password, "potato tax," then of course it must be an American potato bug, for no Jap beetle can pronounce those words without a decided foreign accent. And twenty of Mr. Wallace's men inspecting these traps at regular intervals should be able to arrest at least sixty of these pesky furrin bugs in the Chicago area this season.

AMERICANS END STUDY OF CO-OP PLAN IN SWEDEN

Stores Pay Dividends to Owner-Patrons.

STOCKHOLM, July 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's commission to study European cooperatives today virtually completed its study of Sweden's vast system of retail stores, factories, and modern housing projects.

During its two weeks stay, the commission studied in detail machinations of the Swedish movement with its $100,000,000 annual retail business, lower prices, and dividend payments to members.

Share in Profits.

The visitors were shown stores, modernly fitted and neatly kept. The Swedish cooperative member may purchase food and merchandise at low prices and share in accruing profits to which he is entitled in return for the small sum he invested with others to make possible the store. Non-members may shop at the store but do not share profits.

A third of the 6,200,000 population, 568,000 families, are listed as members of the 4,144 stores. Industrial workers comprise 27.7 per cent of the members. Farmers and even a small share of the professional classes are taking advantage of the stores.

Monopoly and trusts are targets of the cooperatives. One attack is with an ultra-modern light bulb factory, equipped even to dining room and kitchen for employés. Manufacturing bulbs at low cost, the co-op joined with Norway, Denmark, and Finland groups to market the product. The result, they claimed, was the break up of an international corner on light bulbs. Manufacturing activities now yield a $35,000,000 income to the Swedish societies.

Junket Moves On.

The cooperative movement embraces modern apartment projects which are furnished by cooperative furniture shops.

Swedish leaders contended that powerful industrialists and private merchandising interests are now turning to their support. Opposition, they said, comes chiefly from small private traders.

Completing their study here, the American commission was expected to depart this week for inspection of cooperatives in Finland, Czechoslovakia, and France.

PACIFIST SQUAWK TRUCKS STIR UP WAR IN WHEATON

The Sunday quiet of Wheaton was shattered for several hours yesterday when 100 members of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which advocates pacifism and disregard for the national flag, entered the town with three sound trucks.

Their purpose, they explained, was to circulate a petition asking that the city ordinance be amended to permit them to sell their church literature. Several of their members have been arrested and fined on charges of peddling without a license.

After residents had complained of the noise from the sound trucks police arrested two of the members—Howard Logsdon, 28 years old, 1139 North Dearborn street, and John Germanich, 30 years old, 2021 North Kilbourn avenue—on charges of disturbing the peace.

FARMERS STOCK CANNED FOOD IN DROUTH MENACE

Omaha, Neb., July 26.—(AP)—Farmers in the heart of the corn belt turned from the plow to the can opener today as drouth cut off more and more of their normal food supply.

Stocks of canned vegetables were bought up with such speed in Nebraska and Iowa stores that brokers and wholesalers in Omaha described it as a "hysterical buying wave—like a run on a bank."

The sudden buying rush produced chaos in the market, and retail prices rose. Corn and peas in Omaha stores went up from three cans for 25 cents to 10 cents a can. Tomatoes rose from three for 25 cents to 9 cents straight. The price of string beans increased from 9 to 11 cents.

Into this gloomy situation was injected fear of still greater losses to agriculture in Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, where temperatures have sizzled between 100 and 117 degrees for weeks while showers cooled other parts of the grain belt.

Of some cheer to Nebraska corn growers, who had despaired of saving any of their normal crop of 226 million bushels, was the Chicago weather man's forecast of local showers in some sections tonight and tomorrow.

RELIEF BLAMED FOR SHORTAGE OF FIELD HANDS

South Windsor, Conn., July 26.—[Special.]—With large relief rolls still being maintained in all Connecticut cities, and with large forces of workmen enrolled on Works Progress administration jobs, tobacco growers of the Connecticut valley tonight reported a shortage of labor which they predicted will become acute when the harvest approaches its height this coming week.

Officials of several tobacco concerns said they have tried vainly to hire farm hands, but find that former field workers now are receiving public assistance and refuse to work in the fields. The receipts are larger and the work lighter with the WPA, while no work is involved in retaining relief allotments, say the ex-workers.

GERMANS IN U. S. RECEIVE HORNER PRAISE AT OUTING

The progressive influence of German-American organizations and individuals in Chicago's development was praised yesterday by Gov. Horner before a picnic crowd of 18,000 at Riverview park. The governor's address climaxed a two day festival sponsored by German-American societies and commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Germania broadcast, oldest foreign language radio program in the city. Gustave Bland, city treasurer, also spoke. German choruses and bands and athletic contests between participating organizations were part of the program.

12 Arabs Killed in Judea; Attempted to Ambush Bus

JERUSALEM, July 26.—(AP)—Twelve Arabs were reported killed today in a fight with British troops in the hills of Judea. The battle followed an attempt to ambush a bus with convoy en route to Telaviv. A British soldier was slightly injured, but bus passengers were not hurt. Airplanes aided the convoy and bombed a forest into which the Arabs fled.

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL

Joseph Fleming, 49 years old, 3132 North Rutherford avenue, was found dead of a heart ailment yesterday along the Des Plaines river, near Maywood.

CYCLOPS MYTH 1,000 YRS. OLD WHEN HOMER USED IT, EXPERT FINDS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 26.—The cyclops of Homer's Odyssey revived a Babylonian myth already a thousand years old, it has been discovered by Dr. Henri Frankfort, field director in Iraq of the University of Chicago's Oriental institute.

On a small relief of 2,000 B. C. was found a monster with one eye clearly engraved in the middle of his forehead.

The face of the Babylonian cyclops appeared to emit rays, indicating that he was the demon of light or flame. Thus the link with ancient Greece is strengthened, Dr. Frankford recalls, as the cyclops of Greco-Roman mythology was supposed to have forged thunderbolts and been connected with fire.

Three years ago Dr. Frankfort's excavators found in the Sumarian area remains of 3,000 B. C., illustrating the Homeric legend of Hercules and Hydra.

Seaman Who Dangled on Akron Rope Is Stabbed

Tulsa, Okla., July 26.—(AP)—Charles M. Cowart, 22 years old, who achieved national notice four years ago by hanging to a rope dangling from the dirigible Akron until rescued, was treated at a hospital here today for a stab wound in the left side. Cowart was one of three navy men borne high into the air when the Akron was whipped from her moorings by wind near San Diego, Cal. The other two fell and were killed.

"AIR FLIVVER" NEARS GOAL OF POPULAR PRICE

6 Types Being Developed, U. S. Bureau Says.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—Two years of development work were declared today by the bureau of air commerce to have sent the "air flivver" soaring well along toward the popular price goal.

Six types of experimental planes, including an autogyro, were reported to be in actual use by bureau officials or under test prior to delivery soon. Companion projects which included development of de-icers for wings and propellers, nonfreezing carburetors, and adaption of automobile engines for light aircraft were completed or proceeding satisfactorily, the bureau said.

Three Planes Accepted.

To date the bureau has accepted three planes, all of which have pusher type propellers and three wheel landin ggear, and an all-metal, low wing conventional type monoplane. Delivery was expected in the near future on an open cockpit, low wing monoplane powered with a standard automobile engine, and a "roadable" wingless autogyro with folding rotors which can be driven on a highway.

Part of the delay in delivery of the autogyro was attributed by bureau officials to difficulty in obtaining automobile license plates, Pennsylvania authorities being undecided on whether to classify it as an airplane or an automobile.

Safety Angle Stressed.

General specifications laid down for the manufacturers of light planes called for simplicity and safety of operation, low maintenance and operating costs, greater visibility than is available in the standard plane of today, ability to land and take off in small areas, and ruggedness making the craft suitable for continuous flying.

The official report praised one plane because its large shock absorbers enable it to land "at practically any attitude, and at practically any speed at which it can fly." Another, characterized by its lack of a tail, was declared to have the advantages of simplicity of construction, which would make it less costly, and reduction of hangar space. The all-metal construction of another was commended.

3,439 BUILDINGS RAZED IN CITY'S HOUSING PROJECT

Chicago's program for the demolition of old buildings has resulted in the removal of 3,439 deteriorated structures during the past two and one-half years, according to the semi-annual report of the Illinois state housing board released yesterday. These buildings contained 8,597 family dwelling units.

The housing board estimates there are still 21,555 additional dwelling units in 8,622 defective buildings, which are beyond repair and which should be demolished. Action would be speeded, the report states, by adoption of the minimum housing standards ordinance now pending before the city council.

Records show that families leaving condemned buildings find new quarters within a radius of two to four blocks. Plans are being made, the board reports, to remodel vacant office buildings and other commercial structures in crowded areas to make them habitable for modestly priced living quarters.

The state board is working on a plan to guide future development and to provide cooperation between housing and planning agencies. It is proposed to improve living conditions in areas where wholesale clearance is not feasible by concentrating neighborhood attention on what can be done to improve the neighborhood.

MISS PENDLETON, FORMER HEAD OF WELLESLEY, DIES

Paralytic Stroke Fatal to Famed Educator.

Newton, Mass., July 26.—(AP)—Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, 71, who retired last month as president of Wellesley college, died today of a paralytic stroke.

MISS PENDLETON.

Death came to the internationally known educator at the home of a niece, Miss Barbara M. Hahn, where she had been critically ill for more than two weeks.

After graduation from Wellesley in 1886 she was asked the same fall to substitute as an instructor "for a few weeks." She stayed for fifty years.

Native of Rhode Island.

Last June, as Wellesley's retiring president, she welcomed back to the college the members of her diminishing class of '86.

A native of Westerly, R. I., Miss Pendleton in her half century at Wellesley won international recognition as an educator. Colleges honored her with degrees. The government sent her as its representative to international scholastic conferences.

Miss Pendleton was the sixth president of Wellesley college and the first Wellesley alumna to preside over her alma mater.

Increases College's Wealth.

In the quarter century period of her presidency, despite war and depression, Miss Pendleton not only kept the college solvent but was largely responsible for an increase in its wealth and efficiency.

Aside from developing Wellesley's physical plant, Miss Pendleton maintained not only her liberal views but also enough of the traditions of Wellesley and New England to win the approval of both liberal and conservatives of the faculty. She also maintained the principle of academic freedom throughout her administration.

Her appointment on June 9, 1911, as president was significant because when her predecessor, Miss Caroline Hazard, in 1910 announced her intention of retiring, alumnæ were divided over the advisability of selecting a man. After Miss Pendleton had been acting president for eight months the trustees announced her election and she was inaugurated Oct. 19, 1911. Upon her retirement Miss Pendleton was succeeded by Miss Mildred Helen McAfee, dean of women at Oberlin college, Oberlin, O., and former Chicagoan.

Member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Pendleton was a member of the Wellesley chapter of Phi Beta Kappa society, senator of the United States chapters Phi Beta Kappa, chairman of the college entrance examination board, and member of the Rhode Island Society for College Education of Women and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

She also was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. She served on the jury of award for the American peace prize founded by Edward Bok. Her clubs included the Boston College and the Cosmopolitan (New York).

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon in the Wellesley college chapel and burial will be at Westerly.

Lawrence Gifford, Kin of A. T. & T. Head, Dies at 43

Saranac Lake, N. Y., July 26.—(AP)—Lawrence Gifford, 43 years old, brother of Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, died today after a three year illness. Gifford, a native of Salem, Mass., was in the United States aviation corps during the world war, receiving a decoration for distinguished service while on duty in Italy. He served on the Mexican border in 1916.

Shoots Woman, Kills Self as She Plans to Quit Him

James Genoff, 48 years old, a dishwasher at the Chicago Athletic club, shot and wounded Mrs. Anna Huebler, 53 years old, early yesterday in their apartment at 4528 Magnolia avenue. He then shot and killed himself. Mrs. Huebler told police she was living with Genoff and that when she threatened to leave him yesterday he shot her.

Girl, 13, Drowns Playing at Gary Beach with Sisters

Peggy Murphy, 13 years old, 608 Jackson street, Gary, was drowned in Lake Michigan last evening at the Warren street beach, Gary. With her sisters, Helen, 15 years old, and Joan, 11 years old, Peggy was playing in the water, when they noticed she had disappeared. They called life guards who recovered the body.

Mrs. Mary Ford Dies at Hopedale; 94 Years Old

Bloomington, Ill., July 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Ford, 94 years old, is dead in nearby Hopedale. Born in Ireland, she came to America in 1865. Surviving are five children, ten grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held in Hopedale tomorrow.

PIANO IN THE NEW MODE ON DISPLAY FOR MUSIC MEN

The 35th annual convention of the National Association of Music Merchants will open in the Stevens hotel today. More than 1,500 dealers are expected to attend. They will hear programs and view 135 exhibits in the accompanying trade show, which in a large measure will emphasize the comeback of the piano in the musical world.

Although all types of musical instruments are represented, the modern adaptations of the piano are considered by officials as the most significant trend in the music industry. Unfilled factory orders confirm the revival of interest in homemade music, according to W. A. Mennie, secretary.

A newly designed piano, said to be the first to borrow the violin principle of sound, was demonstrated yesterday to early convention visitors by its creator, Charles Frederick Stein. It operates with the aid of a large air chamber.

Included in the show are the supplies manufacturers who have an interest in some of the 18,000 moving parts ascribed to an ordinary piano and the varied constituent parts of other musical instruments.

(Copyright, 1936: By the New York Times.)

MOSCOW, July 26.—The first award of funds under the new family law for increasing Russia's population was made here today by the council of people's commissars of the White Russian republic. It was 5,000 rubles [about $1,000] and was given to Nikita Kazimiroff, gypsy tinsmith.

After his wife five years ago presented him with a fifth child he decided to settle down and raise his family in a village of the Kormiansk district. Recently his wife presented him with triplet sons. Nikita then determined to join a collective farm and be assured of a steady income.

He applied to the executive committee of his region for an allowance under the new law, explaining he needed the money to buy a house, furniture, and a cow.

The first son of Nikitas' last three does not rate a bonus, but the next two get 2,000 rubles each. The government gave an additional thousand toward a cow and the house.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The appearance of picture celebrities in increased numbers on radio programs is causing many a headache in Hollywood this summer. The headaches are the most severe on Mondays, when the CBS Radio theater featuring box office big shots is aired, and on Fridays when Hollywood Hotel presents film favorites.

But there is a considerable call for aspirin on Tuesdays, too, when the Caravan piloted by Rupert Hughes passes by; on Thursdays when Bing Crosby introduces his film friends, and on Saturdays when Smith Ballew's Chateau presents still other movie notables.

The Hollywood shooting pains, which affect the radio producers, the picture moguls and sometimes the stars, are spreading, too, to motion picture exhibitors.

The radio producers' troubles are concerned mainly with the difficulties in handling picture stars. Last week Zasu Pitts and Charles Ruggles withdrew after a preliminary rehersal. Quarrels over billing and rehersals! The temperamental John Barrymore was substituted and came through with a good performance. Last Monday Wallace Beery backed out at the last minute and Walter Huston and Claudette Colbert were thrown into the breach.

Often radio shows interefere with work on the movie set. The big radio shows are aired when it's late afternoon in California. Thus the rehersals that precede the airing usually succeed in ruining much of the day for some film director.

The exhibitors argue that when Clark Gable and Marlene Dietrich or Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone [who are on tonight], are scheduled, millions of potential movie customers organize bridge parties and listen to the radio, thereby reducing the box office take of the nation.

The theater men point out that the movies made the stars and therefore they should remain loyal to pictures and not go out into competition with themselves. Also they say that many a good picture performer has flopped on the air, thereby injuring his box office value.

In Hollywood there is no agreement as to what to do about the situation. Some producers maintain that radio work is good advertising for Hollywood's wares. Others view the radio invasion with considerable alarm. The exhibitors are trying to get Will Hays to restrict the radio activities of film folk. But no word has come from him to date.

Rose Mayo, 59, Actress in 'Under Two Flags,' Dies

Atlantic City, N. J., July 26.—[Special.]—Rose Mayo, a retired actress, is dead. She was born in Woonsocket, R. I., fifty-nine years ago. She was long identified with the plays, "Under Two Flags," "The Great Northwest," and Hanlon's "Superba." In later years she was a vaudeville headliner in comedy sketches, with which she made a tour of the world.

DR. C. H. FRAZIER, FAMED AS BRAIN SURGEON, IS DEAD

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Harrison Frazier, internationally known brain surgeon and professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, died yesterday at his summer home in North Haven, Me. He was 66 years old.

Dr. Frazier developed new and highly successful surgical methods for the removal of brain tumors and succeeded notably in the elimination of pain in that field of work. He was honored in several European countries.

Throughout his career Dr. Frazier showed a keen interest in the training of younger men. Many of his former pupils are leaders in their profession throughout the world.

Dr. Frazier was president of the Public Charities association of Pennsylvania. Activity in social welfare was a tradition in the family. His grandfather was the first president of the state board of public charities in 1867.

100 COAST FIRE CHIEFS HERE ON WAY TO TORONTO

One hundred fire department chiefs from Pacific coast cities are to be guests of the Chicago fire department today. After being entertained here for a few hours they will then depart for Toronto to attend a four day conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs. A few of the visiting firemen arrived here yesterday and were taken to the White Sox ball game by First Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney.

While here the fire chiefs will visit the Underwriters' Laboratories, 207 East Ohio street, where they will watch tests on fire hose, hydrants, fire extinguishers, and automatic sprinklers, and the facilities for conducting tests to safeguard life and property from fire and accident. Later they are to see a demonstration by one of the water towers of the Chicago fire department.

ANEMIA VICTIM LOOKS FOR 52D DONOR OF BLOOD

St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—(AP)—Braced by the hope he may be cured after three years of living on borrowed blood, James Hedley looked around today for some one to donate his 52d transfusion.

Physicians at Barnes hospital are experimenting with his case in an attempt to cure aplastic anemia. They will continue as long as Hedley can find enough blood donors to keep himself alive.

A new treatment devised at the hospital a month ago has given him new hope by relieving a complicating neuritis in one leg.

Hedley already has borrowed blood from 35 persons, 25 of them fellow employes at a dairy where he has been working regularly since recovering from an acute attack several months ago. Some have given blood two and three times.

Not wishing to impose upon them for more transfusions, Hedley is making up a long waiting list of new, qualified volunteers to accompany him on the periodic trips to the hospital for new blood.

He hopes the waiting list will be long enough that he may live until the doctors find a cure.

500 DOGS HELD AS CITY SPURS WAR TO CHECK RABIES

More than 500 dogs were in the city pound yesterday as the police and health departments speeded up their campaign to check the spread of rabies.

Of the captives 380 were seized after persons had been bitten. Arrangements were made to put 100 dogs to death this morning. Yesterday's report from the pound said 180 dogs had been destroyed during the previous 24 hours and that 24 biters and 66 strays had been received.

With 40 more cases yesterday, the health department reported a total of 242 cases of dog bites in the last two and a half days. Department physicians and nurses were on duty all day yesterday, treating bites and giving inoculations of anti-rabies vaccine.

John Smithies and Cuban Girl Are Betrothed

Plan Wedding in Havana Next December.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANTIC news is being revealed this morning concerning a young Chicagoan whose engagement to a Cuban girl recently was announced in Havana. Dr. and Mrs. Frank Smithies have relayed the announcement of the approaching marriage of their son, John Tattersall Smithies, to Señorita Gladys Fernandez, daughter of Señor and Señora F. Fernandez y Casas of Havana and Oriente, Cuba.

Young Mr. Smithies met his fiancée five years ago when he was an undergraduate at Princeton and she was at school at Dobbs Ferry. Señorita Fernandez and her family live six months of the year in New York, dividing the remainder of their time between their home in Havana, their sugar plantation at Oriente, near Santiago, and a summer home at San Sebastian, Spain.

Mr. Smithies was graduated from Princeton summa cum laude two years ago. Besides holding membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, honorary societies, he was on the varsity football and track teams, was a member of Tiger Inn and president of the Varsity club. Señorita Fernandez, who speaks half a dozen languages, attended the Sorbonne in Paris after finishing at Dobbs Ferry. She has a number of Chicago friends, among them Miss Virginia Ashcraft, who also is to be married shortly.

Ever since graduation Mr. Smithies has been engaged in research for the Radio Corporation of America, and has been living near Philadelphia. He and his fiancée will make their home there after their wedding in Havana in December.

Dr. and Mrs. Smithies have met Señorita Fernandez and her family on several occasions, and are planning to go to Havana for the wedding. Their daughter, Miss Katherine Smithies, a student at Connecticut college, and their younger son, Thomas, who is a senior at Princeton, will go down to Cuba, too, since the wedding is planned to coincide with their Christmas vacations. The Smithies are spending most of the summer at their country home, Cedar Gate, at Hazelhurst, near Minocqua, Wis.

Cyrus Hale Adams III., whose marriage to Miss Harriet Haynes of Bronxville, N. Y., will be solemnized there on Aug. 14, has invited Edward B. Smith of Lake Forest to serve as his best man. Miss Virginia Street of New York City will be Miss Haynes' attendant. Several of Mr. Adams' close friends are expected to go east for the wedding.

Potter Palmers Observe 28th Wedding Anniversary.

Today at their summer home at Bar Harbor, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer are observing their twenty-eighth wedding anniversary, but no especial celebration of the occasion has been planned. Their daughter, Miss Pauline Palmer, is the only member of their family who is with them. Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. and their children are spending the summer in Lake Forest.

Miss Virginia Ashcraft and Gerald Hewitt Smith have set Thursday, Sept. 3, as the date for their wedding. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock at St. Mark's church in Evanston and a reception will follow in the Asbury avenue home of Miss Ashcraft's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Ashcraft Jr.

Young Mr. Smith is in Evanston now. He and a Princeton classmate, Ralph Whittaker, have been visiting here for several weeks, and recently spent several days at the Ashcraft's lodge at Pike lake. Mr. Smith and Mr. Whittaker will leave for New York by motor this week, and Miss Ashcraft and her mother are going east at the same time by train.

They will be in New York only a couple of days, however, for Miss Ashcraft and Mr. Smith already selected an apartment at 778 Park avenue in which they will be at home after Oct. 1, and this brief visit is only to look things over. Mr. Smith will return to Evanston around Aug. 15, to remain until after the wedding.

Visitors to the Lake Geneva Flower show on Thursday or Friday may be startled by the occasional ringing of a bell, but they need not be alarmed,

Summers on Bridle Paths

Miss Jane McIntosh more often is photographed in riding clothes than in sailing clothes, although she wears either with great distinction. Miss McIntosh spends the winters at the home of her father, Arthur T. McIntosh, in Kenilworth, and attends Northwestern university where she will be a senior in the fall. In the summertime she spends most of the days in the saddle at her father's farm in Barrington. Arthur T. McIntosh Jr. and his bride of a few months ago are planning to live in Barrington where they will remodel a farmhouse near her father's, Orville S. Caesar's, place.

Henry Weber Wins Acclaim of Large Ravinia Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Henry Weber, the fourth conductor to appear at Ravinia park with the Chicago Symphony orchestra since Thursday night, brought the second last week of the festival to an effective close yesterday afternoon with a varied program that listed the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony as its most ambitious item. Marion Claire [Mrs. Weber] appeared as soprano soloist; Joseph Vito played the Ravel Introduction and Allegro with the orchestra, and an extra number for harp alone.

An extremely good audience, filling the pavilion and its surrounding lawns, received the concert as a whole, and the three personalities who dominated it, with cordial and long continued applause.

Mr. Weber, widely known for his work with the Chicago Civic and Chicago City Opera companies and for his present activities as musical director of station W-G-N, gave the Tschaikowsky symphony a performance which exploited the gracious poetry of the score just as conscientiously as it did the opportunities for great brilliance.

He proved again that the slow movement has the vitality to withstand oft repeated hearings—and to emerge unscathed even from such an ordeal as having its principal theme borrowed for a popular song. It seemed fresh and almost new yesterday, its subtle beauties profiting by the meticulous care with which Weber presented them. For one thing, he knows the value of suspense. By the time he has set the stage for a new theme the excitement of its actual entrance is noticeably heightened.

The willowy phrases of the Valse were kept within a fairly strict time scheme—a time scheme strict enough, at any rate, to do away with the danger of any sentimentality creeping into its tempting tune. But not so strict as to banish its genuine elegance and freedom.

The conductor let himself go in the frantic Sailors' Dance from Glière's "Pavot Rouge" to pile sonorities on top of one another and bring the first half of the program to a rousing close. The same at the end, when the outdoorsy music of "Schwanda" would have found any walls short of the horizon insufficient to contain its volume.

In between these two peaks was the wistful beauty of "Till Eulenspiegel." The music was handled sympathetically—especially the pathetic restatement of the gamin's moving theme after he had met the end which his transgressions no doubt demanded.

Miss Claire was the waiting, believing Butterfly in her performance of "One Fine Day." Her flair for the dramatic accompanies her even onto the concert stage, for the song had in it the simple faith of the betrayed Japanese maiden as well as the words and music which the librettist and composer provided.

The soloist's group of lyric songs

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

You think you've seen this picture before? Well, yes and no. You have and you haven't.

You saw "Hell's Heroes," produced in 1930 by Universal—which was an earlier adaptation of Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Three Godfathers," and, if I may be permitted to say so, a much better one than the picture at the Oriental.

The story told is of three western bad men wanted in a town called New Jerusalem for the robbery of a bank and the murder of the teller. While crossing the desert they become custodians of a baby whose parents have died of thirst. . . . Their problem is to get the little one back to civilization.

Their horses die from drinking poisoned water. It's too far to the town the three were headed for. Nothing to do but start back to New Jerusalem. . . . It's a long trail with a rope at the end of it—but the start is made.

On the way the two elder men cash in. Bob, the youngest and toughest of them, is all set to leave the little shaver on his own. . . . But he doesn't. He goes as long as he can without drinking and finally, in order that he may have strength to make the last few miles quaffs from a poison water hole. The water, he knows, requires about an hour to act. . . .

"Hell's Heroes" was terser and more human than this movie. While the acting of Messrs. Morris, Brennan, and Stone is consistently good, the action is tiresome and ambling. The scenes on the desert seem endless. Scenery's splendid, though, and excellently photographed. Supporting players are capable.

The picture has several laughs for which you are grateful. But, on the whole, I'm afraid you'll find "The Three Godfathers" rather a dull affair.

John Barrymore Home from Hospital Again

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—(AP)—John Barrymore was back at home today after another stay in the hospital—this time for only twenty-four hours. Dr. B. H. Hager said the actor was recovering from an attack of influenza but his condition was "most satisfactory." Barrymore was a patient in a Santa Barbara hospital for several weeks recently, returning to Hollywood three weeks ago. Two days ago Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios announced that his brother Lionel would replace him in the cast of a forthcoming Greta Garbo picture.

King Edward's Court Is Motif of Fall Styles

BY KAY HALL.

From Chicago's wholesale district have come 250 gowns, suits, and coats which will be presented tomorrow night as the autumn styles for almost one-third of the better dressed women of the country. These interpretations of the international mode will be modeled at the opening show of the style creators of Chicago in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel before visiting ready-to-wear buyers.

The annual fall market opening starts today and 20,000 buyers are expected to attend before it closes Aug. 8. Tomorrow night's style show will be repeated Aug. 4 and 6.

First glimpses of the Chicago designs as seen at a rehersal yesterday confirmed reports of feminine allegiance to King Edward VIII. His coming coronation [next May] will be heralded by American women this fall in every possible adaptation to feminine wear of the garments worn by the king, his guardsmen, and his grenadiers.

The general result is a trend to military swagger effects, rich coloring, and a further invasion of the royalty idea in the borrowing of the high-bodiced profile of the days of Napoleon's Josephine.

The coronation theme is in street outfits as well as the richly colored, metaled and jeweled evening costumes. One afternoon suit has a three-quarter length coat of British wine trimmed with black astrakhan. The rigid shoulders, high collar and coat flare give a pictorial flash-back to the uniform of a king's guardsman.

An evening coat of yellow velvet, skirt flaring from a military pinched back to the floor, with a snug white ermine collar is another garment of regal sweep.

Beneath such a coat may be worn an empire gown with flowing skirt, flat diaphragm, high waistline, accentuated bust, and rigid puffed sleeves. One is shown in tangerine lamé and another in emerald green lamé, the popular shimmering fabric that appears to rank first for evening.

A "coat of mail" tunic is another variety of the royal fashion urge and such tunics are supposed to be given a heavy run because of their practicability. One spectacular evening suit with peplum jacket is entirely of silver lamé cloth with a simple kolinsky trim.

Jacket suits are shown with very flared peplums. Full length coats with lavish fur trim and matching skirts and blouses [or tunics] are shown as afternoon ensembles which a blouse or tunic change can convert into a more formal dinner costume. Velvet suits range from the informal cocktail hour styling to evening length combinations.

The flaring swagger back dominates coats, both fur and the new glossy nubs and tweeds, but the straight silhouettes are still preferable in some of the more rugged furs.

High crowned hats modified from Parisian versions are offered by the Chicago creators. The conic crown is for smart tailored or dressy daytime wear. A new line to the feminine head is given by square crowns which start out high in front and slope down on the back of the head to replace the elastic bands which have been used to keep the hat on.

While black and British wine are tendered so far as the favorite colors, some manufacturers are featuring both sports and evening wear in bright, soft colors derived from the paddock and jocky silks.

Smart One Piece Day Dress

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop: Short sleeves that puff moderately, a snowy white scalloped edging that goes around the neckline and then down the front, a gleaming patent lether belt, and the shoulder flower of spanking white to match the scalloped trimming . . . all smart new details that achieve the distinction to be found in this one piece daytime dress for late summer and early fall. The hip pockets are also edged with white, the material is an interesting dull textured sheer, the skirt flares slightly at the hemline.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Something new and beautiful in the way of dusting powders comes in a perfectly stunning package you will be glad to have on your dressing table. The round container is snow white, with gold lines swirling away from the design in the center of the top.

The powder, flesh tinted, is in two fragrances, both charming, and is of lovely, fluffy texture. There's a downy lamb's wool puff to make it all more luxurious.

Now is the time we enjoy dusting powder most. Wearing light frocks, you needn't worry about the powder rubbing into them—and there's no doubt but that a feathery dusting of powder before dressing makes you feel ever so much cooler.

The same house makes exquisite sachets that are completely desirable as personal possessions and also excellent gift ideas. All the boxes are white, with a crest trim in gilt, but the little satin sachet sacks are in four different colors and scents. One, perfumed with lilac, is in a soft, beautiful blue; others are pink or yellow and the carnation is in white.

And, if you have o fondness for floral perfumes, look up the carnation, lily of the valley or the honeysuckle made by the same famous perfumer. They're true to the flower and perfectly made perfumes—which means that they are lasting. You can get them in small amounts—and you won't be broke after investing in a dram or so of your favorite.

Dumas Given Role in Film of His Story

"Camille" Getting Best of Studio's Efforts.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—With Greta Garbo's approval and coöperation, Producer Irving Thalberg and Novelist Zoe Akin are going to improve on Alexander Dumas fils and his masterpiece, "Camille," in a robustious gesture that would have been typical of either Dumas, father or son.

They are going to put Author Dumas, the younger, as a character in his own story, in his own times and in some of the incidents in his own life.

In arranging for Miss Akin to write the author into the movie adaptation of the great melodramatic novel, M-G-M studio assures that it will turn out a "Camille" utterly unlike any of the hundreds of stage and film presentations that have been made of the lovely and tragic French girl.

Another indication that the studio expects to make its "Camille" something that will arrest attention is seen in its casting of Lenore Ulric to play Olympe. Miss Ulric will play opposite Russell Hardie.

How seriously Garbo takes her rôle which, if not exactly a "comeback" is at least a "reintroduction" to the American screen after almost two years of seclusion, was noticed yesterday when the mum siren was espied at the library getting out books on Paris of the 1840's, and old prints of costumes of that decade. It was learned that she has been haunting the library and other research sources in order to prepare herself for the mood and wardrobe for her part.

Joan Bennett created a stir on the set of "Wedding present" when she appeared for the first day's shooting followed by her chauffeur pushing a portable machine about 4½ feet tall and weighing about 150 pounds. She informed her co-players, Cary Grant, George Bancroft, Conrad Nagel and Gene Lockhart, that the outfit was a "cooling machine." Wherever Miss Bennett went her chauffeur followed, rolling the machine. The chauffeur would set the machine as near Miss Bennett as possible without getting in camera range. It kept Miss Bennett in a halo of air conditioning.

Henry King is to start directing "Lloyd's of London" next month. The three leading rôles so far filled are given to Donald Ameche, Italian-American boy from Kenosha, C. Aubrey Smith, and Sir Guy Standing.

Dudley Digges, who helped start the Dublin Irish theater in 1904, has been joined by P. J. Kelly, New York stage actor, in plans to start an Irish theater group in Hollywood. Kelly was associated with Digges in their Gaelic cultural venture in Dublin in 1904.

Red Pavilion

By Pauline Stiles

INSTALMENT I.

A WAR CASUALTY.

And thou—what needest with thy tribe's black tents
Who hast the red pavilion of my heart?
Francis Thompson.

The lights in Mrs. Tibbs' boarding house were shining out from all its Georgian windows as William Grimwold came up Portman square and let himself in the door.

He was worried. Capable and well know actor that he was, in great demand for the rôles of crotchety old majors, he'd been out of a job for several weeks and the money was running low. Then, too, he was deeply concerned over his godson. Grimmy's big heart ached for the boy, just out of the hospital when the armistice was signed two months ago. But this didn't blind him to the fact that Mal was going to be a handful.

Before entering the two rooms which he and young Roger Mallard occupied on Mrs. Tibbs' third floor rear, Grimwold ironed out the worry on his rugged, Roman-nosed face, placed a smile on his lips beneath his gray moustache, and forced a cheerful gleam into his eyes—those deep-set, pansy-purple eyes which endeared him to everybody. He rattled the doorknob noisily and walked into the room.

A tall, thin boy stood in front of a marble grate with his hands clutched on the mantel and his magnificent dark head pressed against a little bronze clock.

"For God's sake, Mal! Leave off that foolishness."

The boy did not change his position. Though his face was in profile, Grimwold had a view of the panic frozen on it.

He walked over and laid a hand on the young man's shoulder.

Mal started violently.

"Damn it, Grimmy! Must you creep up on me?" Then a slow flush swept over his throat and face. "Sorry!" he muttered.

Grimwold unperturbably took off his fog-rimmed overcoat, and poured

"Grimmy! Must you creep up on me?"

out two whisky-and-sodas. He handed one to Mal and, frowning, watched the boy gulp it.

"I say, old chap, quit testing yourself with clocks and watches. Their business is to mark the passage of time. If you'd coöperate with them along those lines you'd be a lot better off."

Grimwold's fine, deep voice, greatly admired by the London public, came through his lips in tones perfectly aimed at a mark.

"You're right, Grimmy. I try. But sometimes when I'm alone I get to thinking what if the other one should ——"

"Nonsense! You hear me perfectly, don't you?"

"Yes. You. But not other people. It's hell! The confusion—trying to separate their voices from this infernal din in my head."

"Be thankful for that din. It means you've a stout heart pumping blood through a healthy, young body. Which is more than most poor wretches came out of this war with. . . . See here, Mal," he went on more gently, "your doctor tells me that if you'd stop fretting and give your nerves a chance to become adjusted to this minor disability you'll be quite all right and will go on comfortably for the rest of your life with the hearing left you."

"If I could only believe that!"

Grimwold brought out a robust, Anglo-Saxon oath. He said he'd be hanged if he'd have his peace of mind disturbed any longer by baseless fears. To all intents a bachelor, deprived as he was of his wife in his youth, he'd done his best to raise John and Sarah Mallard's eight year old orphan to be a man. If this boy, now just turned twenty-one, was going to let him down after all these years of devotion, he could go to the devil while Mr. William Grimwold washed his hands.

After this outburst, he subsided into a shabby chintz-covered chair and, with satisfaction, watched Mal's spirit stiffen.

"It isn't that I don't realize how hard it is for you, my dear boy. But —Why, Great Scott! You've still got a superb body—six feet two in your socks—that most men would envy. And a face and brain that invariably titillate the women. . . . Now bathe and shave and get into your tails for we're going to Maude Copley's New Year's eve party."

"Thank you very much. I don't care to."

"That I should ever have to urge an intemperate playboy like you to go to a party!"

"All that's over."

"Fiddlesticks!"

"I tell you, I can't bear to inconvenience people," Mal said shortly. "I could endure this thing alone, but the deuce of it is, every encounter I make involves the other fellow in it."

"I've yet to see the person who wasn't more than glad to talk to you, Mal."

"Perhaps. . . . But now the strain and effort not to make an ass of myself—not to seem totally dumb wears me out."

"There won't be much effort required at Maude's party," Grimwold mildly insisted. "Dancing and a program. She's got that young actress, Zelda Manners—what a name!—who's been making a sensation rigging herself up like a Rossetti angel and reciting to low music the fifth Song of Solomon. . . . She gives me an acute attack of nausea, but she may give you a laugh. Only watch out for her, Mal, should you meet her. You may think her beautiful eyes are focused on your heart. But in reality they'll be boring into the left breast pocket, speculating upon the contents of your wallet."

Mal grinned feebly. He said:

"Dancing and a program are no longer easy."

"Great Scott, Mal! What's become of that old lord-of-creation-and-be-damned-to-you way of yours?"

"When conversation becomes a one sided guessing game, there isn't much lord-of-creation in it for the guesser."

"Then why the devil don't you frankly lay your cards on the table? People will like you better for it. Especially the women."

"Bid for pity, eh? I suppose you'd have me say to some strange girl I'm anxious to impress: 'Please be sorry for me. I'm one of these good-ear, bad-ear people. If you'll be kind enough to take the man's position while we're dancing—to permit me to sit at your right—you'll stand a chance to find me charming. Otherwise—a dunce.'"

"Mal, there are times when I wish you were back in the nursery, so I could cane you." Grimwold tried to combat certain memories of Mal's engaged childhood with brusqueness. "As you will," he shrugged. "I'm a bit low myself tonight. I thought an evening out somewhere might be good for us."

"Right-o, Grimmy. I'll go with you."

* * * * *

Maude Copley's damask-paneled drawing room was crowded with her guests. Brightly silhouetted against the night sky to be seen through the windows, and flooded by a shower of light from the crystal chandeliers, they milled among the dancing on the parquetry of the hallway. Maude herself, resplendent in sequins, received at the head of her wide, curving stair.

"Grimmy, my darling! So glad you brought him. Mal, how well you look!"

"Whatever you say, Mrs. Copley, is surely the truth."

"Grimmy, this boy of yours is quite indecently good looking. I predict a lot of trouble for you now he is home."

"Trouble!" snorted Grimwold. "I've had it since he wore shorts."

He and his godson were a pair calculated to turn most eyes in their direction.

Expect Eddie Cantor to Sue Goldwyn for Delays on New Film

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—(AP)—Eddie Cantor, the beetle-eyed comedian, said today his grievance against his film employer, Samuel Goldwyn, would "most likely" be taken to court. Chafing under what he termed unnecessary delays in preparation for the seventh of his annual starring films for Goldwyn, Cantor said the "next move" probably would come from his attorneys.

"Since last December," Cantor said, "Mr. Goldwyn has had an opportunity to prepare a picture story for me. I got word in May to report to the studio for work, and when I arrived in June the company was unprepared and it still is. Goldwyn is now away from the studio on account of illness, and nobody seemed to know what is going on."

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

SOME BOYS NEED COAXING.

Eden lifted herself suddenly on her elbow. "Tell me the truth, Jack Garnett," she said. "Did you ever take a picture with that old camera?"

He grinned. "Yes—I took one once. The day they buried Vick Lincoln. It came out pretty good."

"You're not a newspaper man at all?"

"Well, some people would probably tell you I'm not. I've been doing a little work for Martin Burke alone. Odd jobs." And he would tell her no more than that.

It was Burke himself who told her later of the work Jack Garnett had done.

"I've been using him for a year. The boy's clever. He's got something. But now he's no use to me any more. These crooks here know him. So I'm going to lend him to a friend of mine down in Los Angeles. They need a clever lad out there—what with nuts and communists and other wild fry they've got on their hands. Do you think," Burke laid his stubby hands together and looked at her from under his shaggy brows, "that you'd like living in California?'

"I?" Eden felt the slow red burning up her throat. "What have I to do with it?"

"Well, if you don't like it—he ain't going to like it either," he said, "and I'd surely like to help out that friend out there."

"I might—like it," Eden smiled at the old man. "And—he might need me. I do very well, don't you think?"

"You do grand. And he'll need you all right—or I'm as blind as Flanigan's mule—the one that ate the broom."

"He hasn't asked, you know. What do I do about that?"

"Some boys," mused Martin Burke, "need coaxing and some need a jolt in the jaw. I needed one myself once. Nobody socked me—so my girl married a sailor. I've given this Jack lad a gentle poke. He's a proud devil—and there's the chap from Sheridan road—my fine assistant. What about him?"

"I sent him away—as kindly as I could. I—couldn't marry Owen Field, Mr. Burke."

Gran was happy. With morning Clint came out of his coma. He was better. Gracie had color in her face as she kissed Gran good-by.

"You've been so splendid to us. We're going away—as soon as Clint is well again. A long way away. Mr. Burke is going to lend us some money."

Gran obeyed a swift impulse. She jerked the old brown pocketbook out of the drawer.

"Here's a little I've been saving," she said, taking out the crumpled bills. "You buy something for that baby. And you name him for Martin Burke."

Bridget Faraday was not happy. Bridget and Robin. Robin had come in the morning, small, excited circles blazing in her cheeks.

"Sidney Creighton and I are married," she announced. "And please, family, don't get excited about it. Because it's done."

It was then that Gran began to laugh.

"Excitement, is it? If ever this family gets excited by anything again, I'm thinking, the world will have to fall in on our heads!" Then she put an arm about her pale faced daughter-in-law. "Cheer up, Bridget. It's not so bad when you give up struggling. You and I'll be old ladies together. I could use a little bit of peace, I'm thinking.

At night Garnett came again, in the muddy little car.

"I thought——" he hesitated, "you might want to see Gracie——"

Eden shook her head. "I'd like to see a moon," she said. "Martin Burke was here this morning. I want to hear about California.'

Garnett's tired, absent eyes took on an ecstatic glow. He straightened and the boyish smile transformed his face.

"It's a grand country," he said, "but—lonesome!"

Eden Faraday's eyes were blue flowers washed in silver rain.

"Do I have to throw myself at you, silly?' she asked huskily. "Do I have to beg you to kiss me——"

"O—my dear!" choked young Mr. Garnett—loosely attached to the newspaper profession.

Pulitzer Prize Play Extends Its Stay Here

The Chicago Group theater, 62 E. 11th street, announces an extension of the engagement of "The Old Maid," 1935 Pulitzer prize play, of at least two weeks. Margaret Fuller, now playing the principal rôle, will be replaced shortly by Marion Reed. The former is leaving for Hollywood, to take part in a motion picture.

John Smithies and Cuban Girl Are Betrothed

Plan Wedding in Havana Next December.

for it will only be an indication that Mrs. Norman Harris' dairy booth is taking in some cash. She found a very old counter in a little Wisconsin store and it has been installed in Horticultural hall at Lake Geneva. Over it will be sold on the days of the show chickens, eggs, cottage cheese, buttermilk, rich cream, and various other dairy products from the finest estates around the lake. When the cash drawer is opened the bell rings loudly and when the drawer is so full of money that it will not close, there is a secret drawer in which to hoard the earnings.

Every one of the summer colonists is interested in the show, which is the 32d annual one, and Lake Geneva will be a very busy place this week with preparations for the show engrossing all for the first three days and the show itself keeping every one working on Thursday and Friday. Mrs. William N. Pelouze is general chairman.

One of the prettiest debutantes of the coming season, Miss Sylvia Peter, will be missing from the gay goings-on of the younger generation in Lake Forest for the next few weeks. She and her younger sister, Miss Phyllis Peter, left yesterday for Santa Barbara to visit Mrs. Frederick A. Preston, who is out there for the summer with her children, and later Mrs. Sellar Bullard, who used to live in Highland Park. The two girls will return home Aug. 15.

Robert S. Piries Will Go to California.

The Robert S. Piries have sub-let their Lake Forest home and are going to California for several months where it is expected that the climate will improve Mr. Pirie's health. He has been ill for the last six weeks.

Mrs. Pirie has taken her children to the Island club, Lac du Flambeau, Wis., for several days. Mr. Pirie left for Santa Barbara Friday and his wife and children will join him there the first week in August. Mr. Pirie's sister, Mrs. Harold Beacom, will go to California at the same time.

The Robert A. Gardners have had to postpone their visit with Mrs. Gardner's mother, Mrs. Chauncey Keep, at her summer home at Camden, Me., because of Mr. Gardner's illness. As soon as he is well enough to travel, they will go east, taking their young daughter, Mary, with them.

Mrs. Alan M. Ferguson, who was Miss Mary Louise Hays until the 17th of April, is coming from her home in Washington, D. C., today for a five weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde T. Hays of Wilmette. Mr. Ferguson will spend the five weeks in Dayton, O., on business, but will go to Wilmette for week-ends. Mr. Ferguson and his bride spent the first month of their married life in Richmond, Va., but he was transferred to Washington at the end of that time.

The Lawrence D. Smiths of Lake Forest are joining the summer colony up at Fish creek for the month of August. Their daughter, Anita, is accompanying them, and their son Larry, who is away at camp, will join them there the middle of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow are going west on the 31st with their daughter, Miss Elise Clow, and their son, Kent Clow Jr., for a short vacation at the T T ranch in Wyoming. After a week or 10 days, the Clows and their daughter will return to Lake Forest, leaving their young son out there for the remainder of the summer.

Sheldon Clarks Expect Son and Daughter-in-Law.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Clark are looking forward to a visit in August from their son and daughter-in-law, the Carrington Clarks, and their baby. Young Mrs. Clark is now at Marion, Mass., with her parents, and her husband will spend the first part of his vacation there, returning with her to Chicago for a few days the middle of August on their way back to Kansas City, where he is in business.

Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark is sending her parents enthusiastic reports of her activities as counselor at a camp at Ely, Vt., where she has spent several summers. She will return home the end of August. Mr. and Mrs. Clark are remaining at their country place in Barrington all summer while Mrs. Clark convalesces from her illness of last winter.

Thomas C. Dennehy is occupying his house in Winnetka this summer. The junior Thomas C. Dennehys have taken a cottage at Charlevoix for the season, and Mr. Dennehy joins his family up there for week-ends.

Prince and Princess Prolong Stay Abroad.

When Prince and Princess Rostislav sailed for Europe in June they planned to remain abroad six weeks, but now they have decided to prolong their stay abroad until the first of September. They are still at Windsor visiting Prince Rostislav's mother, Princess Xenia, but probably will cross to the continent before sailing for home.

Prince and Princess Nicholas Galitzine, Princess Rostislav's brother and sister-in-law, are remaining in Lake Forest this summer.

Mrs. Royden J. Keith returned to Chicago yesterday from northern Michigan to make preparations for a wedding to be held tomorrow noon in the Keith apartment at 999 Lake Shore drive when Miss Priscilla Bridges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Saveland, and Ernest L. Ward Jr. will be married. A small breakfast and reception will follow at the Drake hotel.

Mr. Ward, who is a graduate of Princeton, will take his bride east on a wedding trip and they will be at home after Sept. 1 in Edgewood Lane, Hubbard Woods. Both Miss Bridges and Mr. Ward have lived in Chicago for several years.

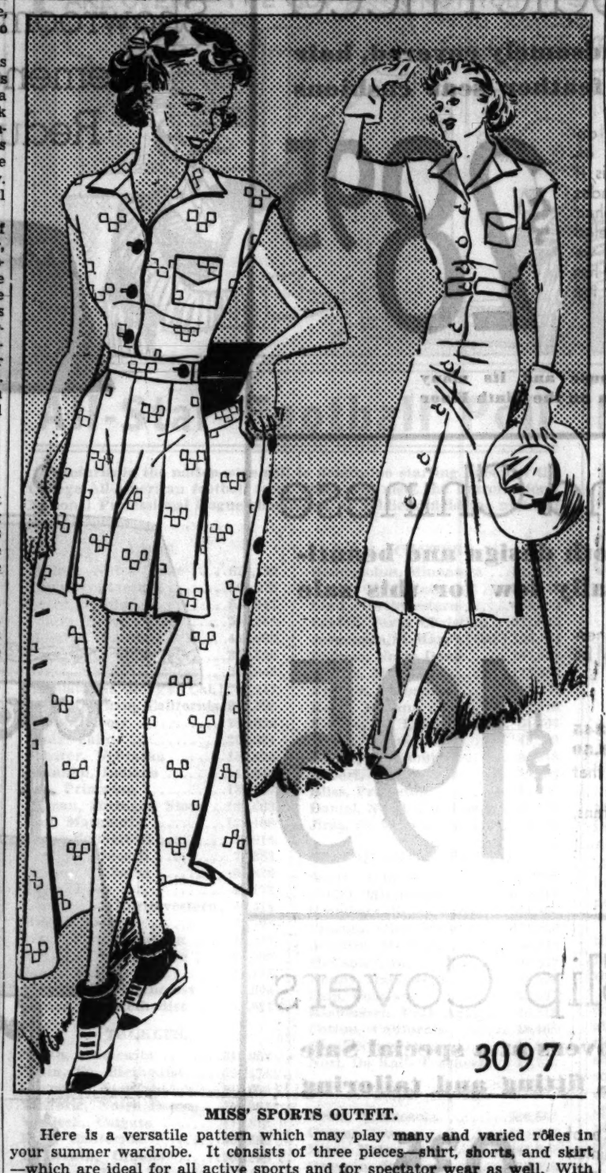
Versatile Sports Attire



MISS' SPORTS OUTFIT.

Here is a versatile pattern which may play many and varied rôles in your summer wardrobe. It consists of three pieces—shirt, shorts, and skirt—which are ideal for all active sports and for spectator wear as well. With or without the skirt the outfit is ideal for tennis. With the skirt the ensemble goes golfing or cycling. The shirt and skirt, without the shorts, are lovely for wear over your bathing attire as you go to and from the beach.

If your sports wardrobe requires any of the articles of this ensemble singly, that is, if you need an attractive shirtwaist, or a separate skirt or trim shorts, this pattern will be useful, since it provides for all three individually.

The blouse has a typical and nicely tailored rever collarline. It buttons down the front and has a patch pocket. The shorts are banded to fit snugly at the waistline. They are seamed above the hips for perfect contour. Plaits make them comfortable and give them grace.

Crash, challis patterned chintz, any of the attractive cotton prints, shantung, linen, and gingham are appropriate and tubbable mediums for this ensemble. The original is fashioned of printed piqué in dashing colors.

Style No. 3097 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, and 18 years. Size 16 requires 4⅝ yards for the entire outfit.

Sally to Take Guests to Bing Crosby Movie

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"I'm an old cow hand from the Rio Grande," sings Bing Crosby, all dressed up in a ten gallon hat, in his latest picture, "Rhythm on the Range." You'll be surprised when you see the musical Bing playing cowboy, with Bob Burns, of radio fame, as another broncho buster. The two pals enter a rodeo and certainly get into a peck of trouble!

If you kids know your western stories, you'll probably remember tales about cowboys singing to the cattle when they're trying to quiet them, so Bing's crooning ability should fit in nicely with his latest rôle. The picture has lots of riding and music and comedy in it, and I'm sure any youngster would enjoy it.

On Thursday, Aug. 6, I'm going to take 50 boys and 50 girls to the big Chicago theater to see this film, plus a big stage show, which will include the latest unit of Maj. Bowes' amateurs, who will be accompanied by a band of professional musicians.

For this party I want as my guests youngsters who like this sort of show—kids who'd have as much fun going to a movie as baseball fans would have out of seeing a double-header. If you're a dyed-in-the-wool movie fan, you'd better write to me and see if you can't win an invitation to this party.

I'd like to know why you think you'd enjoy yourself at the Chicago, your full name and address, and how old you are.

Next Thursday morning I'm going to read all the letters received, and select as my guests the youngsters I think will have the best time at a theater party—so if you want to come along you'd better see that your request is in the mail well before that day. Each child must write for his or her own invitation—please don't say, "Let my little brother, Jimmy, come too, Sally"—have him write a letter and mail it with yours, if he wants an invitation. The address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

"Delicious Fish Dinners," a Mary Meade booklet containing eight menus with recipes for fish dinners and luncheons, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents; by mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

"A friend has sent us a nine-and-a-half pound salmon from the coast, and I'd like to know how to stuff and bake it," comes a telephone plea.

And it occurs to us that perhaps others of you might like to know what to do with fresh salmon, or with other fresh fish which some one on a vacation at the lakes has sent you.

Salmon is an oily meated fish and may be baked without basting. Lake trout, halibut, and mackerel fall into this same class. [But if you bake bass, codfish, catfish or pike, you'll need to rub them with butter and baste them frequently during cooking.] These fish are delicious baked whole and stuffed. A high temperature [500 degrees F.] is used at first to brown the fish, and then the heat is reduced to moderate [350 to 375 degrees] for the rest of the baking period. The moderate temperature keeps the fish protein tender and preserves the best flavor, without driving out the juices. Allow 10 minutes of baking for the first four pounds and 5 minutes for each additional pound.

Rub the inside of your salmon or other fish with salt and fill with stuffing, allowing room for the stuffing to expand during cooking. Sew the stuffed fish together with string.

If you have a platter which will stand oven heat, brush it with butter and bake the fish upon it, simply removing it from the oven to the table when it has been cooked. This will prevent the tearing or breaking of the fish which might occur when transferring it from baking pan to platter.

However, if you haven't such a platter, place an oiled cheese cloth under the fish. This will make it easier to remove the fish from the pan without breaking it.

SAVORY STUFFING FOR FISH.

2 cups soft bread crums
2 teaspoons minced onion
2 teaspoons minced parsley
1 teaspoon chopped pickles
2 teaspoons chopped celery
½ cup melted butter
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sage

Combine all ingredients, adding more milk if the stuffing is not moist enough.

Some sort of tart sauce is necessary to accent the mild flavor of the fish. Horseradish sauce, tartar sauce, lemon butter or creole sauce are acceptable accents. For the tartar sauce mix 1 tablespoon chopped pickle, 1 tablespoon chopped olives, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 1 tablespoon capers with 1 cup of mayonnaise, and chill until ready for use.

CREOLE SAUCE FOR FISH.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
4 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic [may be omitted]
1 quart stewed tomatoes
Salt
Pepper
Paprika

Melt the butter, add the paprika and blend. Cook the onion, green pepper and garlic in the butter. Add tomatoes, salt and pepper. Boil five minutes.

A MARRIAGE MADE IN HEAVEN

When a maid meets a man who brings love at first sight, we marvel at the magic power that drew them together. Rigaud's perfume, Un Air Embaumé, is like that. It is blended with the romance of moonbeams and the glamour of the stars. Smart women have told us that Rigaud's Un Air Embaumé is the most captivating odeur in the world. Sold in New York at $6 an ounce. Now also in a purse flacon at $1.15.

According to CULBERTSON

DEFENSIVE BIDDING.

When your opponents have opened the bidding there are two cases in which you may wish to enter the bidding also.

1. For defensive purposes. You may wish to call your partner's attention to a suit in which to make an opening lead. Also, even if your hand is weak you may be able to make a sacrifice bid. This will pay if you are set less than the value of the game which your opponents can bid and make.

2. Of course, you must enter the bidding when you have such a strong hand that you may be able to bid and make a game yourself.

But in order to avoid being disastrously set you must not overcall an opponent's bid unless you are safe under the Rule of Two and Three.

The Culbertson Rule of Two and Three.

In defensive bidding count your winners and be sure that you can win, in your own hand, within two tricks of your contract if you are vulnerable, and within three tricks of your contract if you are not vulnerable. Then you can never take a set of more than 500 points.

Hold-Up Play.

The hold-up play, intended to exhaust the communicating cards between the two defenders, is known to almost all players of average and higher ranks, but strangely enough it is used almost exclusively at no trump contracts. Opportunities for its employment occur at least as frequently at suit contracts, but the play is either overlooked entirely, or shunned for some inadequate reason, usually the unwaranted fear of a ruff. In today's hand the success of the contract depends entirely on a hold-up play.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

North decided that, since his partner could not make an asking bid over the double raise, he himself would not be justified in passing the game level, by "asking" with his very bad [4-3-3-3] distribution. This decision was eminently sound.

West selected the club ten as his opening lead and the declarer took stock. His obvious danger lay in losing two tricks in hearts and two in clubs. A successful finesse against one of the heart honors would limit the heart loss to one trick, but if West had both honors, this maneuver would not work. However, even if this bad distribution of hearts existed, it would still be possible to make the game if South's long heart could be established before the opponents should grab their two club tricks.

On this perfect reasoning the opening lead was ducked. East overtook and returned the heart eight; declarer played low and West won with the queen. Another club followed, and now declarer put up the ace, drew three rounds of trumps, and led the heart jack, letting it ride. West won, but was now out of clubs and could not prevent the declarer from discarding dummy's club on his good fourth heart, afterward ruffing the losing club in dummy.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is there a penalty for asking, "My lead?" before the bidding has ended?

Answer: No penalty, but it is highly improper.

Protect Child's Health While on Vacation Trip

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Many mothers believe that it's easier and safer to keep the children at home than to go away to some strange place for a summer vacation.

That's true in a way, especially if food and milk supplies are uncertain, and a good doctor not available. Still, a stay at the seashore or in the country is tremendously refreshing. What precautions then will protect the child's health during vacation time?

The three points about which you must be vigilant are: The milk supply, the water supply, and sanitary conditions. Otherwise the health hazards are too great.

Even if drinking water is pure, the change often affects children, so it is well not to let them drink too much of it at first. Boiling the water is a great safeguard.

As for milk—well, healthy looking cows in sweet pastures do not necessarily give pure milk. Regular inspection of the animals and sanitary handling of their milk are necessary if your children's health is to be safeguarded.

Sometimes vacation trips take people who are used to the most modern conveniences into primitive surroundings. If this is so in your case, be sure that the substitute for the fully equipped bathroom at home is made as sanitary as possible. This always is a health menace.

As for mosquitoes, when going on a vacation it is better to avoid a mosquito-ridden area. These pests make life utterly miserable for every one—especially infants and children. Mosquito netting always should be put over cribs.

Fat Padded Arms Are Both Unlovely and Unnecessary

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

These so-called gay summer days do bring out a number of beauty defects that ordinarily are concealed. For instance, the arms, which are the subject of today's discussion! One sees nothing but arms, and more arms, and still more arms. But looking for a beautifully modeled arm isn't one of the day's easiest tasks.

In fact, the average woman doesn't think of her arms as contributing one way or the other to her beauty. They're just something to uncover for an airing in summer, and keep under cover the rest of the year. But arms, when they're lovely, must hold a lure for the opposite sex, since there are a number of odes addressed to the fair armed sex, and signed with masculine names. I know a man who knows a man who fell so hard for a girl's shapely, dimpled arms he married her to keep them in the family. On the other hand, I never heard of a woman's being divorced for cultivating ham appendages where arms were supposed to be. So maybe they're not as bad as you and I think.

Yet the discriminating woman hates to see her arms go wrong on her. It means so much covering up, or real embarrassment when a dinner occasion may demand they be fully exposed. As you get around or over the 40 year old border line you have to keep a hawk eye on that arm sector, or before you know it the flesh begins to hang, and you can't keep the deficit hidden under a whole mess of sleeve material.

We would like to make a dress suggestion right away. Don't try to corset the arm tightly with dress material. That tight sleeve simply exaggerates the arm size. A little looseness is infinitely more deceiving. And don't expect to get the arm size down with diet alone. Exercise has to be adopted and with a wim and wigor you may not like until you see a new arm shaping up. Watch this column tomorrow for a few arm exercises.

Night treatment for hands is recommended by Antoinette Donnelly, Tribune beauty editor, in her booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." You will want to read every one of her suggestions on how to beautify the hands. On sale at Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. By postpaid mail, 7 cents.

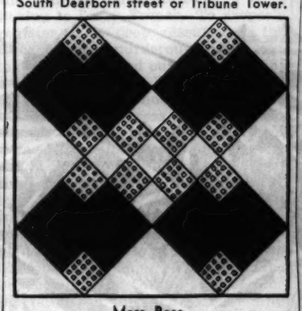
began with Strauss' fervent "Zueignung," and went from that into an unfamiliar pair by Marx. The second of these especially, "Hat Dich Die Liebe Berührt," deserves some careful rehearings, for its attractive combination of serious, Schumannesque poetry with a free and rather sophisticated technic. Miss Claire chose a vocal version of "The Blue Danube" for encore.

The Ravel which Mr. Vito played used only strings, flute, and clarinet for orchestral background. Its creator's choice of such a chaste and delicate frame fits his type of brushwork nicely. The general effect of evanescent loveliness was heightened by the harpist's expertly restrained performance.

'Moss Rose' Quilt Has Pieced and Applique Blocks

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Moss Rose.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The reward of a bit of pickup quilt work lies not only in the pleasure of making, but in the joy of possession. Well adapted for such purposes is this comparatively new conventional design which is a combination of pieced and appliqué blocks. The blooms, indicated by the rose appliqué patches, are set together before the squares and triangles are pieced to complete the design. The young girl who is just familiarizing herself with patchwork will be delighted to work on this "Moss Rose."

FOR SUNBURN
Play Safe—Use NOXZEMA

DON'T suffer needlessly from hot, painful sunburn. Don't take chances with untried preparations. Play safe. Use the formula that doctors, nurses and chief lifeguards in charge of First-Aid Hospitals at biggest beaches use—Noxzema. For years Noxzema has been used almost exclusively in treating sunburn at Miami Beach, Atlantic City, Coney Island, Revere Beach, Asbury Park and other famous beaches, both in Canada and the United States.

Doesn't stain clothes

No matter how badly sunburned you are, one application of Noxzema brings almost instant, cooling, soothing relief to tortured skin. It's so soft to apply—so cool to use—takes away all the "fire" and pain.

And Noxzema is greaseless—a snow-white cream that you can use, day and night, without fear of soiling clothes.

Get a jar of Noxzema now—it's sold at all drug and department stores.

TAN without burning

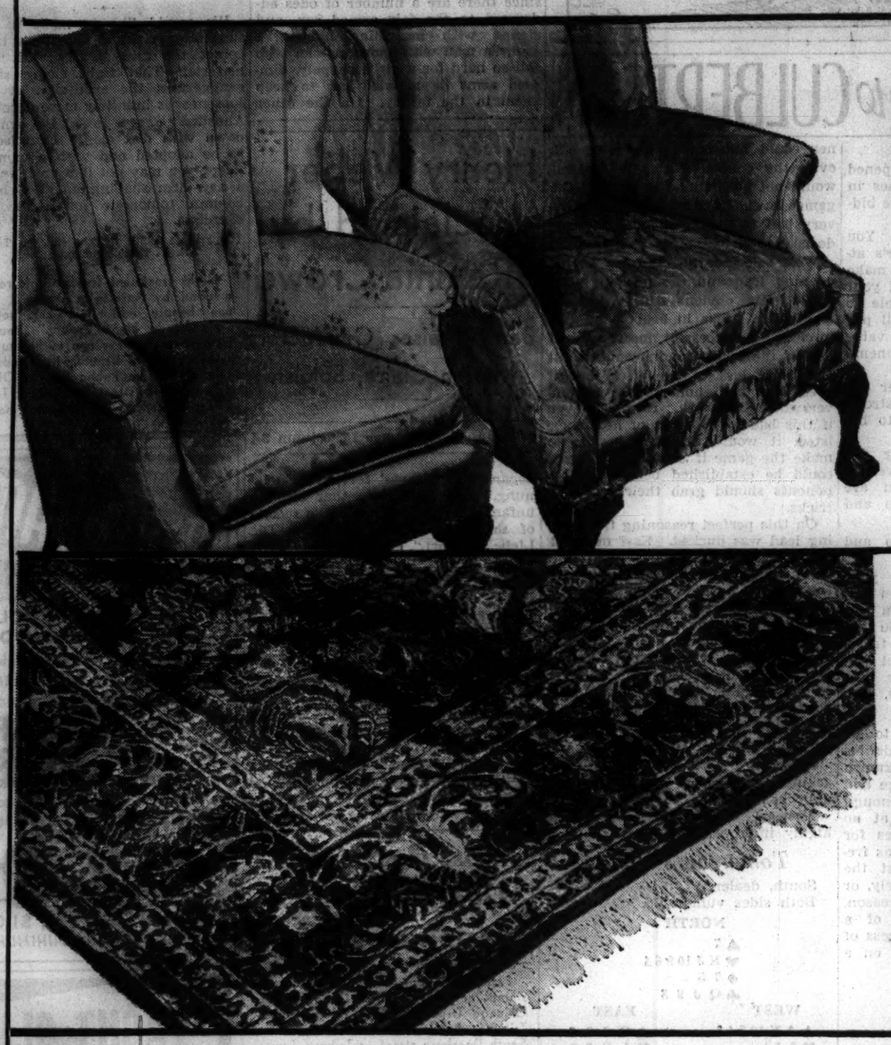
Make use of our Budget Plan

It is not necessary to make inroads on the family savings to take advantage of the tremendous savings afforded in these Sales. We will arrange terms so that purchases made in any of our home furnishings sections may be paid for over a period of time, with only a small down payment and carrying charge.



2 Style Favorites Sale Priced

It's the covers of these chairs that will take your eye. Rarely do you find covers of the beauty and richness and quality of these, on chairs at this price. Only because they were sample remnants is it possible for the price to be so low. Included are damasks, brocades and tapestries. Add to this, that the interior construction includes hair and down filling, that the frames are hardwood, glued and doweled together, that the back legs as well as the front are shaped, and we believe you will agree that here is real chair value. Wing chair has carved Chippendale claw and ball foot; the barrel chair has the Queen Anne cabriole leg.

FINAL DAY OF ALL-STAR POLL SMASHES RECORD

500,000 VOTES ADDED TO LIST; MORE ON WAY

College Squad to Be Named Tomorrow.

BY ARCH WARD.

A football team with 3,000,000 coaches! That is a fairly accurate description of the squad of college All-Stars which will play the Detroit Lions, world professional champions, at Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 1.

The total vote this morning in the national poll, which ended at midnight Saturday, is 2,757,113. The tabulators by no means have finished their job. Today's standings do not include votes that reached this office yesterday. Final figures will be printed in tomorrow's CHICAGO TRIBUNE. They will exceed 3,000,000.

Every one who cast a ballot feels his lineup was the best that could be selected. Consequently he will be critical as he sits in the stands the night of the game or gets the radio and newspaper reports. The fans have simplified the task of the coaching staf, however, for by their votes they have told the instructors which players they must use as a starting lineup.

Vote for Three Coaches.

The poll for coaches opened yesterday and will continue for two weeks. You are invited to pick three in the order of your preference. First place will count three points, second two, and third one. The candidate receiving the greatest number of total points will be head coach. He will have three assistants. They will be the men who finish second, third, and fourth in the poll.

THE TRIBUNE will have the coöperation of 182 newspapers in 40 states and the District of Columbia in the coaches' poll.

The voting in the final day of the player contest eclipsed anything of its kind sport has known. More than 500,000 votes came directly to THE TRIBUNE. That many more were contributed by associated newspapers. Les Lindberg, Illinois half back, alone received 58,000 votes Saturday. This was exclusive of the ballots marked for him in other newspaper polls. The combined vote for Minnesota players from the Minneapolis Journal, Star and Tribune and from the St. Paul News and Pioneer Press was over 50,000. Friends of Andy Pilney, Notre Dame half back, brought in 17,080 votes in one package.

Munger Popular Downstate.

From eight or ten centers downstate came thousands of votes for Willis Munger, Illinois college guard. Wally Cruice of Northwestern got 17,000 from Milwaukee. John Oravec of Willamette polled 37,576 in the final day at Portland. Don Elser of Notre Dame rolled up 32,539 in the Calumet district, where the poll was conducted by the Gary Post Tribune. From Appleton, Wis., came 9,200 for a lineup that included Oech, Rennebohm, Smith, Seidel, and Beise of Minnesota, Millner, Shakespeare, and Pfefferle of Notre Dame, Tangora of Northwestern, and Crayne of Iowa.

Saturday's votes from the New York Herald Tribune included nearly 7,000 for Shakespeake, who ran away from all other half backs in the metropolitan area returns. Several bundles containing hundreds of ballots marked for Jay Berwanger were brought in by University of Chicago alumni.

Saturday's returns from South Bend, which were forwarded before all ballots had been counted, give you an idea of the hysteria that prevailed in centers which had candidates for the starting lineup. The News Times reported as follows: Ends—Millner, Notre Dame, 29,641; Peters, Notre Dame, 25,654; Moscrip, Stanford, 2,917. Tackles—Pfefferle, Notre Dame, 26,516; Smith, Minnesota, 3,716; Galbreath, Illinois, 3,265. Guards—Tangora, Northwestern, 25,910; Wagner,

COCHRANE ACTS TO STIR TIGERS FROM LETHARGY

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane obtained permission today from physicians who have had him under observation for a week to resume his managerial duties, and his first action was to announce that young players would be brought in to replace lagging veterans.

"We're starting this important business right away," Cochrane declared. "We're sending Flea Clifton [utility infielder] to Toledo under option and bringing Salty Parker in. He will be at shortstop tomorrow in place of Bill Rogell."

Cochrane watched from Owner Walter O. Briggs' grandstand box yesterday and today as his Tigers took beatings from the Boston Red Sox.

After today's game, he went to the clubhouse, accused his world champion veterans of playing uninspired ball, and announced that youngsters would be brought in until the veterans snap out of their lethargy.

MAJOR LEAGUES DRAW 213,550 IN EIGHT PARKS

New York, July 26.—(AP)—A total of 213,550 fans turned out to see major league baseball in eight parks today.

The largest crowd was at Chicago, where the White Sox and New York Yankees performed before 50,000. At Boston, 41,600 were on hand for the Cardinals-Bees double-header.

Other crowds were: Cincinnati at New York, 35,000; Red Sox at Detroit, 29,000; Athletics at Cleveland, 24,000; Cubs at Philadelphia, 15,449; Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, 15,000, and Washington at St. Louis, 3,500.

CASE ACE RULES AS FAVORITE IN $60,000 FUTURITY

Mrs. Mars' Speedy Colt Is Right at Tops.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The next name to blaze forth from the Arlington Park Jocky club's racing season will undoubtedly be Case Ace, the prince darling of the 2 year olds, which gets his first big chance in the $60,000 Arlington Futurity of next Saturday afternoon.

Enough things had happened to this young fellow to make him a headliner long before he ever started to the races.

The first indelible picture of him comes on a starry night last August at the famous Saratoga yearling auctions. A white haired, raucous voiced auctioneer was up on the block and so was E. J. Tranter, head of the sales company. He was there because the cream of the 1935 yearling crop was passing through the brightly lighted sales ring, which was circled by the white shirt fronts and the smart gowns of the wealthy folk who go a-racing.

Royally Bred Colt.

Tranter, old hand though he is at the game, could not keep an overtone of excitement out of his voice when he introduced this bay son of Teddy and Sweetheart, just up from Meadowview farm in Kentucky. There was no finer bred colt to be sold. Sweetheart was the fastest mare of her time. Teddy was own sire to the famous Sir Galahad III.

An infectious hum of interest spread through the crowded arena. Necks were craned to better see the points of this calm, splendid colt. The bidding started.

They came from the front rows where wealth and social eminence gathered at the court of king thoroughbred. Bids mounted rapidly, crackling the air electrically as the figures soared.

Mrs. Payne Whitney, dowager empress of the American turf, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Hay Whitney; Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, seeking another champion like Cavalcade, and a dozen others bid.

Mrs. Mars Gets Colt.

One westerner's voice was raised sure, confident, and tenacious. It was that of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago.

Five thousand—six—seven—eight—nine. Now the ranks of the bidders were thinned to the Whitneys, Mrs. Sloane, and Mrs. Mars. Ten thousands—the younger Mrs. Whitney made this bid—a lull—Tranter coaxed—another lull—more coaxing and pleading by the auctioneer.

Mrs. Mars bid $10,100. There came three loud raps of the gavel. "Going, going, gone," in the stentorian tones of the auctioneer, and the colt, later to be known as Case Ace, belonged to the Chicago woman.

That she had come into possession of a rare bargain became certain soon after the colt was sent to Texas early last spring to be put into training under the supervision of Bob McGarvey.

Waggoner Offers $25,000.

After his first half dozen speed tests Paul Waggoner, wealthy Texan, who owns the Arlington Downs track over which Case Ace was training, sought out McGarvey and made an offer of $25,000 for the colt, which at that time had never started. The offer was refused.

Case Ace came to Kentucky for Churchill Downs' spring meeting. His sensational speed was the talk of the turf colony there. In his one start at Kentucky he won impressively. For a few weeks he was out of training, due to bucked shins. He returned to the races at Arlington Park last week and in his first start there all but ran away from a field of rival Futurity candidates.

So that's the colt that will be the favorite for Arlington's richest racing prize—the Futurity—which shares honors on Arlington's final racing day of the year with the $10,000 Arlington handicap.

TITLE BOUND IN TRIBUNE SWIM

Girls Finish Inches Apart in 100 Yard Swim Final

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In a series of brilliant races yesterday afternoon at the Lincoln park lagoon, five boys and six girls received gold medal awards for supremacy in swimming 100 yards. Their triumphs were witnessed by a crowd of more than 15,000. The competition, in preliminaries and championships, was closer than in any of the preceding six years of these races sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. And the same close battle was carried into the fight for the team trophies.

In the class E championship for girls 19 years of age and over, the judges had difficulty deciding whether Betty Betz, from the Lake Shore Athletic club, won or was tied by Mable Hall of the Peoria, Ill., Country club. Several believed the 100 yard final ended in a dead heat. Others thought Miss Betz was the winner. After consultation with officials, THE TRIBUNE decided that since the decision was so close Miss Hall also should be given a gold medal in addition to the silver medal awarded yesterday. Accordingly a duplicate prize will be ordered and presented later.

Trophy to Madison A. C.

The fight for the girls' team championship trophy, a beautiful silver cup, was decided in favor of the Madison Athletic club by victories in class A and class B and a second place in class C. Thirteen points brought a well deserved triumph to the girls coached by Andy Kovach who have been seeking this title for several years.

Had Miss Betz been given sole credit for victory in class E, the Lake Shore Athletic club would have scored 12 points. By sharing that title with Peoria, the Lake Shore total was cut to 11 points. Regardless, the Lake Shore team, winner last year of the girls' trophy, could not have beaten out the west side team.

Jackson natatorium won the boys' team championship by virtue of one point scored by Earl Gray, who took third place in class A. Champion in that division was Bob Thezan of Jaskson natatorium, and these two boys defeated individual winners from Milwaukee, Clinton, Ia., and Independence park. First place counted five points.

Noteworthy in the list of thirty boys and girls who earned gold, silver, and bronze medals was the third place victory of Fil Kreissl in class C. This was his sixth meet. He represented Northwestern university summer school.

Lorraine Johnsen, winner in girls' class A; Peggy Connelly, the champion in class B, and Patsy Heekin's second place in class C gave the Madison Athletic club its point total. All have competed in The Tribune's 100 yard races for several years.

Betty Wyle Is Winner.

Bob Dillon of Clinton, Ia., class C winner, and Edward Hutchens of the Milwaukee A. C., victor in class D, were the only other non-Chicagoans to win.

The semi-finals in six age classes and the ten championship events were completed in less than an hour. THE TRIBUNE wishes to thank the members of the Tribune A. A. who

CUBS BEAT PHILS, 18-5, AFTER TWO HIT DEFEAT, 4-0

Chicagoans Pound Out 6 Home Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26.—The Cubs were vexed to an extreme degree when Bucky Walter, whom they knocked out yesterday, came back in the first game of today's double-header and held them to two hits while the Phillies administered a 4 to 0 licking to Larry French. To properly register their deep resentment, the Cubs became murderous in the second game, pounded out six home runs and won, 18 to 5. Warneke pitched all the way in this one, and registered his eleventh success of this year, though he was assaulted at times, twice with homers by Dolph Camilli.

The Cubs never were more helpless than they were in the first game. The only hit before Gabby Hartnett smashed a legitimate single with two out in the ninth was an infield scratch by Frank Demaree with two out in the fourth. Grimm and French walked in the third, and Grimm thus became the only Cub to reach second. And this against a gent off whom they made eight hits in three innings yesterday!

Boys Put on Field Day.

Demaree was the big shot of the second game with two homers, three singles, and a walk. Augie Galan made a homer and a single; Ethan Allen hit a homer and two singles besides walking once; Bill Herman drove out a double and three singles; Stan Hack made a homer and a single; Bill Jurges made three singles, and old Papa Grimm hit two singles. But the longest of them all was a homer made by Warneke.

The Cubs accomplished 23 hits in the contest, the increase of 21 hits between the two games being rather encouraging, you might say. Incidentally, French's defeat was his first in two months, the Reds having beaten him on May 27.

FIRST GAME

The Phils, before launching the day's scoring program in the second inning of the first game, were engaged exclusively in infield activity on defense. In the Cub first, Galan whiffed and was thrown out by Atwood. Allen grounded to Chiozza, and Herman tapped to Whitney. In the second inning Hartnett, Demaree, and Hack bounced to Norris.

Chiozza opened the second with a double to left center. Norris flied to Galan. Chiozza stopped at third on Whitney's single to right. Jurges then made a nice stop and threw to get Walter as Chiozza scored. Sulik fouled to Demaree.

Grimm and French Walk.

The Cubs continued hitless in the third, though Galan did succeed in hitting a ball out of the infield. After Jurges had tapped to Whitney, Grimm and French walked. Then Galan flied to Sulik, and Allen was tossed out by Chiozza.

J. Moore opened the home third with a double off the right field soap ad and reached third while Klein was beating out a bunt. Camilli walked for the second time, filling the bases. Jurges made his second spectacular play of the game to knock down Atwood's line drive. Bill's throw to Herman forced Camilli, J. Moore scoring. Chiozza forced Atwood, Klein scoring. Norris popped to Grimm.

Demaree registered the first Chicago hit after two were out in the fourth. It was a dribbler that stopped rolling half way between home and third. Walter then tossed out Hack.

In the seventh the Cubs hit two flies to the outfield. After Hartnett had gone down, Demaree walked, but Hack and Jurges flied to Sulik.

Whitney Slams Out Homer.

French retired the Phils in order in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, but Whitney broke the sequence in

YANKS WIN, 12-3, AND 11-8 IN 11TH; SWEEP SERIES

Offer $5,000 Reward for Fan's Arrest.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox went spinning to double defeat yesterday at the hands of the league leading New York Yankees, but the games, themselves riotous enough, were merely side features. Fifty thousand fans, stirred up by close decisions, went on a bottle tossing, paper tearing spree which was climaxed in the ninth inning of the second game by a hurtling missil striking Umpire Bill Summers in the groin and putting him out of action just as a home run by Zeke Bonura was dropping into the seats to tie the score.

The first game was too one sided to warant excitement. The Yankees started off with a rush against Merritt [Sugar] Cain, scoring five runs in two innings. After that it was merely a ball game that ended with a 12 to 3 score. But the other contest was a real fight, the Sox twice tying the score after John Whitehead had succumbed to a lame arm, only to be wrecked in the eleventh inning when Rookie Red Evans wilted under the pressure of an error. The score was 11 to 8.

Booing Starts Early.

The crowd, at least a portion of it, was in bad humor right at the start. All it wanted to know was which umpire was Charles Johnston, whose hasty banishment of Manager Dykes, Luke Sewell, and Mervyn Shea from Saturday's game stirred up some turbulent moments.

As soon as Johnston's name and location was announced at the start of the first game, there was a resounding blast of raspberries. The booing kept up throughout the game. Torn papers began to float out of the pavilions onto the field. Occasionally a beer can or a bottle was tossed aimlessly. Several times play was halted while a mopup squad removed the débris from the outfield.

The cause of the outbreak in the second game was a decision at first base in the eighth inning when the Sox were trailing, 8 to 7. Rip Radcliff bounced to Lou Gehrig with Luke Sewell on second and Pat Malone, who had taken over the Yankee pitching when the Sox annihilated Bump Hadley in the fifth, covered the base on the play. Umpire Johnston ruled Radcliff out and then turned his back on the play, failing to see that Malone had dropped the ball as he and Radcliff collided.

Fire Switches to Summers.

Radcliff sprinted back to the base, the crowd roared and, Johnston turned to see the ball on the ground. The Yankees rushed at him fearing he would change his decision, but he shooed them off by saying he would seek advice from Umpire Summers, who was working at third base. Summers' verdict, admittedly correct, was that the bump from Radcliff had knocked the ball from Malone's hands after the play was complete.

Johnston was promptly forgotten. The wild boys among the 50,000 turned their attention to Summers. Bottles, beer cans, and citrus fruit showered down around third base. It finally subsided and the Yanks took their turn at bat in the ninth while an occasional bottle dropped on the field. Stray missils continued to sail while the Sox were batting in their half of the inning.

With two out and the Sox one run behind as the result of Lou Gehrig's 30th homer and his second of the day, Bonura sent his 7th homer of the season into the left field seats. Just as the ball landed in the hands of a fan in the left field pavilion, a bottle hit Summers and he curled up. He was revived in a few minutes and walked off the field, leaving the game in charge of Umpires Steve Basil and Johnston.

Landis Offers Reward.

OLYMPIC SQUAD NEARS CONDITION IN HARD DRILLS

Torrance Plays Basketball to Reduce.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 26.—Fear that the American Olympic track team would not be able to reach peak condition in time for the opening of the games next Saturday was allayed today when the athletes engaged in their most satisfactory workout since arriving in Germany.

Coach Lawson Robertson expressed himself well pleased. The extra weight acquired on the boat was regarded as a blessing inasmuch as Robertson will be able to work every one much harder without placing too much of a burden on the athletes.

Don Lash of Indiana was out at 7 o'clock this morning and at 6 tonight. Archie Williams, Jimmy Luvalle, Gene Vanzke and Eddie O'Brien are in the overweight class, while Glenn Hardin and Glenn Cunningham are in such good shape that there is some fear that they will be too fine by race time.

The 400 meter track in the village was the scene of something of an international trafic jam all day long. All nations attempt to drill at the same time. Conditions were so crowded many athletes moved to other fields.

Most of the Japanese went to another field, but Asakuma, the high jumper, lingered long enough to gain the Americans' respect from a takeoff soft mattress and with his pullovers on he jumped six feet four inches.

Play in Cornfield.

A cornfield was used for basketball practice today. It was the third real scrimmage for the Americans and they hit the nets as though they had not missed a day's practice in weeks, gauging baskets with such monotonous regularity that the Japanese and Peruvian players looked on in open mouth wonder. Japan's squad averages five feet five, the Peruvian

ELEANOR STAYS OVER

BERLIN, July 26.—(AP)—Cablegrams and a box of handkerchiefs showered in on Eleanor Holm Jarrett, ousted American Olympic swimmer, today as the pretty backstroke champion grinned and said she would stay in Berlin awhile.

Visiting the Olympic pool for the first time—as sightseer, not swimmer—she debated her future course. Among the offers she received was one for an American vaudeville tour.

Smilingly, Mrs. Jarrett disclosed her former teammates among the American women swimmers had sent her a box of handkerchiefs, with the note: "Keep your chin up."

group five feet eight, and the Americans six feet four. The Americans did not care for the dirt underfooting. It ruined their quick breaking, starting, and stopping as well as their pivoting.

Jack Torrance has been added to the basketball squad temporarily When the Louisiana mammoth set his world shot put record in 1934 he was the all-southern conference center. He stopped playing basketball and promptly gained 50 pounds. He has been losing that at the rate of eight daily now.

Forty-two Star yachts, the largest fleet of one design sloops ever to start in a race at one time, competed in the opening race of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's race week, yesterday. The race, first of a series of seven, was won from start to finish by the new Twin Star.

The prevailing southeast wind was ideal for Lockwood M. [Woodie] Pirie, Twin Star's owner-skipper, and John Pirie, his brother and crew.

At the finish, the leader's overlap on the second boat was said to be the largest observed in any race ever held here. Twin Star's elapsed time, 1 hour 55 minutes and 44 seconds, was nearly 25 minutes better than the runner-up. Kamo, Russell P. Moon's entry from the Chicago Yacht club, was second. Emerson Raymond's Dolphin was third. Both Twin Star and Dolphin represent the Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Other stars in the series represent the Columbia, Jackson Park, Illinois Valley, St. Joseph River [Mich.], and Two Rivers [Wis.] Yacht clubs.

Commodore George [Pop] Corry, owner of Star boat No. 1, Little Dipper, was here for the first time as guest of the club. The commodore still sails his 22 footer on Manhasset Bay, N. Y., and may sail on one of the local Stars during race week.

SMILIN' JACK—THE DREAM BUSTER

SMITTY—ON HIS SHOULDERS

In the WAKE of the NEWS

GRANVILLE AS CHAMPION.

GRANVILLE of the Gallant Fox family is acclaimed 3 year old turf champion of 1936 following his victory in the Classic stakes at Arlington Park Saturday. There is a minority which asks how can the title be awarded to a colt which was beaten by Bold Venture in the Preakness and lost three nose finishes this year.

Whether Granville or Bold Venture would be the better colt at this time must remain a matter of opinion because the Kentucky and Preakness winner went wrong in preparation for the Belmont and now is out of training. This pair was in two major stakes together.

Bold Venture won the Kentucky Derby while Granville unseated his rider in the jam at the start. In the Preakness, Bold Venture came from far back and caught Granville in the stretch. It was a desperate struggle with Granville seemingly rallying again after losing the lead and many thought the Belair colt would have won in a few more strides. It was a camera nose finish. Some turf experts thought the difference between Jocky Woolf, a strong finisher, and Jocky Jimmy Stout was the race.

That nose margin, however, is hardly enough to determine definitly relative supremacy.

After being nosed out by Firethorn in the Suburban handicap, an all age event, queries began as to Granville's courage. He answered that in the Belmont handicap at 1½ miles when he emerged victorious after a long stretch drive against Mr. Bones.

It was Mr. Bones' showing that day which gave him followers Saturday at the shorter distance of 1¼ miles, since Mr. Bones this time had a five pound pull in weight. Granville's disposal of Mr. Bones was much more emphatic than in the Belmont. He also gave away weight to all others in the field, comprising the best in training at this time, in a contest truly run with a minimum of interference.

If Granville, who comes from a line which seems to improve in the fall, isn't a standout champion on his record this season, he at least looms as the best of those now striving for the honor and must be given the title unless something comes along later and beats him.

Incidentally, winning three of eight Classics by descendants of Sir Gallahad III. is a notable achievement for the Belair stud of William Woodward, New York banker.

Final Day of All-Star Poll Breaks Record

West Coast Polls Heavy Vote.

San Francisco, 2,500 miles away from Soldiers' field, where the game will be played, showed almost equal enthusiasm. Fans voting through the Chronicle were as enthusiastic in support of Bay district players as were supporters of midwest candidates. St. Mary's, Stanford, and California athletes dominated the poll. At center, for instance, the Saturday vote was Jorgenson, St. Mary's, 4,017; Muller, Stanford, 724; Jones, Ohio State, 151, and Rennebohm, Minnesota, 32. The final day's voting for half backs in San Francisco follows: Cassidy, St. Mary's, 3,566; Hamilton, Stanford, 2,176; Schreiber, St. Mary's, 789; Shakespeare, Notre Dame, 190; Wallace, Rice, 108.

Crayne of Iowa polled 10,578 in the Iowa City Iowan returns Saturday. The fact that Beise of Minnesota got only 73 votes is evidence of Crayne's popularity in the town where he established his football reputation. The Des Moines Register added substantially to Crayne's total. His vote there Saturday was 6,866, compared to 1,569 for Beise, and 1,477 for Grayson. Berwanger rolled up 6,065 at half back, while Shakespeare was collecting 2,441, barely enough to keep ahead of Hoover of Iowa, who had 2,298. Moscrip of Stanford was given almost as many votes in the Register's last day poll as Crayne. He had 6,752. Millner of Notre Dame was second choice at end with 4,959.

The Champaign News Gazette piled up 8,625 for Ed Gryboski, Illinois guard; 4,843 for Chuck Galbreath, tackle, and 4,675 each for Arvo Antilla, guard, and Les Lindberg, half back.

30,000 More for Leemans.

The Washington Herald forwarded 30,000 each for Tuffy Leemans, half back, and Paul Tangora, guard, but the sports department there wasn't half through with its job. Late Saturday night we had this wire of Bernie Harter, sports editor of the Herald: "Your announcement that Leemans has qualified for the All-Star squad has thrilled Washington. You never have seen such enthusiasm as prevails here. Votes are rolling in by the thousands. Chain drug stores, government departments, and hundreds of loyal boosters have blanketed the city with petitions for our two candidates. Add 30,000 to your total and we will try to give you a complete figure tomorrow night."

HANLEY SUMS UP CAPABILITIES OF ALL-STAR BACKS

Finds College Players a Versatile Crew.

[This is the third of a series of articles by Dick Hanley, former Northwestern coach, who helped to direct the first College All-Star team in 1934. Mr. Hanley now classes himself as a La Salle street coach, one of that group which takes delight in second guessing the football coaches in the fall.]

BY DICK HANLEY.

How do you like your back field? Big, strong, and rugged? Fast, elusive, and shifty? Four triple theaters?

Take your choice, because the College All-Star squad will have every type and variety of yardage getters known to football on the night of Sept. 1.

For your speedsters Andy Pilney of Notre Dame and Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist are the standouts. For your all-purpose backs Jay Berwanger of Chicago, Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame, Bobby Grayson of Stanford, and George Roscoe of Minnesota are tops.

Do you want human power houses? Then trot out Sheldon Beise of Minnesota, Dick Crayne of Iowa, Irwin of Colgate, Bones Hamilton of Stanford, Pepper Constable of Princeton, or Dick Heekin of Ohio State.

Do you want blocking quarter backs? Riley Smith of Alabama, one of the best I've had the good fortune to see in action; Babe Le Voir and Glenn Seidel, Minnesota's twin signal callers of the last three years, and Wally Fromhart of Notre Dame can take care of this job for you.

A Versatile Crowd.

If the assignment calls for a great job of blocking and a capable passing left hand, I nominate Wally Cruice of Northwestern. If quick kicking is to be an important offensive weapon—and it better be, what with Dutch Clark and Glenn Presnell, the Detroit Lions' two great safety men, back to field regulation punts—then Dick Crayne leads that department. In Bill Shakespeare the All-Stars have America's most consistent punter.

But why go further? Everything that is needed to make the greatest set of backs ever to play together is awaiting the attention of the All-Star coach. Speed, an attribute every good back must possess, is certainly present. Even the power house lads are fast.

Watch Lions' Pass Defense.

Passing is bound to play an important part in THE TRIBUNE'S third annual All-Star game. If the Lions have a vulnerable spot, it lies in their pass defense. And if the All-Stars have a weakness, one must put his finger on this department. True, Shakespeare can toss them long, wide, and handsome. Pilney, should his pitching arm be in the shape it happened to be in the Ohio State-Notre Dame battle, will give the Lions a few headaches. Wilson pitches 'em short and long. Cruice throws well from the port side.

Defensively the All-Star back field has everything. The backs can tackle, and have the speed to get to the spot where they can do the most good. Line backers are plentiful.

Give the Lions the advantage in passing, and they will do plenty of it. They also get the nod on the field goal kicking department. The pro champions probably will handle the ball a bit more deftly, but that's as far as their advantages go.

Salvatore, Day Clash Tonight at Ten Rounds

Davey Day, 22 year old Chicago boxer, tonight will renew his campaign for recognition as a leading contender for lightweight honors in a ten round return bout with Geno Salvatore, 1930, '31, and '32 Streator, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves champion, at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Day, who defeated Geno by a narrow margin in their previous meeting last October, was named Illinois' No. 1 challenger by the Illinois boxing commission following his ten round victory over Patsy Severo at the Marigold arena June 17 of last year. He didn't hold the position very long, however. Following a ten round draw with Joe Ghnouly, Missouri's best 135 pounder, at Kansas City a month later, Day lost to Al Roth in ten rounds at New York, July 29. This unexpected defeat cost Davey his previous high standing.

Two contests at five rounds, a pair at four rounds, and a wrestling exhibition comprises the supporting card. Carl Fasnaugh, Toledo, O., faces Art Brewer; Pete Lello, Michigan City, Ind., opposes Bill Reardon; Pat Robertson, New York, clashes with Lenny Cohen, and Nick Peters, San Antonio, Tex., meets Willie Lorenz.

Dave Levin, New York heavyweight wrestler, tonight will meet George Zaharias at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. This will be a one fall, ninety minute time limit match. The supporting card:

GIANTS AND REDS SPLIT; TRIPLE PLAY IS MADE

New York, July 26.—(AP)—The Giants took third place today by splitting with the Cincinnati Reds. They dropped the second game, 5 to 2, after taking the opener, 5 to 4. A three run rally in the last of the ninth saved the first game for the Giants. A triple play featured the first game, with the Reds playing the last five innings under protest because of it. In the second game homers accounted for all the Reds' runs.

The triple play came with Kiki Cuyler and Les Scarsella on base. Hank Leiber took Ernie Lombardi's long fly and passed the ball to Joe Moore, who threw it to Dick Bartell at second base. Bartell relayed it to third and Eddie Mayo doubled Cuyler. Mayo then threw to Leslie, catching Scarsella off first.

DICK TRACY,—Two Miles Out

Sox Lose to Yanks; Umpire Hit by Bottle

pealed to the fans over the loud speaker to conduct themselves in sportsmanlike manner. He warned them a continuation of the riotous demonstration would result in the forfeiture of a game the Sox had a chance to win. Mingled cheers and boos followed his appeal, but the bottle throwing ceased.

A bit later Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, who was present, instructed the park announcer to inform the crowd he would offer a $5,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person guilty of hitting Summers. This set off another salvo of booes.

The three runs with which the Yanks decided the second game in the eleventh didn't involve homers, which at least made it different from the first struggle in which three Yanks drove balls out of the park. The start of the winning rally was a wild throw to first by Jack Hayes which enabled Gehrig to go all the way to second. Selkirk bunted and Dykes went back to third to take a throw from Evans, but the latter failed to pick up the ball. Gehrig scored on Lazzeri's tap to Appling. A double by Pinch Hitter Johnson sent Selkirk home and the third run scored on Malone's long fly.

FIRST GAME

The Yankees contributed only one hit to their two run first inning in the opening game, but enjoyed other help. After Crosetti had fanned, Rolfe walked and Di Maggio survived on Appling's fumble. Rolfe took third on the error and scored on Gehrig's deep fly to Rosenthal. Selkirk slipped a two bagger down the right field line, scoring Di Maggio.

Broaca had the pleasure of helping to arrange the setting for Gehrig's devasting three run homer in the second inning. He led off with a single and was forced by Crosetti. Rolfe singled and when the Sox had finished throwing the ball around the runners were on second and third. Gehrig then planted his homer in the upper right field deck.

Sox Perk Up.

After going through four innings on two hits, the Sox bunched three in the fifth and picked up a pair of runs. Cain singled with one out. Radcliff also singled and advanced with Cain on Rosenthal's infield out. They scored on a single dropped into short right by Kreevich.

The Yankees weren't slow about recovering their five run margin. In the sixth Hoag beat out a bunt to Dykes and hardly had time to take a deep breath at first before Lazzari banged No. 11 into the left field stand.

What happened to Chelini in the seventh is interesting only because of the severity of the bruising. Rolfe opened with a single and Di Maggio hoisted No. 16 intc the left field seats. Gehrig walked, moved up on a bunt and scored on Hoag's single. Lazzeri walked and after Jorgens had been thrown out, Broaca singled again to score Hoag and Lazzeri.

Broaca took things easy in the ninth. He walked Piet, who batted for Evans, and Radcliff. The next two men were nipped, but Bonura doubled to left and Piet scored. A pass to Appling filled the bases, but Hayes ended it with a pop foul to Jorgens.

SECOND GAME

The Yanks enjoyed a one run lead for a few minutes in the first inning of the second game. Crosetti led off with a single and Rolfe walked. Di Maggio sent a long fly to Rosenthal and Crosetti started for third after the catch. Rosenthal's throw hit the runner and rolled to the stand, so Crosetti continued to the plate.

Radcliff opened the home first with a single to left and Rosenthal bounced a single past Lazzeri, Radcliff going to third. Rip scored while Kreevich was forcing Rosenthal. Hadley thought Bonura looked dangerous, so he walked him. Appling was disposed of on a tap to Lazzeri, after which Hayes doubled to left center, Kreevich and Bonura scoring.

The third inning in which Whitehead was forced out was quiet until after two had been retired. Rolfe then beat out a bunt and scored on Di Maggio's triple off the wall in right. Whitehead's arm began to weaken and he walked Gehrig and Selkirk. After pitching one ball to Hoag, he stopped to complain to Dykes about his difficulties. He decided to try it again, but threw two more wide ones. Then he quit, Brown came to the rescue with a 3 to 0 count on Hoag and made the hitter roll to Hayes.

The Sox made it 4 to 2 with a run in their half of the third. Kreevich nicked Hadley for a double to right and scored on Appling's single. But the Yanks immediately responded with three in the fourth off Brown. Singles by Glenn and Hadley and doubles by Crosetti and Rolfe did all this damage.

Sox Tie Score.

Two more Yanks scored and Brown went away in the fifth. Hoag launched the attack with a triple and scored on Lazzeri's fly. Glenn walked and Hadley was tossed out. Crosetti walked, then Rolfe doubled, scoring Glenn. Dietrich made his Sox debut here and halted the uprising on Di Maggio's fly to Rosenthal.

When the Sox completed their half of the fifth they were back in a tie and Hadley was no longer present. Radcliff and Rosenthal singled and Kreevich filled the bases by beating out a hit to short. One more pitched ball and all of them were home, and Hadley was out. Bonura hit the first pitch off the left field score board for a double. The next three fellows were easy for Rescuer Malone.

But in the sixth the Yanks were back in front, 8 to 7, put there by Gehrig's thirtieth home run. And it stayed that way until Bonura tied it with his homer.

DOUBTS RAISING RESERVES WILL STOP INFLATION

New York Bank Cites Need for Balanced Budget.

"Excess bank reserves represent only one aspect—and, in the long run, not the most important aspect—of the menace of inflation," the Guaranty Trust company said in its monthly survey, issued yesterday. "Regardless of federal reserve policy, a balanced national budget is absolutely essential to the preservation of a sound currency."

Declaring that the changing of reserve requirements is a device that should be invoked only "when there is a clear and urgent need of control," the survey added that as long as they were going to do it the federal reserve authorities might better have gone all the way and doubled the requirements.

Find Banks Still Uncertain.

Exercise of the full power would have avoided keeping member banks in a state of constant uncertainty, the survey declared, "although it is gratifying to note that the board of governors recognizes that frequent changes in reserve requirements should be avoided and that current adjustments of the reserve position of member banks should continue to be made by the traditional methods of discount policy and open market operations.

"The most pronounced reaction occurred in the market for government bonds, where considerable selling took place, with a rather marked decline in prices. The selling, however, appeared to originate mainly with dealers and individual holders, not with banks attempting to strengthen their reserve position by liquidating part of their holdings."

Little Effect on Money Rates.

On the possibility of some advance in money rates as a result of the higher reserve requirements, the survey observed "thus far, no consequences have appeared beyond a slight firming tendency in rates on treasury and bankers' bills."

"To the extent that the action of the board constitutes an anti-inflationary gesture and indicates a determination on the part of the banking authorities to resist inflationary expectations," it said, "the increase in reserve requirements may reasonably be interpreted as diminishing the likelihood and the probable magnitude of an ultimate price inflation, and thus as representing a conservative market influence.

Debates Effect on Prices.

"However, the extent to which present price levels rest upon inflationary expectations, rather than upon the outlook for sound and orderly business recovery, is an open question. As far as the general business situation is concerned, it is quite conceivable that the lowering of excess reserves may have a stimulating influence, rather than the reverse.

"In so far as the action of the federal reserve authorities serves to quiet the fear of an ultimate inflationary rise in the general level of prices, its effect on the business outlook, and particularly on prospects for the durable goods industries, may reasonably be regarded as constructive."

FIELD REPORTS $124,990 PROFIT IN 2D QUARTER

Has Best First Half Result Since '30.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Net profit of Marshall Field & Co. and subsidiaries for the second quarter of 1936 amounted to $124,990 as compared with a loss of $400,640 in the corresponding 1935 period, according to the quarterly report to stockholders made public yesterday by James O. McKinsey, chairman of the board.

JAMES O. McKINSEY. [Moffett Photo.]

The second quarter profit enabled the company to offset a loss of $94,532 incurred in the first quarter and show a profit for the first six months of this year of $30,458. This was the first time since 1930 that the company has shown a profit for the first half of the year. Normally the second half of the year produces the largest earnings.

Result of Economies.

Economies resulting from a reorganization of the company's operations, which included discontinuance of jobbing of wares not manufactured by the company's subsidiaries, were reported to have been largely responsible for the improved showing. The company now sells at wholesale only merchandise which it manufactures.

Losses incurred in the first half of the year from 1931 to 1935 were as follows: 1931, $1,300,600; 1932, $6,401,100; 1933, $2,375,400; 1934, $1,907,000, and 1935 $843,400.

Sales of the company in the second quarter of this year totaled $24,506,056 as compared with $24,704,259 in the second quarter of 1935 when Marshall Field & Co. was more active in the jobbing business. In the first quarter of this year sales totaled $23,811,415 as compared with $23,151,856.

Comparison of Sales.

McKinsey pointed out that if the lines of merchandise which have been discontinued as a result of the company ceasing to operate as a jobber are eliminated, the sales for the first two quarters of 1936 as compared with the like periods of 1936 would compare as follows:

	1936.	1935.	Increase.
Total	$47,134,671	$41,156,256	14.5

The first quarter improvement in 1936 over the like quarter of 1935 was $348,202, the second quarter improvement was $525,630, making the improvement for the first half of this year $873,832 over the first half of 1935.

For the entire year 1935 Marshall Field & Co. had a net profit of $199,176. With the last half of the year ahead, it is indicated that the company should show a substantial profit for its 1936 operations. In 1929 the company had a net profit of $9,218,713. The largest loss during the depression, $7,987,227, was incurred in 1932.

SALES OF STOCK EASE IN JUNE, BONDS INCREASE

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—A drop in stock sales on registered exchanges in June and a sharp increase in bond sales were reported today by the Securities and Exchange commission. Dollar value of all sales on the exchanges was set at $1,447,926,966, an increase of 1.1 per cent over May and 13.4 per cent over the same month a year ago.

Stock sales were reported at $1,164,147,431, a decrease of 4.8 per cent under May, and bond sales at $238,772,216, an increase of 36 per cent over that month.

The New York stock and curb exchanges accounted for 95.6 per cent of the security sales, as measured by value, the commision said. Sales on the stock exchange were listed at $1,233,278,192 and on the curb exchange at $150,585,562, compared with May transactions of $1,241,654,581 and $132,919,204, respectively.

Reports from Chicago exchanges, together with the figures for May, follow: Chicago Board of Trade, $110,563 and $102,529; Chicago Curb Exchange association, $277,207 and $123,999, and Chicago Stock exchange, $13,766,076 and $12,680,438.

Prices of New York Bank Stocks Climb 5½ Per Cent

The rise in New York bank stocks last week was calculated by Hoit, Rose & Troster, dealers, at the equivalent of $105,389,000, or 5.54 per cent. At the close of the period sixteen leading issues had an aggregate market value of $2,006,644,000. At the week's high, slightly above this figure, the shares were quoted at the best levels so far this year.

White Motor Company Has First Profit Since 1930

White Motor company, Cleveland, in the first half of 1936 realized its first net profit since the midyear statement in 1930. Net income for the six months was $287,421, or 45 cents a share on 625,000 outstanding capital shares, against a deficit of $851,573 for the comparable period last year.

World Price of Wheat Now Set by Canada

THOMAS FURLONG.

Canada is again playing the rôle of price maker for the world wheat market. Not, as in other recent years, is it a question of what the dominion will do with its wheat surplus. It is a question of how much wheat Canada will have to sell in the world market.

For years an abnormally large reserve of wheat in Canada has depressed the price throughout the world. Today the reserve stocks are at the lowest point in several years and the dominion faces the prospect of the smallest harvest since 1919.

The small Canadian harvest occurs in a year when the crop in the United States is again below domestic needs and production in Europe will show an estimated reduction of 80 million bushels from last season.

Canadian Crop Estimate Cut.

Canada's crop is estimated in the neighborhood of 250 million bushels, or 25 million bushels less than in 1935 and the smallest yield in 17 years. Reserve stocks carried over from last season will approximate 125 million bushels at the end of July, which marks the close of the dominion's "crop" year. This means a total supply of about 375 million bushels.

The deterioration in the crop in the western provinces in the last week is estimated by some statisticians to have cut 25 million bushels from the prospective harvest. The reduction in the Canadian crop means a corresponding cut in the world's available supplies, which for the first time in many years do not provide a comfortable margin over prospective requirements.

Surplus Sold at Higher Prices.

Canada has marketed her wheat surplus over the last several months at steadily advancing prices and she will have no problem in disposing of the balance of her stocks on the basis of the present world outlook. The United States will import upward of 40 million bushels of Canadian wheat to take care of the shortage in the domestic harvest.

Wheat prices made moderate advances in Chicago last week. The market absorbed hedging sales incident to the movement of the winter wheat crop to market and at the same time the price level rose.

Corn prices continued to advance last week.

Corn Yield May Be Fair.

Over a large part of the corn producing belt the prospects are still regarded as favorable, although drouth and heat have done irreparable damage. Although final production may fall below the 1935 total of 2,203,000,000 bushels, there does not appear to be much likelihood that the meager harvest of 1,428,000,000 bushels of 1934 will be repeated.

The following table shows the range of prices in grain futures for the week:

Baldwin Plan Accepted by Majority of Bondholders

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Baldwin Locomotive works announced today it has acceptances of its proposed plan of reorganization in excess of the minimum amounts required under the bankruptcy act from the holders of its first mortgage bonds, consolidated mortgage bonds, and preferred stock. Acceptances from holders of about 97,000 additional shares of the outstanding common stock, the company states, are required to permit it to make application to the court for final confirmation of the plan.

Electrical Refrigerator Shipments Rise 30 Pct.

Based on shipments for the first six months, production of electric refrigerators for 1936, says Dun & Bradstreet, has been estimated at 2,235,000 units, a gain of 30 per cent over the 1935 peak of 1,719,369.

PENNSYLVANIA REVENUES SHOW 14% INCREASE

Schenley Distillers Profit Eases.

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Net railway operating income of the Pennsylvania railroad in June, before fixed charges and other income, was $6,707,931, an increase of $464,297 over June, 1935.

Operating revenues in the month amounted to $36,013,833, a gain of $4,337,238, or nearly 14 per cent, over the 1936 comparative figure.

Passenger revenues in the first full month the new low fares were effective increased $326,670, or 6.6 per cent, above June, 1935. In the first 5 months of the year, the company stated, passenger revenue ran approximately 10 per cent ahead of the same period in 1935.

Revenues Show Gain.

Operating revenues for the six month period ended June 30 totaled $204,968,166, an increase of $26,114,217, or 14.6 per cent, as compared with the similar period of 1935. Net railway operating income was $35,180,994 for the six month period, an increase of $1,782,403, or 5.3 per cent, over the first half of 1935.

Improved business enabled the Chicago and North Western railroad to have June operating income of $158,922, as compared with a loss of $392,428 for June, 1935. June operating revenues totaled $8,322,142, as compared with $6,510,949 last year. This was offset largely by an increase of $1,115,281 in operating costs. For the first six months of this year the road had an operating cost of $1,570,468, as compared with a railway operating income of $275,273 in the corresponding period of 1935.

Schenley Income Eases.

A moderate decline in net income for the three months ended with June compared with the like 1935 period was reported today by the Schenley Distillers corporation and subsidiaries, operating plants chiefly in Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

Net totaled $1,326,749, equal to $1.06 a share on the capital stock, against $1,443,030, or $1.38 a share, in the comparable months last year.

For the half year net income amounted to $3,065,948, equal to $2.52 a share, compared with $3,030,652, or $2.89 a share, in the 1935 period. The 1936 profit was after provision for preferred stock dividends. There was no preferred outstanding at the end of the first half of 1935.

Anaconda Has Increase.

Anaconda Wire and Cable company and subsidiaries, with plants at Great Falls, Mont., Muskegon, Mich., in Illinois and Indiana and other industrial areas, showed in a preliminary report for the second quarter net income of $632,148, equal to $1.50 a share, compared with $251,869 or 60 cents a share in the comparable quarter last year.

The Natomas California Gold Dredging and Land company for the second quarter reported net income of $282,315, equivalent to 28 cents a share. This compared with $293,752 or 29 cents a share in the second quarter of 1935.

National Dairy Profit Up.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—The National Dairy Products corporation reported today for the six months ended on June 30 a consolidated net income of $5,928,096 after provision for interest, depreciation, and the normal federal income tax. The profit was equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 89 cents each on 6,263,165 common shares outstanding, and it compared with $3,464,898, or 49 cents a common share, earned in the first half of 1935.

In the first half of this year sales amounted to $156,970,891, compared with $139,749,170 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 12.3 per cent. The company said no deductions had been made from earnings for the federal surtax on undistributed profits.

Common stockholders may buy one preferred share at $50 for each seven shares of common held. The offering totals 30,000 shares, with rights to expire Aug. 3. The preferred is convertible into common at three shares of common for one share of preferred until June 30, 1938; into 2½ shares of common until June 30, 1941; and thereafter into two shares of common.

A registration statement covering 195,000 shares of common stock of the Soss Manufacturing company, manufacturers of hinges for the automobile, building, furniture and airplane industries, will be filed this week with the Securities and Exchange commission, C. J. Soss, treasurer of the company, announced yesterday.

Of the 195,000 shares, 96,285 shares will be publicly offered by a banking group headed by Tobey & Co. Of this amount, 93,061 shares will be offered for the account of present stockholders and proceeds from the balance will be used for general corporate purposes.

SEC WILL OPEN INVESTING TRUST INQUIRY TODAY

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission will launch public hearings tomorrow in a broad investigation of investment trusts and investment companies. Acting under congressional direction, the commission already has conducted field studies and received returns to questionnaires in its inquiry into investment policies, relationships, and activities of the trusts and companies.

The commission said in a statement that among other matters information would be sought at the hearings on "the control and influence exercised by investment trusts over companies in which the trusts are interested" and the influence exerted upon policies of trusts by interests affiliated with management of the trusts.

Contents of trusts' portfolios, the volume of securities transactions, and financial statements also will be examined. The hearings will get under way with a study of some of the predecessor companies of the Equity Corporation of New York.

CHICAGO WHOLESALE TRADE GOOD; AUTUMN MARKETS NEXT WEEK

The period preceding the opening of the annual fall markets turned the attention of Chicago business to wholesale trade channels last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

Merchants from all over the middle west and northwest were reported sending in reservations for the events beginning Aug. 3. A number are due today for some of the preliminaries.

The domestic trade department of the association termed reservations for the interstate merchants' council "spectacular," because of "the excellent trade in summer lines throughout all of Chicago's trade area." Some backwardness is noted in drouth sections.

Summer apparel and millinery have been exhausted by most retail merchants, the association said, and the second lines of fall apparel are already on the market at a time when the first lines usually are just coming in. Substantial commitments have been made for fall and winter in men's furnishings.

Meat Packers Report Upturn in Production

Production of packing house commodities at inspected slaughtering establishments in the United States last month was within 5½ per cent of the 1926-'35 average for June, according to the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. Plant operations at that level represented a gain of 10 per cent over May and of 40½ per cent over the record low volume of June last year. June proved the busiest month for packers this year since January.

Sales tonnage last month expanded by 9½ per cent over May, the report said, although a May-June decline is usual.

Sales Exceed Production.

Material for farmers, packers, retailers, and consumers to conjure with, in the light of the 1936 drouth, is the bank's statement that packers' sales tonnage ran slightly larger than current production, 29 per cent greater than last June, and only 3 per cent below average.

"Though only slightly under a year ago," the bank said, "inventories of packing house commodities in the United States showed more than a normal reduction on July 1 from the beginning of June and were one-third smaller than the 1931-'35 average for the date."

Dollar Sales Show Increase.

Dollar sales billed to domestic and foreign customers increased 6 per cent in June over May; they were 10 per cent above a year previous and they slightly exceeded the 1926-'35 average for June.

Pay rolls of the industry showed somewhat larger increases over a year earlier in June than they did in May and were substantially higher in June than in May, the bank's figures disclosed.

Both imports and exports of packing house commodities were larger in June than in May.

NEARLY 13,000 CCC MEMBERS QUIT TO ACCEPT JOBS

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—A report that nearly 13,000 members of the Civilian Conservation corps left to accept private jobs during June was made public today by Director Robert Fechner, with the comment that this was largely attributable to "a general improvement in business conditions."

Fechner, who asserted the practical type of education given the enrollees also was responsible, said the 12,995 discharged last month was the largest group since the corps was reduced to a maximum of 350,000. Total discharges during the twelve months ended June 30 were 145,531, a monthly average of more than 12,000.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES AGAINST SUMMER TREND

Rate of 70½% Near Peak for Year.

Operations in the nation's steel mills last week increased 2 points to 70½ per cent of plant capacity, thus narrowing the gap for the customary summer decline in the industry, the magazine Steel said yesterday.

Large consumption accounted for the rise and the national average was only 1 point below the high mark of this year, which was reached by the industry during the week of June 27. Last year operations at this time were 45 per cent and in 1934 they were 29½ per cent, Steel reported.

Operations last week in the Pittsburgh district made an unusual gain of 4 points to 67 per cent of capacity, while the rate in eastern Pennsylvania district was up 1½ points to 50½ per cent, highest since before the start of the depression, according to Steel.

Other Districts Show Gains.

At Youngstown operations were up 2 points to 78 per cent; at Wheeling, 8 points to 89 per cent; at Cleveland, 34 points to 85 per cent; at Birmingham, 6 points to 58 per cent; at New England, 15 points to 78 per cent. Cincinnati was down 4 points to 76 per cent, and the other districts remained unchanged.

"Although considerable divergence is apparent in the trend of some of the markets," Steel said, "demand in some lines has more than offset declines in others. A disposition toward the building up of inventories has become more pronounced among certain consumers."

The journal pointed out that many observers believe volume will be supported substantially into August, even though operations may fluctuate from week to week in the near future in some districts.

Consumers Ask Rush Shipments.

One of the unusual features of the current activity of the steel industry is the insistence for rush shipments from some consumers, Steel said. The unseasonally high demand for wire is another aspect arousing considerable comment in steel quarters. Tin plate operations are holding at the high rate of 95 per cent.

Further strength developed in scrap and Steel's price composite is up 21 cents to $13.12, marking the fourth consecutive weekly rise.

VALUE OF FARM LANDS REPORTED ON STABLE BASIS

Excessive Speculation Is Seen as Ended.

New York, July 26.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers tonight issued a report which said "excessive speculation in farm lands appears at last to have ended and opportunities for farm operators to rent land or purchase on equitable terms are now restored."

The report, prepared by the association's committee on agricultural cooperation, was stated to be based on an analysis of the relationship between farm commodity prices and the market value of farm real estate.

Headed by Lewis Brown.

The committee was headed by Lewis H. Brown, president of the Johns-Manville corporation.

The report said the theory that desirable land is too scarce to supply the earth's needs, and that the lack would become aggravated by population growth and land deterioration through erosion and soil exhaustion, "has been thoroughly disproved by nature."

Increases Slow Down.

"In recent years the population increase has slowed down over much of the world; the demand for farm products is increasing more slowly than it did during the first quarter of the century; and modern scientific advancement is making possible the use of great quantities of agricultural materials once allowed to deteriorate wherever they grew."

"This committee hasn't a farm plan," Brown said, "and I trust it never will have one. In no case will we attempt to tell the farmer how to run his business. The primary purpose of the committee is to learn all we can about the farm problem and transmit it to manufacturers as a means of developing a more sympathetic understanding."

RFC WILL OPEN BIDS ON FIFTY MUNICIPAL ISSUES

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation announced today bids would be opened here Aug. 11 on 50 issues of securities of municipalities, counties and school districts of 28 states and Alaska aggregating $5,007,900.

The listing included: Knoxville, Ill., $18,000 in four per cent water revenue bonds; Mount Prospect, Ill., $14,000 in four per cent water revenue bonds; Roseville, Ill., $7,200 in four per cent waterworks bonds.

Calumet and Hecla Cons. Copper.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information concerning Calumet and Hecla. What made the stock go to $14 in such a hurry? What has caused it to slump? Do you consider it a good stock or should I get rid of it? —M. P. D.

Answer: Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company is the leading copper producer in the Lake Superior district. It was formed in 1929 by consolidation of a group of mines, including the Calumet and Hecla, which dates back to 1871. It also has substantial interest in the neighboring mines not owned, and is seeking to broaden its activities by entering the gold mining field.

No tangible results of the proposed venture into gold mining have been shown yet, though the company has an 85 per cent interest in the Ishpeming [Mich.] Gold Mining company and an option to purchase Goldfield Consolidated Mines company in Nevada. The management said there is "nothing discouraging" in progress made.

Ore reserves at main copper mines are reported becoming limited, though considered sufficient for at least several more years' operations.

Unfavorable market conditions after 1929 made it impossible for Calumet and Hecla, a relatively high cost producer, to operate at a profit.

In the last year and a half, however, price conditions have improved to the extent that the company has been able to show a profit before charges for depletion of its ore reserves.

Sales of copper shrank from a peak of $20,666,000 in 1929 to a low of $1,481,000 in 1932. Record net income of $7,365,000, or $3.67 a share before $2,038,000 depletion charges in 1929 contrasted with loss of $3,042,000 before $500,000 depletion charges in 1932.

By 1934 sales had recovered to $4,026,000 and net loss was trimmed to $944,000 before depletion of $924,000.

Sales were up to $5,977,000 in 1935 and the company reported net income of $672,000, or 33 cents a share before depletion charges of $1,289,000.

In the first quarter of 1936 net income was $680,000, or 34 cents a share, before $534,000 depletion, compared with $21,000 or 1 cent a share in the first quarter of 1935.

As a result of the improved situation a dividend of 25 cents a share was paid June 1, 1936. It was the first since 1930.

Though conditions are better in the industry, the stock continues to be speculative. We do not attempt to account for market activity, though earnings and the dividend action probably had something to do with recent movements of Calumet and Hecla.

GOOD EARNINGS REPORTS HELP BOOST STOCKS

Industrial Shares Lead Upturn in Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Excellent second quarter earnings reports by leading corporations, unusually well sustained activity in most lines of trade, steadily mounting figures on railway freight car loadings and other statistical evidence of continued industrial recovery keep the stock list pointing higher in spite of its traditional seasonal handicaps.

Last Tuesday marked the twelfth consecutive day of advancing price "averages" on the movement. There was some readjustment of the figures on Wednesday and another small fractional setback on Friday, but the index on fifty representative issues wound up the week at 134.06, or within less than a quarter of a point of its high for the year, which means for the period dating back to the early days of the depression.

Steels and Motors Active.

Steel, motor and other industrial stocks, as usual, claimed the most attention of the week, but the rails made a little better showing than they have in other recent weeks, and the utilities came in for some further constructive attention on the growing belief that better times are ahead for them, thanks to the changing front in the political situation. Trading was only moderately active, turnover for the week totaling about 7,732,140 shares.

A feature of the period was the $4 extra dividend announcement by the Chrysler corporation made late Friday afternoon. The "good news" sent the price of Chrysler common kiting more than 3½ points to a new high of 121⅞, which compares with its low for the year of 85½. General Motors, Packard, Hudson, and other issues of the group shared in the surge of week-end enthusiasm for the group.

Watch Dividend Meetings.

With speculative thought turning so strongly on this factor of the situation the street is looking forward with a good deal of interest to a number of "dividend" meetings scheduled for the forthcoming week. The list includes Bendix, Coca Cola, and Consolidated Edison on Monday; Borden, National Lead, and Inland Steel on Tuesday; American Tobacco on Wednesday, and Curtis Publishing, Hazel-Atlas Glass, and Standard Oil of California on Friday.

CHICAGO REGION CROPS TO EXCEED '34 DROUTH TOTAL

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago announced yesterday that July 1 estimates of the United States bureau of agricultural economics indicated "the 1936 production of principal crops in the seventh federal reserve district will show somewhat below the 1928-'32 average, but exceed that of the 1934 drouth year by a wide margin."

The seventh district comprises parts of Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

"Subsequent to July 1 these crops have been adversely affected by the extremely high temperatures which prevailed in the first half of July and by a further deficiency in precipitation," the report said.

Rainfall in the district averaged 28 per cent of normal from July 1 to July 22 and ranged from 12 per cent in Iowa to 21 per cent in Wisconsin, 29 in Michigan, 32 in Indiana, and 48 in Illinois.

"Owing to the heat and drouth," the report said, "corn has deteriorated over the greater portion of the district. Expected yields of late corn have declined rather sharply, and the entire crop ranges from fair to poor in condition."

Miscellaneous.

WE'LL HIRE A MAN LIKE THIS MAN!

A. F. came into this organization late last year after he had discovered that the cigar-making business which he had been in prior to 1930 simply would not come back for him. He had fiddled away five good years, and was finally ready for something new.

The first 6 months of this year A. F. received $1,056 in paid percentages, and this is an average of $176 a month, with no investment—nothing to buy—in this electric unit business. He discovered that all the while he has abundant ability but his mind was centered on what he had once done—and had not turned toward what he might do more successfully. He is happy to know that he now has something better—more lasting. It is absolutely permanent!

If you have been waiting for the old job or business to return, and realize it will not come back for you, if you are not satisfied with what you have, suppose we talk it over? If you are a man suited to this position, we can do business immediately. Call at Room 705 the 108 W. Monroe-st., Monday, July 20, at 10 a. m. or 2:30 p. m.—no other time.

REGISTRAR

for school department branch of nationally known Cincinnati musical instrument company's Chicago office. Musical training not essential, but must have good personality, some sales ability, executive capacity and be between 25 and 40 years of age. Promotion to department and studio managers within 3 months for men qualifying. Positions permanent. Good percentage with excellent future possibilities. Average about $40 week to start.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Ill Wind for Weeds.

July 26, 1936.

SHEEP on THE TRIBUNE'S Wheaton Experimental farm have lived on practically nothing but weeds for the last several weeks. When the regular grass and legume pastures burned up in the drouth, the sheep were turned into some woods that had never been pastured before. They have spent most of the time since grazing down the weeds and browsing on leaves. They have about cleaned up all the weeds on the farm.

The 500 head of lambs and breeding ewes in the flock are in good flesh and appear healthy. There has been no trouble from weed poisoning, although white snake root and perhaps other poisonous weeds are growing in the woods where the sheep have been grazing. The farm workers went through the woods with hoes before the sheep were turned in and dug up and burned all the white snake root weeds they could find.

Sheep Prove Efficient.

While the sheep have been forced to eat weeds because there was little else for them to graze, the experience has served as an interesting demonstration of the value of sheep in killing out weeds on the farm. Many troublesome weeds have been given a severe setback by being nipped close to the ground before they ripened seed.

The farm manager says that about the only green vegetation left by the sheep in the woods and fields where they have been grazing this summer is an occasional Canada thistle. The sheep even ate the young thistle plants, but left the large, spiny ones. They have not eaten the bluegrass that grew tall early in the season and went to seed.

All the sheep on the Wheaton farm were turned into a mixed pasture of 150 acres last week. A good portion of their grazing, will still be weeds, although this pasture contains some timothy, bluegrass, several kinds of clovers, and alfalfa.

Shifts Aid Health.

The small flock of sheep at the Yorkville farm has been used this summer to clean up odd lots and small pastures about the place. Most of these pastures were well supplied with grasses and clovers but they all had some weeds. The sheep ate all the weeds except the Canada thistles. The Yorkville sheep finished their cleanup job last week and were put on alfalfa pasture. Frequent changes to new pastures may have aided in keeping the Tribune flocks in healthy condition.

Everything Goes.

There has been a profusion of Queen Ann's lace on the farms this season. Sheep seem to have little choice of weeds. There is a great variety of weeds in the woodland pastures at the Yorkville and Wheaton farms, including most of the common weeds found in northern Illinois—quack grass, bull thistle, wild mustard, dock, buckhorn, ox-eye daisy, field sorrel, ragweed, smartweed, cockleburs, morning glories, tumbleweed, pigweed, and foxtail. On both farms sheep and the drouth combined have temporarily wiped out about all the weeds including the flowering varieties.

Many of the weeds will, of course, send up new plants as soon as there is rain and the sheep are taken out of the pastures, but the infestation of some of the weeds, especially the annuals, no doubt will be lessened because they were prevented from producing a crop of seed.

Fifty Thousand See Yankees Defeat White Sox Twice—Unveil Shaft to Canadian Dead in France

THOUSANDS TURNED AWAY AS CAPACITY CROWD JAMS COMISKEY PARK FOR DOUBLE-HEADER BETWEEN LEAGUE LEADING YANKEES AND WHITE SOX—The south side stadium, when all seats were filled and several thousand baseball fans were being turned away yesterday afternoon. The New York team sent the up and coming White Sox to defeat in both games, 12 to 3, and 11 to 8. The crowd of 50,000 fans, wildly excited at close decisions by the umpires, became a bottle tossing and paper throwing throng in the ninth inning of the second game, which was won by the Yankees in the eleventh inning. One umpire was struck by a flying bottle. (Story on page 19.)
